NEW DEAL IS LICKED IN EAST

NEW DEAL'S OWN EXPERT ADMITS FORD'S CHARGES

Thinks Tax Seizure a Good Idea.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Robert S. Jackson, counsel for the bureau of internal revenue, today admitted in effect the contention of Henry Ford that President Roosevelt's "soak the rich" taxes would enable the "money lenders" or "other interests" to get control of huge industrial properties. Mr. Jackson also indicated a belief that this would be a good thing.

The statement by the solicitor for the revenue bureau, made before the senate finance committee, was the first official reaction to the views of Mr. Ford, recently expressed in an interview. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau refused to comment on the Ford interview, as he refused to tell the finance committee anything about the 270 million dollar house bill now under consideration, but Jackson said the purpose of his testimony was to "summarize treasury information and experience in tax administration."

Plans for Gags Completed.

While Jackson was testifying before the finance committee the Democratic steering and policy committees of the senate met and laid plans to throttle all efforts to complicate the tax program with riders regarded irrelevant if not more radical than President Roosevelt's proposals. Among these are the 2 billion dollar Patman bonus inflation bill, the 3 billion dollar Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage inflation bill, Huey Long's plan, and the billion dollar tax amendment advocated by Senator Robert La Follette [Radical, Wis.].

The senate leaders planned to steamroller the unfinished business on the President's "must" program, including the tax bill, to final passage with a view of adjourning as early as possible.

Sop to Bonus Bloc.

As a gesture to the bonus bloc, the leaders tentatively agreed to make this subject a special order of business for some time in January of the next session. No such gestures were made to the advocates of other radical schemes, but the Frazier-Lemke-ites were threatening trouble unless they were promised something.

The steering and policy committees authorized Chairman Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, to move to table any irrelevant riders that may be offered, and it is the plan of the leaders to make use of their majority and stifle revolts with votes.

Will Act on Bonus in January.

Announcing the result of the Democratic meeting, Robinson said it was decided to make the bonus "a special order for a date early in January."

"Many advocates of the bonus," he said, "feel that it is impracticable to take action during the present session and realize that attempts to attach bonus legislation as riders to bills on other subjects would render it impossible to win full consideration and to develop the strength of any fair bonus measure that might be advanced as a rider.

"The committees felt that this subject should not be complicated with other legislation, but should be dealt with separately and on its merits."

The finance committee expects to conclude hearings this week on the tax bill passed by the house yesterday and report out a bill for action in the senate early next week.

Calls Ford Best Argument.

Jackson said the Ford estate was "the worst example that could be selected by those who seek to illustrate the hardships of these tax proposals," but he agreed that other estates were so constituted as to present even more "extreme difficulties of liquidation."

"The utmost to be anticipated," he declared with reference to the 600 million dollar Ford estate, "would be that some part of the equity now represented by the common stock would be sold to other interests or to the public. This equity might be disposed of in part through a bond issue, or

Providence, R. I., Aug. 7.—[Wednesday.]—[Special.]—President Roosevelt and his New Deal program received a crushing blow in yesterday's special congressional election in the First Rhode Island district.

With only 4 precincts still to be heard from, Charles F. Risk, Republican, who denounced the New Deal, easily defeated his Democratic opponent, Antonio Prince, ardent defender of the Washington administration.

At 3 o'clock this morning, 108 out of 112 precincts, representing all parts of the First congressional district, which embraces the entire easterly side of the nation's smallest state, had given Mr. Risk a total of 44,177 votes and Mr. Prince 34,025.

Debate on New Deal.

There were several local issues, but both candidates vigorously debated on matters relating to the New Deal program. Mr. Risk concentrated on Wallaces' Agricultural Adjustment administration's processing tax. He charged that several mills in this industrial state had been forced to close down because of excessive federal assessments. A former state commander of the American Legion, the Republican nominee was an outspoken advocate for the immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus.

On the other hand, Mr. Prince summed up his arguments with, "Shall it be back to Hoover or forward with Roosevelt?" He promised to work for "just and adequate compensation for the veterans."

Even Gov. Green, a Democrat, who was swept into office with President Roosevelt in 1932, found results embarrassing. He had sponsored a referendum for a bond issue of $12,000,000, most of which would be used to carry out his PWA program. He told his audiences the new construction would aid unemployment.

Democratic Proposals Rejected.

But most of the proposals, listed individually on the ballot throughout the state, were rejected. A proposal to borrow $3,000,000 for relief purposes was approved. It had the support of both congressional candidates.

After the result became definite Mr. Risk, 38 year old Irish-American, issued a statement defending the bold campaign he had carried out.

"I feel the campaign has been fought out on honest issues," he said. "To some extent, I feel, the policies of our state administration played a part. However, as far as the national administration and its effect upon my campaign is concerned, I feel that the lack of coördination between the chief executive of the United States and the numerous governmental, alphabetical subdivisions contributed largely to my election."

Holds on to Treasurer Post.

Mr. Prince will not lose his place in Rhode Island's political spotlight. He is state treasurer, and he continued to carry out his duties at the state house during the campaign for the seat in the house of representatives vacated through the resignation of Francis B. Condon. Mr. Condon, who was elected to the house of representatives in the Roosevelt landslide in 1932 by a 14,000 plurality, was returned to the house of representatives in 1934 with a plurality of 21,000. In the light of these figures, the Republican victory by Mr. Risk with a plurality of approximately 10,000 is all the more remarkable.

The defeat of the Democratic machine was pronounced throughout the state. Mr. Prince carried his home city, Woonsocket, by 1,600 votes. But in the same district last year Mr. Condon had 5,000 votes more than his Republican opponent.

Democrats Lose Mayoralty.

The Democrats lost the mayoralty in Newport, which is part of the congressional district. A Republican was elected to the state senate from East Providence with double the plurality a fellow Republican had received last year. In Pawtucket, the center of the industrial area, a Republican beat a Democrat for a vacancy in the state assembly, even though the city is overwhelmingly Democratic.

There were several local factors that affected the outcome, but the New Deal issue overshadowed them all. Mr. Prince did not have the united support of his own party. The Democratic mayor of his own city, Felix Toupin, who is influential among the French-Canadians in this state, had nothing to say in behalf of Mr. Prince.

ILL WIND CLIPS WINGS OF LOVE —TEMPORARILY

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A prospective bridegroom had his marriage blown out of his hand today, although only temporarily, when he dropped a ten dollar bank note with which he was going to get his marriage license.

That act plus a gust of wind caused the postponement of the honeymoon of two youngsters and the arrest of a colored youth who is alleged to have found the money.

The bill fell between Frank Rizers, 21, colored, and Louis Berman. They both dove for it.

Cow's Mental Anguish Over Loss of Her Tail Wins $50

Pittsfield, Mass., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Because his thoroughbred cow hasn't been able to switch off annoying flies since she lost her tail, and because of her mental anguish her yield of milk has dropped off, the county commissioners gave Clarence E. North of Richmond $50 today. Dogs recently attacked North's cow and chewed off all of her tail but the stump.

A true bill charging Mandeville W. Zenge, 26 years old, a Missouri farmer and carpenter, with the mutilation murder of his successful rival in love, Dr. Walter J. Bauer, chemistry professor of Kirksville, Mo., may be voted by the grand jury today, according to the plans of the state's attorney.

As the first witness before the grand jury yesterday, Bauer's widow, Mrs. Louise Schaffer Bauer, 23 years old, former night superintendent of nurses in a Kirksville hospital, told between sobs the story of her strange romances with Zenge, her childhood sweetheart, and with Bauer, the 38 year old professor whom she married on July 14.

Zenge Arraigned in Court.

Her testimony followed shortly the arraignment of Zenge on a murder charge before Judge Justin F. McCarthy in the Felony court. With an assured manner, despite his week's growth of beard and the grind of long hours of questioning in the state's attorney's office, Zenge uttered a strong "Not guilty" when the court asked for his plea.

At the request of Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, who asked more time to develop the motive in the case, the hearing was continued to Aug. 20.

It is the state's contention that Zenge mutilated Dr. Bauer with a penknife early last Wednesday after forcing him at pistol point to drive to Chicago from Ann Arbor, Mich., where Bauer was taking a summer course in the medical school of the University of Michigan. Dr. Bauer died of his wounds a few hours after the savage operation.

Widow Before Grand Jury.

Before entering the grand jury room Mrs. Bauer waited for half an hour in an anteroom, shielding her face from photographers and refusing to talk with reporters. She was dressed in a chic brown and white ensemble.

Emerging from her half hour interrogation before the jury by Mr. Dougherty, Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan, and several of the jurors, Mrs. Bauer's eyes were red from weeping. It was learned that she broke down several times during the questioning.

From one source it was reported that her tears seemed timed to save her from answering questions about her conduct with Zenge during their two year engagement. Whenever possible, it was reported, the widow answered questions with a "yes" or "no."

Tells Friendship with Zenge.

Mrs. Bauer is reported to have told of knowing Zenge since they were children, he on his father's dairy farm at Canton, Mo., and she a mile away, at La Grange, Mo. They had a "tacit"

McCUTCHEON IN ARGENTINA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 6.—We are being kept superbusy by sightseeing, but not so busy as the Argentine farmer who uses twelve tractors 24 hours daily during the full moon. Argentine welfare depends wholly on two industries, agriculture and stock raising.

Today we visited the stockyards and saw the auctioning of cattle as scores of Gauchos herded them through the crowded yards. Cattle receipts are high for the season because insufficient pasture, due to the drouth, forces the raisers to sell before they are ready. Top prices are 28 cents Argentine money per kilo, equaling at present exchange $4.20 American money per hundred pounds.

We also visited Swift International at La Plata, where a large ocean steamship was loading 5,000 tons of chilled beef at the doorway of the packing plant. Swift bought 10,000 cattle today. The packing industry is the largest in Argentina. There are six plants, three of them being Armour's, Swift's, and Wilson's, the others being English and Argentine.

After reeling from many figures and statistics we visited a most extensive estancia where the house stood in a 500 acre yard. One room was filled with trophies won for prize Herefords.

COURTNEY FINDS COUNTY COPPERS ARE ON THE JOB

The county highway police at Homewood last night received word from the Olympia Fields Country club that an automobile containing several men was standing near the entrance to the club, apparently for no good purpose. Believing the men might be the bandits who have robbed numerous golf clubs recently, all available policemen at the highway station speeded to the club.

The occupants of the car were ordered to raise their hands and step out. They were revealed as Sergt. Frank Reynolds and a squad from the state's attorney's office.

A moment later State's Attorney Courtney and United States District Attorney Igoe appeared from the club to see what had happened to the policemen who were waiting to drive them home after a golf game. Mr. Courtney commended the highway police for their vigilance.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Atlanta's current heat wave today brought freedom to thirty-three minor offenders in the city stockade. Mayor James L. Key pardoned the prisoners after jail officials reported conditions were "terrible."

Aken Is Ousted by Force from School Office

Otto F. Aken, county superintendent of schools who refused to turn over the job to his elected successor on Monday, was forcibly ejected yesterday from a small office where he had been barricaded for about 33 hours.

The office was immediately taken over by Noble J. Puffer, the new superintendent, whose right to the position Aken has challenged.

The dénouement of the odd struggle came suddenly, shortly after 5 p. m. All was quiet behind Aken's locked door, and Puffer had just dismissed his office employés for the night when eight husky men strode silently into the outer office on the eleventh floor of the county building.

Carries Concealed Sledge.

One of the men carried a sledge hammer wrapped up in paper. As his companions stood by he unwrapped the sledge and swung it several times against Aken's door, breaking away the lock. The newcomers, by dint of much pushing to dislodge the furniture and other objects piled against the door, swung it open.

"It's O. K. I'll come out," said Aken, who had tried to call police but found his phone disconnected. He emerged, somewhat disheveled.

"I refuse to surrender the office," Aken said. However, he offered no resistance when one of the brawny newcomers pushed him out of the door. Then the ex-superintendent and his aids silently took their departure, apparently satisfied that they had established the fact that force had been required to eject them. This point may figure in future legal battles over the possession of the office.

Puffer Rules the Roost.

The newcomers then cleared the outer office of every one except Puffer and his cohorts. Before the newspaper men left, Puffer told them that he had no idea who the men were who broke down Aken's door. He immediately called in carpenters to repair the damage the sledge swinger had done.

At Puffer's orders the carpenters barricaded the doors and windows. His request for deputy sheriffs to guard the office being refused by Sheriff Toman, due to a court injunction obtained last week by Aken, Puffer detailed three of his assistant superintendents—David Heffernan, Clarence Callahan, and Sewell Baker—to guard the office. Then he left for his home in Palatine.

Earlier in the day Aken's lawyers filed in the Circuit court a quo warranto suit to compel Puffer to show by what right he claimed office. The bill repeated Aken's previous charge that Puffer lacks four years of teaching experience as required by law of a county superintendent and therefore is not qualified to hold office.

Cites His Years as Assistant.

Puffer's reply to this has been that, while he actually taught school only three and one-half years, he has had nearly eight years of experience as assistant superintendent.

The fight over the possession of the superintendent's office was unmarked by violence excepting at its inception Monday morning when backers of the rivals punched each other amid the screams of women. After that the siege settled down into an endurance contest, with both Aken and Puffer refusing to leave.

Both Puffer and Aken served as assistant superintendents under County Superintendent Edward J. Tobin.

Tobin died in March, 1933. Aken was appointed by the county board as Tobin's successor, and Puffer remained as an assistant under Aken. In January, 1934, Aken discharged Puffer on the ground that the latter had without authority certified a teacher's certificate. Aken lost favor with the Democratic organization, which nominated Puffer, and last fall backed Puffer in his campaign for the superintendency. Puffer was elected last Nov. 6.

RAID CAPITAL, HURLEY'S HOME FOR UTILITY MAN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war, and Rep. John J. O'Connor [Dem., N. Y.], chairman of the house rules committee, were engaged in a bitter war of words tonight, each charging the other with knowledge of the whereabouts of Harry C. Hopson, head of the Associated Gas & Electric utility system.

The elusive, if 280 pound, Mr. Hopson has been sought vainly for two weeks by agents of the rules committee of the house and a special committee of the senate, both investigating utility bill lobbying. He was still missing at midnight.

Squads Scour Capital.

Squads of high salaried detectives on the pay rolls of the two committees and Washington police searched the capital all day after testimony had been given before O'Connor's group that Hopson had been seen last night in the Shoreham hotel as well as in the residence of Mr. O'Connor. Tonight the detectives were searching not only the city but nearby areas of Virginia.

The Hurley-O'Connor fued broke out this afternoon when the house committee's detectives went to the palatial home of Mr. Hurley near Leesburg, Va., in the hope of finding Hopson. Hurley was retained to aid in the A. G. & E. campaign against the Wheeler-Rayburn holding company bill, the "death sentence" provision of which the house recently defeated so decisively. Basil O'Connor of New York, brother of the house investigation's chairman and ex-law partner of President Roosevelt, also was an A. G. & E. attorney.

Mr. Hurley Is Angry.

Mr. Hurley was incensed at the search of his house, unproductive though it was, and asked testily:

"Instead of coming here, why don't they look in the White House for Hopson? I am getting mighty tired of this persecution. It makes a man wonder whether he is in a free country."

He added that the whole work of the utilities lobby investigation bodies reminded him of the firm of "Boloney, Boloney, Horsefeathers & Boloney." He dubbed the visit a "disgraceful outrage."

Charges Him with Aiding.

To which Representative O'Connor tonight rejoined:

"Our men went down there and met Mr. Hurley, who is still a candidate for President. We expect to get hold of Hopson tonight, but if we do not, it will be because Mr. Hurley has spirited him out of the way."

In reply to this accusation, Mr. Hurley hurled such words as "unmitigated liar," and charged O'Connor with practicing the "cheapest of political claptrap" designed to injure him. He asserted that in all probability Hopson could be found at the home of Representative O'Connor's brother. He declared that Hopson had not been at his home today, he hadn't seen him nor heard from him, nor had he spirited the utilities magnate away.

Asks to Give Testimony.

Though there were assertions from O'Connor's headquarters tonight that a subpena had been issued for Hurley to appear tomorrow before the house rules committee investigation, it was recalled that Mr. Hurley had himself demanded to be allowed to appear before the senate body today to tell of his connection with the A. G. & E. system. He received $25,000 from A. G. & E. for obtaining or seeking committee appointments for company officials, he said.

The day's scurrying started when Bernard B. Robinson of Chicago, Hopson's "contact man" in Washington, testified that he had talked to his chief last night at Chairman O'Connor's hotel.

Sleuths Start Spending.

The great man hunt was on. Both committees have groups of sleuths working for them, helping to spend the $50,000 appropriations awarded each group. They charged out to the hotel, where cigar clerks, manicure girls, bell boys, and hotel officials were interviewed. There was no trace of the evasive Hopson, who has exhibited considerable celerity for a man with three chins and a paunch.

The man hunters sped to Hurley's estate and back and established patrols at several hotels. It was noted that each of these hotels is noted for its cocktail lounge and the detectives were not without some solace during their ceaseless vigil.

Meanwhile, a description of Hopson was broadcast to the local police. These were hampered, however, in the search. They had no expense accounts.

Robinson was pressed by the house committee to give more information concerning Hopson's whereabouts, but said he did not know.

"All I can tell you is that I talked to him in a room on the fourth floor of the hotel," he said. "He said he thought he would be able to testify in a couple of days. He said he was feeling pretty good."

Two Congressional Generals.

O'Connor, Democratic representative from New York, and Senator Hugo L. Black, Alabama Democrat, the two competing chairmen of the investigating committees, sat in their offices like generals at headquarters getting telephoned reports of their detectives' movements. Each was fully aware that the headlines would go to the committee getting Hopson for questioning first.

The senate committee will see Mr. Hopson very soon, predicted Black, confidently.

"My men are closing in on him," said O'Connor. At a late hour, however, Hopson had not been located.

A squad of detectives was camped doggedly in the hotel room where Hopson stayed last night and where his clothes still remain.

Hopson was sought in similar fashion two years ago. The senate banking committee wanted him but he eluded investigators for several weeks. He finally appeared with ex-Secretary Hurley as his counsel. Hurley has been summoned to testify tomorrow before the senate committee about his work for the A. G. & E. system.

Hurley was the subject of recent testimony that he received $25,000 from the company in connection with the lobbying campaign. He has denied that he did any lobbying and asserted that his services were entirely of a legal nature.

BARNES REFUSES VENUE CHANGE IN 77B PROCEEDING

Federal Judge John P. Barnes refused yesterday to allow the filing of a petition for a change of venue which would have taken from his jurisdiction the reorganization of the Milwaukee-Sawyer Building corporation pending under Section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act. The judge declared the action "impertinent" and directed Attorney George F. Marks to remove the petition from the court.

In the rejected petition Marks, who said he represented three bondholders, asserted that Judge Barnes was not qualified to hear the case because he had been associated with various phases of the enterprise before he became a federal judge. It was stated also that Judge Barnes' former law firm acted as counsel for the former receiver of the property.

Attorney Marks was counsel for the congressional committee which in 1931 investigated Judge Barnes' connection with the building corporation and exonerated him of any wrongful conduct.

YACHT RESCUES COUPLE ADRIFT ON LAKE HURON

Toledo, O., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Miss Frances Fabin, 22, and Stanley Ross, 20, both of Detroit, are in a serious condition in their homes after having been rescued by the crew of the Helen, a cruiser owned by C. O. Miniger, Toledo millionaire, Sunday night.

The couple had been adrift for nine hours after hiring the boat to go fishing on Sunday morning near Lexington, Mich.

A rope slipped off a stone, used as an anchor, and the craft started to drift. When Ross attempted to row back to shore an oar lock bar broke. They were wearing swimming suits and sun and flies were added to the fatigue of bailing their boat with a minnow bucket as waves came over the sides.

The rowboat was so rotten that pieces of it fell apart when it was lifted aboard the Helen. No one knew of the rescue until the Helen arrived here today.

BOLT FELLS TWO UNDER TREE, RIPS CLOTHES OFF ONE

Constable Frank Myers, 35 years old, of West McHenry, and Laverne Sandberg, 28 years old, a truck driver from Minneapolis, Minn., were talking last night at the junction of U. S. highways 12 and 20 in McHenry, when an electrical storm broke. Just as the men took shelter from the rain under a nearby tree, lightning struck it. The bolt knocked both men unconscious and ripped the clothing from Myers. State Highway Policeman Lester Bacon summoned a rescue crew from the Public Service company, and the two victims were revived. Both are expected to recover.

EX-PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S WIDOW NOW 74

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A beach supper in her honor concluded tonight the observance of the 74th birthday of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Sr., widow of the late president.

She arose early and read hundreds of congratulatory telegrams and letters but, according to her custom, was not interviewed.

White Leads Mississippi Democrat Governor's Race

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Three of the five candidates for the gubernatorial nomination in Mississippi's Democratic primary election today were closely bunched in scattered returns from 60 of the state's 82 counties. Hugh White, millionaire lumberman, was out in front with 8,184 votes with Lieut. Gov. Dennis Murphree and former Congressman Paul B. Johnson virtually deadlocked a thousand votes behind, Murphree with 7,196 and Johnson 7,011 on returns from 283 of the 1,638 precincts. Lester Franklin and Dr. E. A. Copeland were far behind.

Five Charged with 'Piracy' in Raid on Gambling Ship

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Five men were charged today with "boarding a vessel on the high seas with intent to plunder and despoil property of the owner thereof." The vessel was the gambling ship, Monte Carlo, looted in a dawn raid, off Long Beach, last July 8. Owners said the "pirates" took money and jewelry worth $32,000.

TORSO WOMEN TESTIFY IN OWN DEFENSE TODAY

Mrs. Blanche Dunkel and Mrs. Evelyn Smith will take the witness stand in their own defense today at their trial for the murder of Mrs. Dunkel's son-in-law, Ervin Lang.

It is expected that the case will be concluded this afternoon before Acting Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court, who is hearing the evidence without a jury. The judge has indicated that he will announce his decision tomorrow morning.

The state has demanded the death penalty for both women, who have admitted participation in the slaying of Lang.

The state called sixteen witnesses yesterday, piecing together a circumstantial chain of evidence against the two women. The confessions of Mrs. Dunkel and Mrs. Smith—the crux of the prosecution's case—will be read to the court this morning by Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty.

Substance of Confession.

Mrs. Smith has told of giving ether to Lang in her apartment at 731 Barry avenue early on the morning of July 6, after she and Mrs. Dunkel had induced him to drink too much liquor. Then Mrs. Smith has confessed she strangled Lang and sawed his legs from his body. His torso was thrown into a swamp near Hammond, Ind., and the legs in a trunk were hidden in a ditch eight miles away, near Munster, Ind.

Mrs. Dunkel has confessed that she wanted Lang "out of the way" because she believed he was not properly attentive to the memory of her daughter, Mallie—his wife—who died on Dec. 20, 1934. Mrs. Dunkel said she promised Mrs. Smith $500 for the murder and actually paid her $100.

After reading the confession, the prosecution will rest its case. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Dunkel then will be called as the only witnesses for the defense. Their attorney, Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach, asserted that their stories would not require several hours to tell. Just how the two women will seek the court's mercy to avoid the electric chair was not revealed by Bachrach.

Miss McKinley Testifies.

Among the witnesses called by the state yesterday were Roscoe F. Culler, 1325 North Dearborn street, and Miss Josephine McKinley, 1333 Roscoe street. Lang's fiancé, Miss McKinley was near tears as she told of her last "date" with Lang a few hours before his murder.

Culler, a heavily built, gray haired man, 45 years old, testified that last May he refused Mrs. Dunkel's request that he murder her son-in-law.

Culler said Mrs. Dunkel gave him $30, but insisted it was only for repairs on his car so they could take "pleasure trips," and was not a down payment for murder. On cross-examination Bachrach tried to bring out that Culler had tacitly promised to do the killing. He again denied this.

Other witnesses during the afternoon session included Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's physician, who told of his postmortem examination of Lang's torso and legs, and Harry Lerner, 4938 Winthrop avenue, a cab driver.

Lerner drove Mrs. Dunkel from Center and Clark streets to a laundry at 3566 Armitage avenue on the morning of July 6, he related. At the laundry, Mrs. Dunkel picked up Harry Jung, Mrs. Smith's Chinese husband, and took him in the cab to the Barry avenue apartment. Then Lerner drove her home. Jung, who has not been caught, aided Mrs. Smith in disposing of Lang's torso and legs.

Landlady and Chinese Talk.

Mrs. Sarah Buck, landlady at the Barry avenue place, identified in court a chair which had come from Mrs. Smith's apartment. This was the chair in which Lang sat when he was killed. Willie Quan, a Chinese of 5149 South Halsted street, said Jung had borrowed his automobile on July 6. The car, which has not been found, was used to transport the torso and legs.

During the noon recess Mrs. Dunkel displayed emotion for the first time since her confession. She uttered a hysterical cry as she left the court and would have fallen if a bailif had not held her. In an interview she told newspaper men that she was afraid of the "chair."

"I have so many more years I want to live," she cried. "It will be the biggest day of my life when I take the witness stand."

Asked what she thought of Mrs. Smith, who walked by smiling and smoking a cigaret, Mrs. Dunkel sobbed: "O, that miserable creature." She said she was "sorry" she had ever conceived the murder plot.

The state opened its case at the morning session by establishing the identification of Lang's body. Dr. William Young, a dentist of 6445 North Francisco avenue, said that he recognized the body found in the swamp as Lang's through dental work he had done for the grocery clerk. Jacob Lang, 3729 Greenview avenue, a brother of the slain man, also testified that the body was Lang's.

John Stromberg, 3721 Clifton avenue, who was a friend of Lang's for 18 years, said he recognized the body as Lang's from a scar on the left arm.

"When Ervin was about 14 we had a boyhood friendship pact," Stromberg testified. "As a result of reading a novel we branded each other on the left arm. I still have the scar and so did he."

Victim's Fiancée on Stand.

Miss McKinley was then called. A slim, attractive, blonde girl, 23 years old, she was wearing a dark blue dress with a white collar. She was on the verge of tears throughout her story. She gave her address as 1333 Roscoe street and said she met Lang a year ago. She described the clothing Lang was wearing when she saw him alive the last time at 12:30 a. m. on July 6.

"Did you ever see any of his clothing again?" Prosecutor Dougherty asked her.

She said that Lang usually came to her home three times a week. They were engaged to be married, originally planning the wedding for this October and then deciding to postpone it until next January. She identified the remnants of Lang's trousers, which were found with his torso.

Recounts Telephone Call July 6.

William Lang, another brother, who lives with Jacob Lang at the Greenview avenue address, said that he first learned Ervin had disappeared when on July 6 Mrs. Dunkel called his mother.

"Did you ever hear Mrs. Dunkel make any threats against Ervin?" the prosecutor asked.

"Yes," William Lang answered, "two months before his disappearance she came to my home and said she thought Ervin and Miss KcKinley were at the apartment at 1212 Waveland avenue. She threatened to kill them if she caught them together."

Policeman Walter Mroz of Hammond told of the discovery of Lang's body on July 9 in a swamp near Hammond, and Victor Kirsch of Munster, Ind., recounted how, nine days later near Munster, he found the trunk containing the young man's legs.

W. UNION FINDS 180 'SIGNERS' OF UTILITY WIRES NOT CONSULTED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Western Union Telegraph company reported today that at least 180 people in Warren, Pa., whose names had been signed to anti-utility bill telegrams, had not authorized the use of their names.

As an outgrowth of disclosures before the senate lobby committee, the company also reported to the communications commission that it had delivered 127,265 telegrams to congress members in connection with the fight over the utilities measure.

Lobby probers had received testimony that some of the 1,905 telegrams against the bill, sent from Warren and addressed to Representative Driscoll [Dem., Pa.], had been written by an agent of the Associated Gas and Electric company and that some were signed with names taken from the telephone book.

J. C. Willever, vice president of the telegraph company, reported that of 335 persons interviewed at Warren by company representatives 175 said they had neither signed the telegrams or authorized the use of their names, while 180 said they had not been consulted.

HORNER SPEEDS FROM JOLIET TO SPRINGFIELD

Policeman Drives Him at 60 to 70.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner, ardent defender of the old 45 mile an hour speed limit, arrived at the mansion early this morning by automobile from the Joliet penitentiary investigation. The speedometer of a reporter's car that trailed him registered between 60 and 70 miles an hour most of the trip.

This reportorial investigation established that the governor is no different than the other members of the motoring public. He travels as fast as his state owned automobile—of the make sold by his brother, James Levy, Chicago car dealer—can cover the highways with a reasonable degree of safety.

Overlooks Another Speed Change.

There had been some doubt about the governor's motoring habits since his sermon in vetoing a bill passed by the recent general assembly that repealed the 45 mile an hour speed limit. At the time of his veto he was ignorant of the fact that the legislature also had amended his trafic code bill to eliminate the open highway maximum.

The gist of this veto message was that the 45 mile an hour speed limit must be retained to guide police in making arrests in the interests of safety.

The reporter assigned to trail the governor's car borrowed a supercharged speedway model capable of 100 miles an hour.

The full capacity for speed wasn't exercised, however, for at night, on the heavily traveled U. S. 66, is not the best place "to step on it."

The governor's chauffeured limousine passed the reporter's waiting car at Gardner, south of Joliet, at 9:05 p. m. [central standard time]. The 126 miles to the capital were covered in exactly two and a half hours. This is an average of a little over 50 miles an hour.

Policeman Drives Carefully.

The chauffeur, Edward Van Diver, a state highway policeman, was a careful driver, slackening his pace for turns, railroad crossings and most of the towns, but he stepped on it like the rest of us where the road was clear.

Small settlements like Lawndale and Broadwell, of course, were traversed at 60 miles an hour. And on the new three lane pavement of Normal the state's prima facie limit of 25 miles an hour for residential zones was exceeded reasonably by about 15 miles an hour.

Entering Springfield the state automobile jumped up to 45 miles an hour, just as the average driver would do, to catch a green light before it changed to red.

BRIBE SUSPICION GROWS IN PRISON ESCAPE INQUIRY

Horner Scoffs at Charge; Guards' Stories Differ.

Gov. Horner and his prison officials clung tenaciously to their faith in the lie detector yesterday, reiterating their belief that it had exonerated guards from the charge of bribery for permitting the escape of Henry J. [Midget] Fernekes, Chicago killer and bank robber, from the old penitentiary at Joliet last Saturday.

Four guards who were suspended following the escape were formally dismissed yesterday for "inefficiency." James Nolan was discharged because as boss of the prison fiber shop he failed to note Fernekes' absence from the shop. Michael Leonard, captain of guards, lost his position because he permitted Fernekes to dupe him in the visiting room, where the desperado posed as a visitor. Frank Friend and Robert Shaw were discharged because as door guards they obligingly opened the prison gates and bowed Fernekes to freedom.

Hoodwinking Called Too Perfect.

Although Gov. Horner and his prison appointees refused to countenance the charge that bribery played a part in the escape, observers pointed out that the chain of circumstances in Fernekes' flight was unusual for a well conducted penitentiary.

They said that a dozen guards must have seen him in his pose as a civilian visitor and ordinary alertness on the part of any one might have penetrated his disguise. The hoodwinking, they believed, was too perfect to be natural.

The investigation of the escape continued at the prison. Several convicts testified to seeing Fernekes, clad in makeshift civilian attire which he may have obtained by bleaching prison trousers and by stealing a white shirt from a trusty, saunter across the prison yard from the direction of the fiber shop and go into the visiting room.

A Conflict in Testimony.

There he presented a slip to Leonard, which contained the name of a prisoner now at Stateville. Leonard told Fernekes of the prisoner's transfer. Fernekes smiled his thanks and left. Friend says that Leonard pressed a buzzer, indicating that the approaching Fernekes should be permitted to leave the prison. Leonard declares that he didn't.

Right at that point the lie detector had its defenders somewhat puzzled, for it insisted that both Leonard and Friend were telling the truth when they related these conflicting stories.

Joseph Regan, superintendent of prisons, solved that matter to his own satisfaction, at least, by declaring that he believed both men thought they were telling the truth.

Guard Nolan Quits Prison.

When notified that he was discharged, Nolan made an immediate exit from the prison and left for Chicago. His precipitate departure discommoded the investigators a little, for they had intended to question him again.

T. P. Sullivan, chief of the state bureau of criminal identification, declared he thought that it was only a "misunderstanding." Nolan not knowing that he would be wanted again.

"We can talk to him in Chicago," Sullivan said.

Before he became a guard in 1930 Nolan lived at 3223 Diversey avenue. Sullivan wanted to talk to Nolan, he said, because he was convinced that Nolan did not see Fernekes in the fiber shop after luncheon Saturday.

It was about 1:30 p. m. when Fernekes entered the visiting room.

Horner Believes Lie Detector.

"Lie detectors always tell the truth," Gov. Horner said yesterday after his return to Springfield from the prison where on Monday evening he witnessed examination of the then suspended guards in a star chamber session from which all but the governor, prison officials and the lie detector operator were excluded.

His statement was in reply to a question as to whether he believed bribery was used in the escape. He said that he didn't and added that "stupidity" appeared to him to be the answer.

Then he defended the lie detector, which was manipulated at the Monday evening session and again yesterday by its developer, Leonarde Keeler of the Northwestern university crime detection laboratory.

Fernekes Search Pressed.

A "shoot to kill" order on Fernekes was issued by Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan in Chicago and a special squad headed by Sergt. Andrew Aitken was detailed to search the city for him.

Police were inclined to discount suspicions that Fernekes had a hand in the robbery early yesterday of the Chicago & Alton railway roundhouse at Meade and Archer avenues where nine bandits routed an army of fifty employes and escaped with three acetylene torches and six tanks of gas.

An automobile load of armed prison guards hurried to Fulton, in Whiteside county, on the Mississippi river, last night on a report that a man whose description corresponded with that of Fernekes had jumped off a freight train and fled into nearby woods. Sherif William Hamilton of Whiteside county and state police had the woods surrounded. A second man seized on the train in the belief that he might be Fernekes established his identity and was freed. There appeared to be no substantial ground for the belief that the man who escaped was Fernekes.

even though the latter is a French-Canadian himself.

There are 17,000 families on relief in Rhode Island, a majority of them in the First district. According to state officials, 70,000 persons are represented in these families. The state received a total of $3,500,000 last year from the federal government for relief purposes.

Were Relief Workers Coerced?

The relief workers were excused from their jobs early in the afternoon, so they could cast their ballots. There were charges that some of them were coerced into voting for the Democratic candidates and an investigation is being made.

Gov. Green, who took the lead in reorganizing the state government last year, had the help of his state treasurer, Mr. Prince. But Mr. Green has appointed a number of his close personal friends while many unemployed party workers only stood and waited for the call. Even Mr. Prince's friends admitted that this gesture on the part of the Democratic governor hurt Mr. Prince.

A checkup with last year's results showed the Republicans in the First Congressional district voted nearly their full strength yesterday. But there was a sharp decline in the Democratic polling, so great that not even party leaders can explain it, except on the ground of New Deal unpopularity.

There was third a candidate, Isaac Moses, in the congressional race. He ran on a "good government" platform, but he made a trivial showing.

REPUBLICANS JUBILANT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Republicans were jubilant tonight over the slap bang victory which the party had achieved in the special Rhode Island congressional election.

Informed of almost complete returns showing the Republican candidate, Charles F. Risk, to be leading by 10,000 votes, Senator Hastings, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, said:

"The vote in Rhode Island clearly proves that when the American people are convinced that traditional American principles and American liberty is in danger they act promptly to destroy the persons responsible for such conditions."

Senator Vandenberg commented that the results were "too good to be true," and although the vote was "fine as far as it goes" he would withhold further comment pending receipt of final figures.

Senator Austin [Rep., Vt.], who won a hard fought contest in the last congressional elections, said: "This seems to be a smashing blow to New Deal."

Both Rhea and Chandler factions were reconciled to the necessity of a run-off primary Sept. 7. The tabulation gave Rhea, 152,855; Chandler, 142,136; Frederick A. Wallis, 31,856; Elam Huddleston, 11,324, and Baily P. Wootton, 2,505.

FERRIS DEFIES STATE; DENIES CONFESSION HE KILLED LAWYER

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Resuming the witness stand in his own behalf, William Lee Ferris was subjected to a severe cross-examination today by Prosecutor Duncan McCrea.

McCrea tried to shake Ferris' denial of having shot and killed Howard Carter Dickinson, New York attorney. Ferris and three "party girl" companions are on trial for the $134 holdup murder of the attorney.

Ferris, whose true name is William Schweitzer, squirmed as the prosecutor questioned him. Ferris repudiated the confession made to the police that he and the three women had lured Dickinson to a lonely spot, and there shot the attorney who was believed to be carrying a large sum of money.

Ferris declared that he had made that confession only because he was beaten by the police.

The defendant denied that he had said yesterday that Dickinson committed suicide. "It was either suicide or accident," he testified. "The gun Ferris was followed as a witness by Florence Jackson. She gave a vague account of the shooting. She said she had not seen a gun. She declared she did not see Ferris pull Dickinson out of the car.

WAR VETERANS FIND A 'HEAVEN' WITHOUT LABOR

Created to Avert March on Capital.

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A war veterans' heaven without work, fostered by the fear of the administration that another "bonus march" might descend upon Washington, and enthusiastically directed by Harry L. Hopkins, U. S. relief administrator, has sprung up seven miles from this city.

It has created a separate veterans' administration from that managed by Gen. Frank T. Hines and threatens to grow to such proportions that grave concern is already evinced by those in charge.

On a 300 acre site amidst pine forests and quartered in buildings that surpass in comfort most of those occupied by army troops, there are today 445 "bonus marchers" shipped here from Washington to "keep them from agitating for paymen of their certificates." A great percentage, perhaps 45 per cent, are psychopathic cases. Another element comprises men down on their luck, artists and artisans. Then there are the ordinary drifters and agitators who quietly grumble against government coddling. The pay of these men ranges from $30 to $45 a month. Probably half also draw compensation for disabilities incurred in the world war. Some maintain families in houses near the "camps."

Police Are Hostile.

One finds mixed opinions about the community. The police are frankly hostile, for they have been forced to take a great number of these veterans into custody. "They're hell raisers and do no good to anybody," is their verdict.

Except for the merchants who sell foodstuff to the camps, two other groups only benefit from the veterans' extravagances on "pay day."

Liquor stores do a thriving business when the men are paid off each month. This happens seldom between pay days, for the veteran dissipates his salary with the abandon of a sailor on leave.

Charleston is also wide open in the operation of its brothels. There are several "districts" and the operators are periodically brought to court and fined $25.

A "psycho" veteran with $30 to start his celebration and a few drinks of liquor under his belt does not seek new clothes or a picture show, and that is why city and county police look with pessimistic concern upon these veterans.

"Drunk? Of course they get drunk," Mayor Maybank, himself a world war veteran, said in reply to a question. "Soldiers from Fort Moultrie get drunk and when the navy comes here we have to put out a provost guard."

Defends Them Against Critics.

Then the mayor, indignant at critics of the veterans, advanced this theory:

"Those men, the majority of them, anyhow, are shell-shocked and saw real service. They were dropped from beneficiary rolls by the economy act. They are crippled, mentally and physically. We feel we should build them back to health. There is health in the air and sunshine here, the food is good, and a little work is doing wonders.

"In other words," said the mayor, "we are rehabilitating them. It is a worth while undertaking."

Two camps are in the pine forest. There are at present 300 whites in the James H. Palmer lodge. A mile away in a group of nine vitrified brick buildings are 145 colored veterans.

STRIKE SPREADS IN N. Y. AMONG WPA WORKERS

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The strike of skilled workers against their $93.50 monthly "security wage" on works progress administration projects continued to spread today as more bricklayers, plasterers, and ironworkers quit their jobs.

A general strike call for all WPA workers in the 36 building and construction trades, as well as other unions, will be taken up at a special meeting tomorrow of the Manhattan committee of the Central Trades WPA committee, it was disclosed tonight.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, works progress administrator, at a press conference, minimized the situation saying he knew of no strike and that few workers had quit their jobs.

While denying that a strike of skilled workers would imperil the WPA relief projects, Gen. Johnson admitted he feared a shortage in skilled labor, even without a strike to aggravate the situation.

The general insisted that the WPA wage scales on the 120 hour month basis, fixed primarily by President Roosevelt, would stand. He asserted he could not consider paying union labor at prevailing rates and therefore had no basis for negotiating with labor leaders.

CLIMB SIX MILES IN BALLOON; HEAR NOISE FROM CITY

MOSCOW, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Soviet aeronauts climbed 32,500 feet in an open gondola balloon today, encountered a temperature of 34 below zero [centigrade] and reported they could hear the noise of Moscow clearly at that height.

The balloon was one of two sent aloft in preparation for a new stratosphere flight to be made by the balloon Osoviakhim II., under construction at Leningrad. It was manned by a crew of three headed by the stratosphere flyer, G. A. Prokoviev. The second balloon reached an altitude of 26,000 feet.

The Osoviakhim II. will carry aloft the name of the first Osoviakhim, which was destroyed Jan. 30, 1934, near the village of Postiskyostrog. All three members of its crew were killed in the disaster.

NEW DEAL RAIDS ALPHABET AGAIN; NOW IT'S THE NCP

Ask 27 Millions for Artists, Musicians.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A $27,315,217 necktie for unemployed white collar workers was recommended to President Roosevelt today by the allotment board of the 4 billion dollar works relief program.

In keeping with the New Deal penchant for alphabetical jumbles the program has already been alloted a combination of three unused letters before it has its funds. Formal approval is yet to come from the President before the spending begins, but this is a mere formality.

National Cultural Program.

The new unit is the NCP—National Cultural program. Its purpose is to give a slice of the federal easy money to unemployed artists, musicians, actors and the like. About 20,000 of such persons are expected to divide the money.

As the application for the allotment was announced together with the initials of the new organization a New Deal critic commented "No matter how you spell it, it's still boondoggling."

A New Dealer retorted that the NCP is a revival of the Public Works of Art division of the FERA under which musicians tooted horns, actors mouthed Shakespeare, and artists daubed canvases and hurled clay so fast that it took the FERA two years to parcel out their works. When asked if the cry of "boondoggling" had not been raised against the Public Works of Art the New Dealer said it was true that the PWAD had been "misunderstood."

Make Other Recommendations.

The board made recommendations for a total of $209,274,693 in allocations including that for the NCP. These involved a wide range of projects.

The principal item was one of $48,286,403 for the works progress division to carry on 1,240 projects, chiefly in western states. Flood control projects to cost $2,039,700 were recommended for Georgia, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana.

VERMONT GOVERNOR, COMPANION INJURED AS CAR CRASHES TREE

Concord, N. H., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Gov. Charles M. Smith of Vermont and a companion, James F. Dewey, wealthy Quechee, Vt., mill owner, were injured today when their automobile left the highway and struck a tree near Boscawen.

EMPOWER FOUR TO HEAR SUBURB TRAFIC CASES

Four Chicago suburban judges were invested by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday with authority to sit in judgment on violations of the new state trafic code in three suburban courts. The four judges will sit in three courts to be established at Lyons, Harvey, and at the Morton Grove station of the county highway police. These will be branches of the County court. Under the new code magistrates and justices of the peace are divested of power to hear cases of trafic arrest in the county highways of the state.

The judges named by Judge Jarecki are Harry Porter and James Corcoran of the Evanston Municipal court; Craig A. Hood of the City court of Chicago Heights, and Roman Posanski of the City court of Calumet City.

400 JEWS CHASED OUT OF GERMAN HEALTH RESORT

Hotel Owned by Semite Shut by Police.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—Four hundred Jewish guests fled from Bad Toelz, Bavaria, in panic today after the town's mayor ordered all Jews to clear out within twenty-four hours. Toelz claims to have healthy waters, and many of the Jews were aged and ill.

Julius Streicher, chief of the Jew baiters, and his staf are going to Toelz to take the cure. They plan to combine their vacation with a visit to Reichsfuehrer Hitler, who is at his mountain retreat in Obersalzberg, an hour's ride from Toelz.

Swanky Hotel Closed.

The swanky Park hotel at Toelz, which belongs to a Jew, was closed by police "to protect it." The non-Nazi burghers of the resort, angered at losing their paying guests, wonder whether Streicher and his staf will occupy the Park hotel.

Eye witnesses of today's happenings said the anti-Jewish drive began several days ago when signs reading "Death to Jews" were painted on the sidewalks and 200 uniformed Schutz Staffel men [Hitler guards] marched through the streets with anti-Jewish banners. One sign read: "The Jew is a monster. Throw him out."

A kitchen girl, attracted by the parade, looked out of a cellar window. She was slapped by a Schutz Staffel man, who called her a "slave of the Jews." The girl, who is not Jewish, filed a complaint with the police, showing them her swollen face. The police told her she could not expect protection as long as she worked for a Jew.

Brown Shirts Back in Favor.

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Remnants of the once powerful Brown Shirted Storm Troopers, it became apparent tonight, have been chosen to carry on an important part of the Nazi campaign against "saboteurs."

Following parades of Brown Shirts in several cities, including Berlin, the newspaper Der Angriff announced: "The Storm Troop has jumped into the fight against Jews, political Catholicism, and reactionaries."

It printed a picture of a truckful of Brown Shirts bearing the placard, "We will permit no sabotage against Der Fuehrer's reconstruction."

The Storm Troops, whose diminution beginning July 30, 1934, during the "blood purge" for a while almost seemed to foreshadow their complete elimination as a political factor, are more in evidence than ever. For weeks their patrols have carried ironic signs depicting a priest baptising a Jew.

Fear Loss of Olympic Games.

An authoritative source said today he believed the Nazi campaign to obstruct foreign correspondents was caused by their fear of losing the 1936 Olympic games.

Should the games be taken to some other country, it would be a severe blow to the Nazi régime both economically and politically. Intense preparations have been made for them and officials expect an influx of foreign currency next year to stimulate business.

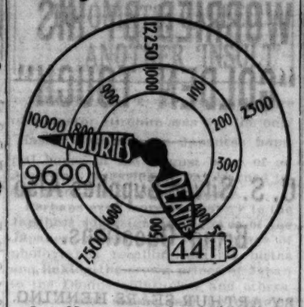
After a complete cessation yesterday of the campaign against the "lies" of foreign newspapers, the drive was reopened today with front page attacks against a Canadian newspaper, the Edmonton Bulletin, for a purported article discussing relations between young girls in a voluntary labor camp and men in a nearby Storm Troop school and labor camp.

Der Angriff pushed its anti-Jewish agitation in a long article pointing out that a firm headed by a Jew monopolized the business of supplying music for German sound films.

The Catholic paper, Church and Life, at Oldenburg was suspended until Oct. 1 because it allegedly "distorted historical facts" in an article about the thirty year war and other happenings in Germany of years ago.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1935 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

Driver Flees; Traced and Captured.

Two men were traced and arrested by Du Page county deputy sheriffs last night after they had fled in their truck from an accident in which a small boy was seriously injured and three girls less seriously hurt.

The two are Louis Bucholz, owner of the truck, and Jack Seeck, 27 years old, the driver, both of Elmhurst.

The accident occurred near Grand avenue and York road, just north of Elmhurst. An automobile, driven by Albert Brumm, 20 years old, 5956 Iowa street, struck the rear of the truck, which was parked without lights. Melvin Castell, 6 years old, a passenger in Brumm's car, suffered severe cuts and internal injuries. Also bruised were the boy's sisters, Lilian, 18; Eleanor, 16, and Leona, 11 years old.

Bucholz and Seeck were held under $1,000 bonds on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

46 Hurt, 1 Dead in City.

Forty-six persons were injured yesterday and one man died within the Chicago city limits of injuries believed incurred when he was struck by the car of a hit and run motorist on Sunday afternoon. The death increased the toll since Jan. 1 to 441 deaths for the city and 555 within Cook county during the period.

The dead man, about 50 years old, was unidentified. He was found lying on the west side of the outer drive at 55th street by Hyde Park police. At the County hospital it was discovered his skull was fractured. Despite an operation he died without regaining consciousness.

Everett J. Harris, 42 years old, former commissioner of public safety of Harvey, was being held by the Harvey police late last night on charges of reckless driving after his automobile collided with another car at 147th street and Winchester avenue, Harvey, then struck and seriously injured Miss Anna Rudziewicz, 16 years old, 144th street and Western avenue, Posen.

Woman Signs Complaint.

Mrs. Alice Yatsak, 20 years old, 14617 Winchester avenue, Harvey, driver of the other car, signed the complaint against Harris. Mrs. Yatsak was not injured.

At Peotone, in Will county, George Brouwer, 7 years old, of that city, was killed when an automobile crashed into the rear of his father's truck in which he was riding. The accident occurred on route No. 49. F. O. Gray of Columbus, O., driver of the car, also was injured and was taken to Kankakee.

A. G. Fletcher, 65 years old, of Portland, Ore., was killed on highway 20 near Valparaiso, Ind., when he was struck by a car as he walked in the road. Timothy J. Keough of 904 South Loomis street was the driver.

Two Demented Convicts Taken After Prison Break

Fulton, Mo., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Two of five criminally insane convicts who escaped from the Missouri State hospital here Saturday night were captured today by a posse near Tebbets in Calloway county. The fugitives were Oliver Hamilton, 37, St. Louis "Cuckoo" gangster, a lifer for murder, and John Marcum 27, St. Louis.

1 DEAD, 19 HURT IN FRENCH RIOT AGAINST PAY CUT

Troops Battle Mob at Naval Headquarters.

BREST, France, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Four thousand rioting workers in naval shipyards battled police and broke down doors of naval headquarters today in an all day demonstration against government pay cuts.

One person was killed and 19 injured before the demonstrators were finally dispersed by mounted Republican guards. Troops, blue-jackets, and police guarded the city.

A colonial infantry company was used to drive off the rioters after they smashed in the doors of the maritime prefecture. Sailors there protected the prefect, Vice Admiral Laurent, in the courtyard.

Communists Are Blamed.

One worker died in a hospital of a fractured skull. Officials attributed the trouble to communists.

The crowd burned a guards' truck and tried unsuccessfully to open gates to the barracks of the second colonial regiment. Hurling sewer covers and scrap iron, the demonstrators smashed windows of a department store and broke sentry boxes in front of various public buildings.

Quiet apparently was restored as night set in, but a line of armed blue-jackets maintained guard at naval headquarters.

Rioters Tear Down Tricolor.

Among those injured in the rioting was Jacques Henry, a subprefect, who braved the wrath of the strikers to tear down a red flag raised by the mob to replace the French Tricolor. Henry, acting alone, climbed a wall and hauled the communist banner from the lanyards. Paving stones were hurled at him and one found its mark.

All business in the city was suspended. Shopkeepers locked and barred their windows.

At Le Havre, engineers of the French line refused to accept pay checks which bore 10 per cent reductions.

1,700 Riot in Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Police dispersed demonstrations today by 1,200 bus employés and 500 workers in a gas plant who tried to march in protest against wage cuts when they drew their first pay with 10 per cent deducted.

Meanwhile, Premier Laval summoned from all 86 of France's departments their prefects, the governing officials for the regions. He called them to a conference this coming week-end on the pay cutting decree laws.

NEW DEAL'S OWN EXPERT UPHOLDS FORD'S CHARGES

Thinks Tax Confiscation of Business Good Idea.

through preferred stock, or by sale of a portion of the common stock.

"The effect of this would be to convert what is now a family industry into a widely owned one, and to permit the public to share in the future earnings of an enterprise to the building of which public patronage has made so substantial a contribution."

Might Take Whole Equity.

Mr. Jackson did not explain what he meant by "some part of the equity" that would have to be disposed of, but the figures he cited indicated clearly that it would be the entire equity now held by the elder Ford. Edsel B. Ford, he stated on the basis of "reliable sources," acquired 41½ per cent of the Ford Motor company in 1919, leaving 58½ per cent as the most that could be affected by the proposed inheritance taxes.

On this basis, and assuming that Mr. Ford left his entire equity of 354 million dollars to his son, Edsel would receive 34 million 400 thousand after the payment of the 60 per cent estate tax and the proposed 75 per cent inheritance tax. Assuming further that this amount would be wiped out through depletion in liquidation, an assumption based on his further testimony, Edsel Ford would receive nothing from his father's estate.

Edsel's Share $246,000,000.

Saying it would be unlawful to make public the figures of the internal revenue bureau, Solicitor Jackson used the 1934 report of the Ford Motor company to the Massachusetts commissioner of corporations as the basis for the 600 million dollar valuation upon the Ford property.

"Edsel Ford," he said, "has already received an interest in the Ford Motor company now worth, on the balance sheet, 246 million dollars. This is not touched by inheritance taxes. This illustrates concretely what I have stated to be the general rule, that estates do not pass from rich men to poor men, but usually to heirs already amply provided for."

The treasury representative ignored the effects such a taxing program might have upon the business itself and the many thousands employés directly and indirectly depending upon it. He considered only the merits of the individual fortunes, taking the position that Edsel Ford already is "amply provided for" and that Henry Ford's 354 million dollar equity is "abnormal."

354 Millions "Abnormal."

"An estate of 354 million dollars, the balance sheet value of the remaining 59 per cent of the stock which we will assume Mr. Ford still owns," he declared, "is abnormal by any test we know. The house bill, intended to cover most normal estates, stops graduation entirely at 10 million dollars, and the Ford estate, on these figures, would be 35 times the point at which graduation of rates ceases.

"The largest estate so far returned to the bureau of internal revenue was 140 million dollars. It is obvious that the hypothetical application of this law to the Ford fortune would be a distortion of its usual application.

"Moreover, while the Ford Motor company has been accumulating its surplus at an average rate of 20 million dollars a year, this amount has not been distributed to stockholders where it would be subject to surtaxes."

Profits Put Back In.

Senator William H. King [Dem., Utah] interrupted at this point to inquire whether it wasn't true that the profits had been put back into the business. Jackson conceded this and continued:

"The increase in value of the holdings of Henry Ford, if realized upon by a sale in his lifetime, would pay heavy individual taxes. If it now passes by inheritance it will have escaped all surtaxes. Thus if the heirs of Henry Ford shall now find themselves in high inheritance brackets it is in part offset by the advantages of accumulating wealth without paying surtaxes thereon."

When Jackson averred that many estates would present far greater difficulties in liquidation than that of Henry Ford, Senator King inquired:

"Isn't it true that many estates have become insolvent and unable to meet their taxes and the heirs have received nothing?"

Calls Troubles Exaggerated.

"Yes, but the difficulties are exaggerated," Jackson replied.

"That was before you added the 75 per cent inheritance tax to the present estate tax, so you have no figures," commented Senator Peter G. Gerry [Dem., R. I.]. "You are just giving your personal opinion."

Senator Gerry also wanted to know whether a very high estate or inheritance tax would not in effect be confiscatory, amounting to "more than 100 per cent," because a forced liquidation would not leave enough to pay the tax.

"A 98 or 99 per cent estate tax that had to be realized in cash undoubtedly would amount to more than could be raised," Jackson replied.

"Wouldn't a 75 per cent tax have the same effect?" Senator King asked.

"Well, that becomes more debatable," the witness said.

Analyzes 58 Incomes.

Jackson devoted a considerable part of his testimony to the question of tax evasions, and analyzed the returns of the 58 taxpayers reporting gross incomes of mor than a million dollars in 1932. These were the "58 thriftiest individuals" sarcastically referred to by President Roosevelt at a press conference last week.

Jackson said they reported ownership of 461 million dollars in tax exempt securities and tax free income of 21 million dollars, as against taxable income of 57 million dollars.

"The study also reveals gross inequalities of taxation between well-to-do taxpapers of really similar position and income," he said. "Taxpayer 'D' had a net income of only $101,000, with tax free income of about a million 400 thousand dollars. He wiped out the net income that would have been taxable with capital losses and paid no tax whatever.

Three Distinguished Farmers.

"Taxpayer 'A,' 'B,' and 'C' are three distinguished farmers, each of whom has regularly lost from $150,000 to $200,000 a year on his farms. In the last five years 'B' has reduced his taxes $221,000, 'C' $210,000, and 'A' $206,000 because of farm losses.

"Such 'farm relief' is not available to smaller payers who cannot deduct for their hobbies or amusements."

Senator Gerry asked whether Jackson would be willing to preclude deductions for capital losses by abolishing the capital gain and loss provisions altogether, so that there would be no tax on gains and no deduction for losses.

"No, I wouldn't want to exempt capital gains," Jackson replied.

"Why does England eliminate such provisions?" Senator Gerry asked.

"Why, I think it is because of the difficulty of administration and because they feel that such a tax is unfair," the witness replied. "They favor taxing on the average rather than on the basis of fluctuations."

Assails Litigation Delay.

Jackson also assailed the "device of permitting a litigation of tax first and payment afterward, with no security or penalty or disadvantage whatever for the delay." He said the board of tax appeals decided only 1,600 cases a year, while between four and five thousand were commenced. He urged the establishment of an independent board to pass upon deficiencies, requiring taxpayers to pay first and sue afterwards.

"I don't believe we can successfully administer the tax law much longer if we permit taxpayers to litigate for several years without first paying something or securing the tax," he declared. "The day has come when the board of tax appeals is totally inadequate."

Jackson said he saw no serious difficulty in the way of administering the proposed inheritance taxes because the total number of inheritances of $1,000 or more is only 161,755 per year at present, as compared with 3,700,000 individual income tax returns.

Shows Expectancy Table.

He presented a table showing the number of inheritances in each group expected by the treasury, on the basis of experience with estate taxes. Among the examples are: 33,136 in the $1,500 dollar class, aggregating 51 million 361 thousand dollars; 840 in the $100,000 class, aggregating 84 million 595 thousand dollars; 40 in the $500,000 class, aggregating 20 million 294 thousand dollars; 20 in the $1,270,000 class, aggregating 25 millions.

HENRY FORD RETURNS TO FARM AND DOES A JOB OF THRESHING

Milan, Mich., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Henry Ford went back to the farm today, to experience again the thrill of mastering a temperamental, wood burning threshing machine. It was on the same farm, and with the same machine, that Ford proved 50 years ago that his flair for mechanics could be put to practical use.

Con Tinsman, a farmer, had faith then in the 22 year old youth and told him to keep the threshing machine in working order for the harvest. Ford did it. When Ford started his museum of Americana he gave the old machine a place of honor in his Greenfield village museum.

Ford got up at 6 a. m. today and by 8 o'clock was at the throttle of the engine. Intermittent rain kept the old wood burner and its 100 foot belt which slips when wet, idle part of the day, but Ford got the threshing done.

"UNCLE MIDAS" WORRIED BY HIS "GOLDEN TOUCH"

U. S. Silver Supplies Also Bring Questions.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Uncle Midas is getting worried at the way things turn to gold—and silver—at his touch.

Uncle Midas already has more than 9 billion dollars of the world's 22 billion dollars of gold, and it still is pouring into his hands at the rate of 1½ billions a year. And under the Roosevelt monetary program he has acquired 13,000 tons of silver up to date.

What it is all going to lead to makes for a good deal of uneasiness, but the only thing Uncle Midas has been able to think of to do about it is to prepare a place in Kentucky in which to bury his gold against the day Europe and Asia may decide to come over to get it, or the "have nots," having divided up the possessions of the "haves," should decide to divide up Uncle Midas' gold also.

Gold Imports Soar.

In the first half of 1935 the excess of our gold imports over gold exports was $304,163,000, swelling our stock of gold to 9 billion 147 million dollars. Ten times as much gold as silver came in, thus further postponing the time when Mr. Roosevelt can expect to achieve his objective of a monetary base composed of three fourths gold and one fourth silver. At the rate gold is piling up in the government vaults it will take the purchase of several times 13,000 tons of silver at an incalculable expenditure to attain the goal.

Why the gold is pouring in nobody knows exactly. It doesn't represent a balance of foreign merchandise trade, for imports and exports the first six months of 1935 just about balanced. It evidently is the "invisible balance," such as services and capital transactions. George Peek says Europe has been buying American securities. Secretary of Commerce Roper says that's all nonsense.

At any rate, it is apparent that our stock of gold, with 40 per cent coverage, would support 22½ billions of currency. It also appears that Mr. Roosevelt's write-up in the value of gold when he devalued the dollar, and the influx of gold since that time, constitute a large factor in the creation of the excess reserves in the federal reserve bank system which now stand at 2½ billions—basis for a bank credit inflation of 25 billions.

Trend Ominous, Say Experts.

The money experts say the trend of gold movements is ominous. They wonder if the continued influx of gold will cause other countries to take new measures to stop the drain which will result in another slump in American export trade. Or will our financial machinery sustain a new derangement?

The treasury has completed plans for the safeguarding of our gold. With the world's mines producing about 1 billion dollars' worth of new gold a year and with due allowance made for the continued acquisition of the precious metal by the United States, the treasury has planned a treasure chamber at Fort Knox, Ky., capable of containing 18 billion dollars' worth.

What to do with the increasing accumulations of silver is a good deal of a problem. All the gold in the treasury vaults here, in the mint at Philadelphia, in the New York assay office, and in eastern federal reserve banks will be transferred to Fort Knox. About 3 billion dollars' worth now is stored at the Denver mint and it is expected that the bulk of the remaining 6 billion dollars will be locked up at Fort Knox. Only gold enough for small change will be kept in Washington and New York.

Warehouse Space Needed.

The space vacated by gold in Washington, New York, and Philadelphia will be filled with silver, but the vault room available is only a fraction of the amount that will be needed for silver eventually, unless the gold tide should turn the other way and reduce the amount of silver necessary to establish the new monetary base. Warehouse space really is what the silver buying program calls for.

The treasury is to let the contract for the Fort Knox depository Aug. 22. The entire structure, which will be two stories, is to cost $524,000. The treasure chamber is to be 64 feet long and 40 feet wide and extend two stories in height. The building housing the chamber will have a granite roof, which the engineers calculate would resist the missils of bombing planes. The garrison at Fort Knox also is to be reinforced with air forces and anti-aircraft units.

The treasure chamber itself will be suspended in the interior of the building. There will be two feet of vacant space under its floor, over its ceiling, and around its walls.

ROOSEVELT WOOS RED PLAN, WARNS MISSOURI WOMAN

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Mrs. George Simmons, farmer's wife of Marshall, Mo., told the Women's National Republican club today that President Roosevelt, aware or unaware, is following the Moscow pattern of government and will turn this nation into a communistic state.

She faced an audience of 200 men and women and recited the fears, doubts, and discouragements that led her to bolt the Democratic party.

Although the attendance was largely feminine, such party leaders as Col. Theodore Roosevelt and C. D. Hillis, Republican national committeemen, were present.

"President Roosevelt," Mrs. Simmons asserted, "must not be reelected, for if he is, I see no hope for the preservation of our national honor or our present system of government.

"We must refuse this poisonous burocratic mess of ungodly communism and live up to our precious privileges as inheritors of liberty under our constitution. We must realize that personal freedom is more important than any party label; that living up to what is right in the sight of our creator is grander by far than any patronage ever ladled out of a political pork barrel.

"Why must we farmers watch consumption cut down because prices are too high, and those of us who do not believe in burocrats down at Washington dictating how we shall manage our farms have to help to pay for their vicious programs and yet watch imports of food and feed mount to incredible figures? Why does the President dare to insist upon legislation that is unconstitutional?"

A. F. OF L. BOARD ASKS U. S. TRY TO AVERT STRUGGLE IN AFRICA

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor executive council directed William Green today to appeal to President Roosevelt to try to stop the threatened Italian-Ethiopian war.

"From all the facts and information available there seems to be no justification for a war of aggression on the part of Italy and for the invasion of Ethiopian territory." The council said.

"The executive council will appeal to the government of the United States to utilize all influence at its command to prevent the threatened war between Italy and Ethiopia."

The council expressed the fear that "grave international complications might grow out of such a conflict. All of which might seriously threaten the peace of the entire world."

STEAL FIREWOOD; ROOF FALLS.

Children stealing firewood weakened the roof of a three story building at 2943 North Washtenaw avenue so that yesterday it caved in. Firemen satisfied themselves that no one was caught in the building and the police posted a guard over it.

GIFTS OF STOCKS FOLLOW IN WAKE OF TAX MESSAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Ten persons gave away stocks valued at $1,333,000 within a few days after President Roosevelt asked congress to impose inheritance taxes and increase estate and income taxes, preliminary reports filed with the securities and exchange commission, showed today.

Beside the gifts made shortly after delivery of the tax message, the SEC reports disclosed prior gifts, including one estimated at more than a million dollars made by John D. Rockefeller Jr. and another of more than a million dollars made by Charles Woolworth, 5 and 10 heir.

Fisher Gift Revealed.

Among the gifts made after the President had asked for higher taxes, the largest was one estimated at $660,000 and made by Henry J. Fisher, New York. The gift comprised of 20,000 shares in the McCall corporation and was made on June 27, eight days after the tax message.

William K. Vanderbilt, head of the famous New York family, gave away stock having a market value of $201,500 on June 26 and 27. The gifts were 2,000 shares of the New York Central railroad and 5,000 shares of Western Union stock.

Other Gifts Disclosed.

Other persons making gifts of stocks after delivery of the message and the estimated value of securities given away are:

John Willys, $80,000; George H. Lorimer, $95,000; P. B. Jamison, $46,250; R. R. Williams, $141,000; Henry J. Breyer Jr., $61,020; Max Weinstein, $21,200, and Isaac Elliott, $32,000.

DIES AT 83 AFTER A FALL.

PACIFIC TESTS BRING CALL FOR 7 BATTLESHIPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—In its vast construction program the American navy is moving to correct serious defects in the fighting fleet and toward effectual maintenance of peace in the Pacific ocean. That was disclosed today by the navy high command.

The American navy is strong, but maneuvers off Hawaii and Alaska demonstrated to experts that in no category has the American navy all around superiority over the Japanese fleet, conceded, throughout the world, as well balanced and excellently trained. Japan has more new ships and superior potential strength compared with either the American or British navies.

Some Battleships Too Slow.

America has more battleships, most of them too slow to bring newer Japanese battleships into action. Due to that disparity, the U. S. naval intelligence division has recommended the building of seven battleships to replace seven of the present fleet. Secretary Swanson will ask congress for funds to build the first of those seven in 1937.

The United States has fifteen first class cruisers against 12 for Japan, but the latter are better protected. In second class cruisers, destroyers, and submarines, Japan is superior, though the United States has more vessels. The American navy has more planes, but is not adequately provided with airplane carriers to bring all its aircraft into action.

The United States naval maneuvers also brought home to the naval high command that the navy is weak in gunnery, deficient in strategy and tactics, according to well informed sources. In its firing the navy found difficulty in scoring hits except in smooth waters.

Tries to Correct Defects.

In the building program, which has been revised since the maneuvers, the navy is seeking to correct its deficiencies. The navy now has under construction two aircraft carriers, three heavy cruisers, seven light cruisers, ten submarines, and thirty-nine destroyers. Bids are to be opened for 15 destroyers and 6 submarines during the month. Twelve more destroyers and 6 more submarines are to be under construction before the end of the year.

As the United States pushes ahead with its serious attempt to bring the navy up to full treaty strength by the time the treaties expire Jan. 1, 1937, naval experts see a guarantee of peace in the Pacific. The rates under that treaty was 5-5-3. Japan now has 700,000 tons of modern ships against 800,000 of the United States and 940,000 for England.

U. S. Navy Is Stronger Daily.

When vessels now under construction are completed Japan will have 720,000 tons against 1,000,000 tons each for America and England. Each day is finding the American navy stronger and stronger and the Japanese navy weaker and weaker, according to experts. This, they declare, is making for peace in the Pacific.

Japan's Day Is Now.

From a purely naval point of view, excluding matters of policy, the proper time for Japan to go to war in furtherance of her dominance in the far east would be the present, according to informed observers. Delay, they assert, is postponing possibility of warfare in the Pacific.

TAXPAYER GROUP DEMANDS SLASH IN FEDERAL COST

Demand that the Roosevelt administration reduce expenditures and taxation was contained in a resolution made public yesterday at the western headquarters of the American Taxpayers' league in Chicago. The resolution was signed by Thomas Cody, state director of the league, and by the heads of several civic groups and taxpayers' organizations.

The resolution is in protest against the proposed "soak the thrifty" tax measure, which would add about $275,000,000 a year to the federal tax burden. It calls upon the administration to "abandon at once its orgy of spending."

Tax boosts now would drive capital away from industry, increase unemployment, cause the cost of living to soar, and wipe out the recent economic gains, the resolution predicts, adding that the load will fall, not alone on the wealthy, but upon the wage earner and the owner of real estate.

WAGE AND HOUR BILL ADDED TO MUST PROGRAM

Requires Pledges by Bidding Firms.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Another measure was added today by administration leaders to the list of bills which a weary congress must consider before adjournment. This was the Walsh bill giving the President power to require minimum wage and maximum hour standards of all firms bidding for government contracts.

The bill is scheduled for consideration by the senate after it finishes with the gold clause legislation. It was favorably reported Aug. 1 by the senate labor committee headed by Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.], sponsor of the measure.

Republicans are planning an attack upon the bill, terming it another government plan for regulation of private industry. It hits practically every industry in the country, it was pointed out, because it not only involves corporations selling to the government but extends also to state and local projects wholly or partly financed by federal funds.

Requires Pledge by Bidders.

The act requires a pledge by all bidders for government contracts that they will live up to the wage and hour agreements set up in the now defunct NRA codes. In the absence of this pledge, even if a firm is by far the low bidder, its bid will be automatically thrown out under the proposed law.

Anticipating passage of the law, the President has issued an executive order which calls for a pledge by present bidders promising to comply with the code hours and wages when the bill goes into effect.

At committee hearings, the bill was vigorously opposed by army and navy officials and by the National Association of Manufacturers. The former pointed out the difficulties of administrating the law. The latter asserted that the bill practically did away with competitive bidding.

One section of the bill particularly is scheduled for attack on the ground of its impracticality. This provides that not only the principal contractor adhere to the wage and hour requirements to be set up by the President, but the same conditions must be met by every subcontractor or supplier to the principal contractor.

More Government Jobs.

Checking up on the pledges will necessitate a vast number of government workers, it was pointed out, and the President is empowered to appoint such number of employés and fix their salaries without regard to civil service regulations.

The penalties specified for disobedience to the law are a penalty of a sum equal to twice the difference between the amount required to be paid and that actually paid the employé, cancellation of contracts, and various other penalties. The proposed law also provides that pay rolls and "pertinent records" must be furnished to the government upon demand.

Ex-Wife of Author

Armonk, N. Y., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The newest episode in a theatrical-literary matrimonial serial was enacted here early today. Henry Topping Jr. married Jayne Shadduck Kirkland, former wife of the author of the play, "Tobacco Road." Justice Julius A. Raven performed the ceremony.

On the license application the bride, 21, a former Broadway showgirl, failed to mention the Reno divorce given her last week from Jack Kirkland. Topping, also recorded as 21, recently was divorced in Reno.

Kirkland first married Nancy Carroll, movie actress. She recently divorced her second husband, Bolton Mallory, writer and editor. Miss Carroll is now reported to be planning a third marriage, that to William Van Rensselaer Smih, wealthy California lawyer. Mallory is on a honeymoon with his third wife, Carlota Lobato, a 14 year old Mexican girl.

JAPS NAB OUSTED CHINESE OFFICIAL AS ASSASSIN AID

Hold Him in Nipponese Embassy in Peiping.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 6.—The Japanese embassy at Peiping today announced the detention of Tao Shang-ming, former Chinese administrative inspector of the eastern section of the demilitarized zone north of Peiping, on a charge of "complicity in the assassination of Col. Liu Tso-chin." The assassination occurred Sunday on the railway station platform at Lwanchow.

The announcement did not state how the Chinese official was detained, but a report from other sources said that when he called on the Japanese military attaché to discuss the incident, the Japanese placed him under arrest. He is being held in the Japanese embassy.

Act Under Boxer Pact.

The Japanese announcement said action was taken "under the terms of the powers' note attached to the Boxer protocol of 1900, which gave complete jurisdiction over an area two miles on each side of the railway between Peiping and Shanhaikwan."

The statement said the killing of Col. Liu, and the wounding of a Japanese gendarme, Sonosuke Kitamura, and the attempt to assassinate Maj. Chikamitsu Nkui, commandant of the Japanese garrison at Tangshan, provided ample legal justification for the detention of Tao.

The seizure of Tao and the Japanese demand that the four gumnen who are alleged to be the slayers of Col. Liu be handed over to the Japanese for punishment created a sensation in Peiping. Previously the Japanese always have demanded that the Chinese authorities punish their own citizens when alleged to be involved in complications affecting Japanese interests.

Jap Military Staf Confers.

Lieut. Gen. Yoshijiro Umezu, commander of the Japanese forces in North China, called a conference of his staf officers this afternoon at Tientsin. The conference was attended by Capt. Akio Ishi, who had just returned from Lwanchow, where he investigated the shooting, and Col. Takashi Sakai, chief of staf, who yesterday conferred with Wang Keh-ming, acting head of the Peiping political council.

Capt. Ishi said the assassins were not connected with local bandit gangs. He alleged that they were sent to Lwanchow to create a disturbance. The Japanese officers claimed that the assassination was instigated by Tao, who recently was dismissed from the post of inspector of the demilitarized zone.

According to Japanese newspapers, Col. Sakai lodged two demands with the acting head of the Peiping political council. The first was that the demilitarized zone, extending from the Great Wall south to the environs of Peiping and Tientsin and including one-fourth the area of Hopei province, be created a special district independent of provincial administration. The second was that the Chinese administration of the five northern provinces of Hopei, Shantung, Shansi, Chahar, and Suiyuan be reorganized immediately.

Bandit Menace Growing.

A Chinese report from Tientsin tonight said the bandit situation in the demilitarized zone was growing more serious, making necessary martial law in the Lwanchow area during the investigation into the assassination.

Maj. Gen. Hayao Tada, new commander of the Japanese forces in north China, who is scheduled to replace Lieut. Gen. Umezi on Aug. 9, in an interview published here, said his policy would be "to insist on faithful observance of the terms of the Tangku truce, signed on May 31, 1933, which concluded the hostilities between the Chinese and Japanese forces over the Manchurian affair."

JAP PRINCE LINKED TO QUINTS; CALLED ANOTHER 'INSULT'

TOKIO, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A caricature of Emperor Hirohito was not the only "insult" against the Japanese imperial house in the August issue of an American magazine, it was learned today from a high official source.

Perhaps even more derogatory to the Japanese sovereign, in the eyes of the Japanese government, was a page of photographs recalling notable births and linking the crown prince of Japan to the Dionne quintuplets and others.

An official source said instructions to Ambassador Hirosi Saito did not mention specifically the page of the magazine to be involved in his representations to the Washington state department.

The government assumed, however, that the ambassador would be quick to realize the disrespect involved in the photographs and would call these to the attention of the state department and the magazine publishers, as well as the much discussed caricature showing the emperor tugging a jinrikisha in which rested the Nobel peace prize.

The foreign office said it was still awaiting Saito's report on his interview with Secretary of State Hull and that it was unable to say whether the incident was approaching a satisfactory termination.

KANSAS RELIEF STRIKERS MOVE TO COURTHOUSE

Kansas City, Kas., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Shouting they would stay until their demands were met, approximately 1,000 relief workers swarmed through the Wyandotte county courthouse tonight in protest against a two-thirds cut in work relief payments.

County commissioners, meeting in special session, refused all demands in a 12 point petition today except one asking free milk for children. The commissioners agreed to consider a request for a 25 per cent increase in the poor fund tax levy.

The demonstrators were boisterous but gave no indication of violence. Nevertheless police reserves were called out.

FOREIGN OFFICE IN TOKIO 'REBELS' AGAINST HIROTA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 6.—Discontented officials in the foreign office took an unprecedented step today in submitting "suggestions" to Foreign Minister Koki Hirota. They urged him to adopt a policy "more appropriate to meet the present situation." Those who signed the request included all officials below the rank of section chief.

Discontent has been seething for some time over Hirota's failure to promote what the officials describe as "deserving lower officials." The malcontents claim he is making the foreign policy stagnant. The action is regarded as a demonstration of nonconfidence against Hirota and Vice Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu.

Often warned that such a demonstration was planned, Hirota is understood to have been endeavoring to prevent the leakage of information on it and to have been preparing to shift personnel. Some newspapers regard the movement as a revolt against Hirota. The developments are being watched with serious concern.

75,000 PLEDGE FIGHT ON HORNER AND ROOSEVELT

Lundin Marshals Rising New Deal Opposition.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Fred Lundin said yesterday that he would display to Chicago and the nation tomorrow evening a definite picture of the rising rebellion against the New Deal.

At a meeting in the Hotel Morrison of Republican forces of which he is the untitled head, Mr. Lundin will point to a stack of 75,000 cards signed by Chicago voters who, in signing, have pledged themselves to "vote and work for the removal" of President Roosevelt and Gov. Horner from office.

Lundin says that, since signatures thus far have been sought on the basis of one to a family, the stack will represent between 150,000 and 200,000 votes. He predicts that the total number of cards will be increased to 250,000 before the primaries next April and to 500,000 before the ensuing election in November, 1936.

First Such Drive on Record.

This is believed to be the first big movement of this character in history —of voters in great numbers "signing a contract," as Lundin puts it, to vote and work for the removal from office of a President of the United States. He says the movement is about to spread downstate and may be carried into other states.

It was on April 8 that Lundin announced his plan to organize against the New Deal, tomorrow's meeting being exactly four months later, and approximately three months of real work has brought in cards at the rate of 25,000 a month.

All of this work, the missionary work in the home and the grind at headquarters, has been done by volunteers without compensation and this plan is to be followed through the remaining fifteen months of the campaign. Donations from a few individuals have paid the headquarters expense and the cost of printing and mailing.

Each Signer Asked to Help.

Each of the 75,000 signers of cards now on hand will receive a letter of appreciation inclosing two or three blank cards to which he is urged to obtain signatures, an envelope also being inclosed for their return to headquarters.

Regular Republican ward committeemen in forty of the city's fifty wards have thrown their precinct workers into the big task. In most of the other ten wards other organizations have taken up the job.

Lundin doesn't stop when the cards reach headquarters at 145 North Clark street. There they are arranged in files by wards and precincts. There also is a book for each ward, a big volume containing the polling lists for all the precincts in that ward. Checking from the card files, the names of all voters who sign the cards are marked with stars on the poll lists. When primary day and election day come, each precinct captain will be given a list of the voters in his territory marked to indicate those known to be against the New Deal. It will be his job to get them to the voting booths.

Springfield Conference Today.

Today at Springfield there will be a conference of women chairmen of Republican county and district committees. State Senator Earl B. Searcy, of Springfield, a candidate for governor; Representative Leroy M. Green, of Rockford, house minority leader, and Justus L. Johnson, state chairman, will speak.

Tomorrow United States Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa will be the principal speaker at an all day Republican roundup at Starved Rock. Friday evening young Republicans of the 11th congressional district will meet at the Medinah Country club.

HASTINGS URGES ALL REPUBLICANS QUIT NEW DEAL

Replies to Norbeck on G. O. P. Liberals.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A warning from Senator Norbeck [Rep., S. D.] that Republican liberals must be brought into party councils for success in 1936 drew a suggestion today from Senator Daniel O. Hastings [Rep., Del.] that they should "not go cavorting around with New Deal vagaries."

Suggests Naming Lindbergh.

The day included an announcment by Robert H. Lucas that he had found support in various sections for Charles A. Lindbergh as the Republican presidential nominee next year. The flyer, however, would not attain the constitutional age limit of 35 until February, 1937, four months after election time and a month after inauguration.

Lucas, former executive director of the Republican national committee, has been testing sentiment for various suggested G. O. P. candidates.

Asks for More Issues.

Norbeck said today in an interview that "the Republican party must offer something more than criticisms of Roosevelt and the scare about losing the constitution."

"Above all," Norbeck added, "they cannot win without inviting the Progressives into the party and giving them a voice in party affairs. Otherwise other northwestern states will join the third party movement already controling Minnesota and Wisconsin—the states whose votes are needed in the electoral college for Republican success."

Senator Hastings agreed that Progressives should be invited into the party, but added:

"If we should write a platform that is satisfactory to the Progressives and give them a voice in party affairs I express the hope that they may feel bound by the party promises and live up to the party obligations and not go cavorting around with New Deal vagaries."

POLICE SEIZE 12 SLOT MACHINES AND ARREST 10

A dozen slot machines were seized and one woman and nine men were arrested as owners or operators of the machines last night and early today when members of Sergt. John Hackett's gambling squad raided some ten taverns in the Summerdale and North Damen avenue police districts.

The four members of the squad, dressed in polo shirts, caps and clothing to represent themselves as ordinary tavern patrons, worked independently, operated the gambling devices and afterward made the arrests.

Those arrested and the addresses of the taverns where the machines were seized are: Mrs. Francis La Porte, 6251 North Western avenue; Arthur Johnson, 5124 North Clark street; Leopold Theis, 5721 North Clark street; Patrick Ludwig, 5706 North Clark street; Kirvey Vevane, 5233 North Damen avenue; Frank Ciucas, 1053 Granville avenue; James Walsh, 1912 Addison street; Walter Moran, 4318 Lincoln avenue; Jack Miller, 4641 North Rockwell stret; Joe Manske, 4600 Lincoln avenue.

NEW OKLAHOMA CITY PARKING METER PLAN MEETS WITH SUCCESS

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The newfangled parking meter, on trial here this month for the first time in America, has been given a great big hand—full of nickels.

The public on wheels is paying and paying and as indicated by random comment today is, for the most part, liking it.

In 12 days 200 of the little gadgets set on iron posts at 20 foot intervals along the downtown curbing have taken in $745.09.

Reasons for support, as given by City Manager Orval Mosier, are that the system provides parking space for shoppers, makes the trafic more "fluid," and does away with the "shoving and pushing" entailed by getting into, or out of, regular free parking space.

Opposition persists, nevertheless. The city council received a petition today asking that the meters be submitted to a vote.

When a nickel is deposited a green flag rises within the glassed-in meter. An indicator moves across a graduated scale as the time elapses, and at the end of the nickel's worth of time the flag drops, signaling policemen to "tag" the car. The time allowed is 15 minutes, 30, or an hour, depending on the zone.

FOSTER-SHERIDAN TRAFIC PLAN IS GIVEN PARK O. K.

The Chicago park board at its meeting yesterday approved a plan to relieve trafic congestion at Foster avenue and Sheridan road. The measure will go to the city council at its special meeting Friday for final approval. The council's trafic committee has indorsed the plan.

Under the proposal Foster avenue and Sheridan road, as far north as Devon avenue, would be reserved for northbound trafic coming in from the outer drive. Southbound automobiles would leave Devon avenue at Kenmore avenue, which would be made one way to Winona street to handle this trafic load. At winona, which is a block south of Foster, the southbound trafic would turn east to the outer drive on a new stretch of pavement that is to be constructed.

Otto Jelinek, chief trafic engineer for the park district, estimated that it would cost $12,000 to put the plan into effect. The largest part of the cost would be construction of the pavement to connect Winona street with the outer drive.

Una Fleming, Ex-Actress, Sues to Divorce C. E. Adams

Mrs. Una Fleming Adams, former stage actress, filed suit for divorce in the Superior court yesterday against Carleton E. Adams, vice president of the Eisendrath Glove company in New York. The couple married for the first time in 1920, and Mrs. Adams obtained a divorce in 1927. They remarried the next year, and in the bill filed yesterday Mrs. Adams alleges her husband deserted her on July 2, 1934. They have one daughter, Barbara, 13 years old. As Una Fleming, Mrs. Adams was co-starred about 15 years ago with Nora Bayes in "Her Family Tree."

Driver Is Shot in Argument Over Close Shave in Trafic

Raymond Spear, 30 years old, of 5037 West 25th place, Cicero, was shot in the right hip early today by one of three gunmen in an argument over a narrowly averted accident in trafic. According to Spear's story, he and his wife, Leonora, were driving southwest in Ogden avenue. At California avenue a car sped through a stop light and almost struck Spear's machine. Spear got out to remonstrate, and one of the three occupants of the other car drew a gun and fired. Spear was taken to St. Anthony's hospital where it was said his condition was not serious.

Daughter, 30, Out Late, So Father Spanks Her

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 6.—(AP)—John Shepherd, 59, spanked his 30 year old daughter for "staying out late." That's all right with Police Judge Joseph Sherman. The judge ruled in favor of Shepherd after he had been arrested on a peace disturbance charge brought by the daughter, Mrs. Nellie Evans.

'GRASS ROOTERS' FORM PERMANENT PARTY 'AUXILIARY'

Name Officers, Governing Body; Map Program.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Organization of the Republican Grass Roots movement in every precinct of ten midwest prairie states as an auxiliary of the regularly constituted party machinery was decided on yesterday by the permanent committee of fifty created by the June Grass Roots conference at Springfield. Three states not in the Springfield roundup—Michigan, Ohio, and Kentucky—also are to be invited to come in to conform to a regional plan suggested by the Republican national committee.

Headquarters are to be set up in Chicago. Permanent officers were elected as follows:

HARRISON E. SPANGLER of Iowa, chairman.

JO FERGUSON of Oklahoma, secretary.

For the important office of treasurer the committee favored the appointment of James H. Douglas Jr. of Chicago, former assistant secretary of the treasury, but was unable to reach him by long distance telephone in California. The office was left vacant pending acceptance by Mr. Douglas.

Executive Committee Named.

An executive committee of one from each state was elected with power to act in all matters in the absence of the full governing body. Its members, who were suggested by a committee headed by C. J. Doyle of Springfield, are:

EDWARD A. HAYES, Illinois.
WARD F. SENN, Minnesota.
GROVER DALTON, Missouri.
FELIX M. McWHIRTER, Indiana.
ARTHUR B. FONTAINE, Wisconsin.
JOHN HAMILTON, Kansas.
M. P. BEEBE, South Dakota.
SAM R. McKELVIE, Nebraska.
W. J. GOODWIN, Iowa.
L. L. ROBERTS, Oklahoma.

A finance committee of one from each state is to be set up later by the executive committee.

With this organization decided upon the committee of fifty, in its final session at the Edgewater Beach hotel, agreed upon a program of activities designed to carry the Grass Roots "Save the Constitution" campaign into all precincts of the ten prairie states.

Hayes Helps Shape Program.

These activities to be conducted from Chicago headquarters were recommended by a committee headed by Mr. Hayes, former national commander of the American Legion, as follows:

1. The Grass Roots movement is to retain its identity as a product of the Springfield roundup, and it is to work in full coöperation with the regularly constituted Republican organizations.

2. Divisions are to be set up for women, labor, ex-service men, and Young Republicans. The executive committee may set up other divisions, such as for consumers and agriculture.

3. A membership drive for the Grass Roots crusade is to be opened in every precinct, directed out of the Chicago office. Membership cards are to be circulated by Young Republicans, women Grass Rooters, and regular party workers, with the plan of establishing in every precinct in the participating states a Grass Roots auxiliary of the Republican party organization.

4. A primer of Republican doctrins is to be prepared and distributed from headquarters.

Meet in Every Nook Each Month.

5. Once in each month, on a set date, a meeting is to be held in every political subdivision—counties or wards or districts, as the case may be. These meetings are to be held simultaneously. They will have local speakers, and in addition will receive by radio an address from a speaker of national repute. They are to be inspirational meetings, and will be in addition to gatherings and rallies which Grass Rooters already are holding in counties and congressional districts and in city wards.

The committee of 50 plans to have this movement well started by early September, and the program is to be expanded as rapidly as possible, with the precinct as the unit of organization, a task of large proportions.

The Republican national committee is to be asked to invite Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky to join the Grass Roots movement to be directed out of Chicago, on a basis of equality with the ten states which met at Springfield.

"Marks Turn in Political Tide."

After adopting this program of activities, a few brief speeches were made.

"We are creating a supplemental organization for the Republican party," said Mr. Senn of Minnesota, "and we can return home with enthusiasm. The Grass Roots roundup at Springfield marked the turn in the political tide—it was a great thing for individuals in ten midwest states to show they had courage and high ideals. Out of it has come much crystalization of public sentiment, and no wthe same spirit is to be made active by precincts and other units."

Albany Park, Morgan Park Stations to Be Replaced

After considering the best manner of spending $150,000 granted the city police department to modernize its stations, the six supervising captains yesterday voted unanimously to replace with new one story brick structures the ramshackle Albany Park station at 4207 North Kedzie avenue, and the Morgan Park station at 1925 Monterey avenue. Some of the $150,000 will pay for moving the cell blocks in the Maxwell and Desplaines street stations to the first floors. Both these stations, it was stated, have been declared insanitary by city authorities.

Take the case of Miss Madelone Crowley, for instance, who lives in Little Rock, Ark. Just read her letter:

"I have used Kruschen Salts for one year—when I started I weighed 140 pounds—now I weigh 110 pounds and never felt better in my life."

That's the big reason a host of men and women take Kruschen to lose weight—as the fat goes you gain in health—skin clears—eyes grow bright—activity replaces indolence.

Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—a bottle of Kruschen that costs but a trifle lasts 4 weeks—get it at any drugstore in the world—but for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts.

JOBLESS GIRL, 21, WINS WEST SIDE SING IN FESTIVAL

55 Able Sopranos Give Judges Difficult Job.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Miss Henrietta Kracalik, 21 years old, an unemployed waitress, dramatically won first place over 54 other sopranos of the west side last night in a district tryout for THE TRIBUNE'S annual Music Festival on Aug. 17. The contest was held in the Midwestern Athletic club, 6 North Hamlin avenue.

It was an impressive array of sopranos, the largest of any class entering in this year's district preliminary contests. There were wistful brunettes who sang tragic arias and vivacious blondes who reached high notes with ease and brilliance. Long after the basso contest was concluded the sopranos sang on and on, displaying trained and rich voices.

The Winner and Her Teacher.

From the blonde contingent came Miss Kracalik, blue-eyed and 5 feet 2½ inches tall. She lives at 909 Beloit avenue. Her selection was "Ballatella" from "Pagliacci," by Leon Cavallo. Her teacher is Helen Bickerton, under whom she is studying partly under a scholarship. Unemployed since February, Miss Kracalik explained that her smart seersucker dress was made by her mother.

So numerous were the fine sopranos that Dr. Norman Granville, who with Mary Ann Kaufman and Franklin Earle Hathaway judged the contest, addressed the audience before the winners were announced.

"This has been an exceedingly difficult task for us," he said. "We have heard many splendid voices. In the case of the first winner, however, there was no doubt about her from the first. She has a beautiful voice."

Mrs. Lillian Carlson of 6257 Warwick avenue, 30 years old, won second place. She sang "Vissi d'arte vissi d'amoure," from Puccini's "Tosca." She studies under Mme. Amalia France.

Dakota Student Is Third.

Miss Betty Pitsch, 23 years old, of 5644 Lake street, a slender girl from Fargo, N. D., who is here studying under Theodore Harrison, won third place. She sang "Il Baccio," by Arditi. She has completed studies for her master's degree from the North Central college, Naperville, except for a thesis on coloratura voices.

In the basso contest, Alexander Kulpak, 541 North Harvey avenue, Oak Park, who was celebrating his twenty-second birthday, won first place. Graduated in June from Armour Institute of Technology, he aspires to opera. He sang "Il Lacerate Spirito" from "Simon Boccanegra" by G. Verdi, in Italian. He studies with Mme. Marie Mashir.

Russ Marks, of 2914 McLean avenue, 22 years old, an usher, won second place, with "Myself When Young" from the "Persian Garden Sketches" by Liza Lehmann. His teacher is M. K. Gandell.

Thomas A. Zurich, 24 years old, 3653 Wabansia avenue, employed in a Coffee company, took third place with "I Love Life." He has studied for only three months, with Forrest Lamont.

South Side Tryouts Tonight.

Tenors, contraltos and baritones of the south side will compete tonight in the Chicago Woman's club theater, 72 East 11th street. The public is invited. Winners of the district contests will compete in Chicago-Cook county finals on Thursday night, Aug. 15, in the Drake hotel.

One man and one woman singer will be chosen at that time, who will compete against all out of town singers on the morning of Aug. 17 in the Drake hotel. The winning man and woman singer will be heard at the Music Festival Aug. 17.

THE ACCORDION PARADE

Chicago teachers of accordion and composers of accordion music are cooperating with Roy Wells of the Wurlitzer company, who is organizing and will direct a brigade of 500 accordionists in their appearance at the music festival.

This unusual band is expected to be one of the hits of the evening's entertainment. The first rehersal will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock near the Grant park band shell, with permission of the Chicago park district. Working with Mr. Wells to organize the band are Clark Fortner, Estelle Fredericks, Andy Rizzo, Antonio Zordan, and the Piersanti Accordion school. The Wurlitzer accordion teachers assisting are Albert Balchis, Melvin Brandt, Ruth Brinck, Oswald Deernick, Francis Kaderabek, Charles Molnar, Clea Post, Howard Randen, Joseph Rizzo, and Joseph Warput.

The band will play the "Sharpshooters' March" by Metallo, especially arranged for this occasion by Fred C. Redwood. Men, women, and children are invited to join this brigade. Those who have not entered are advised to be at the first rehersal.

It was revealed following the deadline for entry of all festival organizations and individuals in the contests last Monday night that the number of entrants in several of the competitions is larger than in previous festivals.

Among the late band entries is the Hagerstown, Ind., band, sponsored by the Hagerstown Exponent and the Perfect Circle company. The director is W. J. Stahr and the manager is W. E. McCullough.

A Chicago band entered is the Wurlitzer Concert band, directed by Marcel Ackerman, formerly assistant conductor of the Mooseheart Concert band, which last summer won first place in class D juvenile contest of the festival.

ENTERED IN MUSIC FESTIVAL

Two drum majors entered in The Chicago Tribune's Chicagoland Music Festival baton twirling contest, to be held Saturday, Aug. 17, in Soldiers' field in Chicago, are Kenneth Palmer, 15 (left), and Alfred Koegel, 17, both of Milwaukee.

South Bend Mayor Asks Increase in Tax Rate

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—An increase totaling 25.05 cents in the 1936 tax rate has been asked by Mayor George W. Freyermuth. The proposed increase would be from 64.75 cents to 89.8 cents. The new budget proposed by the mayor would be swelled from $888,994.78 to $1,061,509.03. This would mean an increase of $127,514.

Courthouse Faces Loss of Water; Bill Is Unpaid

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Conducting a drive upon delinquent water rents the city today mailed County Clerk Howard W. Short a notice informing him the courthouse water supply would be shut off unless a $248.15 bill is paid at once. Short said there was nothing he could do until the county board meets Aug. 13.

Chicago Amnesia Victim Found in South Dakota

Chicago Expert Tells of Shattered Hopes.

An average of about six persons a day, many of them from cities or towns long distances from Chicago, seek to sell violins here which they believe to have been made by Stradivari or other old masters, according to John R. Dubbs, connoisseur of old violins. So steady is this volume of proffered instruments, which prove invariably to be worth little or nothing, that Lyon & Healy, with which firm Dubbs has been associated since 1891, has prepared a form letter for rejecting them by mail.

The explanation, according to Mr. Dubbs, is that labels of Stradivari or other masters were placed in many old time violins, not to deceive the public, but to show that they were made after the form or outline of a certain recognized master. Persons hunting through old possessions in attics or boxes now come across a violin marked with such a ticket, and are convinced they have the equivalent of a fortune, he said.

"Fortunes" Dwindle to $10.

"These violins are brought in to us in perfect good faith," Dubbs said. "Persons tell us they were in their families for 75, 90 or 100 years. That is no doubt true. But it doesn't mean they're worth more than $10.

"If all the violins attributed to Stradivari [who lived probably from 1644 to 1733 in Cremona, Italy, the great violin making center] were made by him, it would take several locomotives to drag them about. Stradivari made about 1,100 instruments in his lifetime, of which 950 were violins and the remainder cellos and a few violas. A Stradivarius in a viola is the rarest Italian instrument in the world, there being only seven or eight known. There are about 425 Stradivarius violins."

For more than a century violin makers have been making copies of the Stradivarius violins, Dubbs said. Recently a Texas farm woman sold her farm to buy a violin purported by a sharper to be a Stradivarius. She arrived here almost penniless, clutching the violin she thought so valuable, and was told it was worth about $25.

"Not once have I discovered a violin of worth or note among all the thousands brought in to me by confident owners who think they have a find," Dubbs said.

Displays a "Real One."

Mr. Dubbs displayed a real Stradivarius priced at $40,000, which was played by Prof. Leopold Auer for 50 years at the courts of the last three Russian czars.

Next he revealed the rich, more somber quality of a Joseph Guarnerius, a contemporary of Stradivari and native of the same town, Cremona. This violin, made when the erratic genius Guarnerius was at its best, according to Dubbs, in 1737, is also priced at $40,000. Eugene Ysaye and Paganini both preferred to play a Guarnerius, he said.

A rose-red varnished violin made by J. B. Guardagnini in 1750, valued at $18,000, and once owned by Charles Reade, the novelist, and a 1722 Stradivarius, broader in lines, which belonged to Artot, were in the collection.

FAIR BOARD GIVEN OATH; STARTS ON TASK TOMORROW

Hopkins, Not Ickes, Has 'Say' on Federal Grant.

The ten commissioners of the Chicago Exposition authority, meeting for the first time yesterday in Mayor Kelly's office, decided to start financial work tomorrow on the proposed permanent exposition in Burnham park so that construction may begin promptly.

The mayor urged the commissioners to act quickly in formulating a plan of financing to be submitted with a request for federal funds. The work of preparing the grounds for the fair and of building an island for the lake front airport can go ahead without a bond issue, the mayor said, since the necessary money is to be derived from outright federal grant.

Ralph Burke, deputy administrator for Illinois of the Works Progress administration, explained that President Roosevelt had ruled that grants for ground work and landscaping in work relief projects be made by the WPA rather than by the Public Works administration of Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

Hopkins' Attitude Sympathetic.

This news cheered proponents of the permanent fair and of the island airport. The WPA funds are administered by Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrator, who is reported to have lent a friendly ear to Mayor Kelly's work relief program. Mr. Ickes' attitude toward Chicago's requests for federal loans and grants has been regarded as unfriendly.

Plans for both the exposition and the airport must go forward simultaneously, according to federal officials, because a bridge is to connect the exposition grounds on Northerly island with the island air harbor.

Engineers estimate that the fair project will cost $13,000,000 and the airport $8,600,000. They say it will require $8,000,000 to prepare the lake front for the exposition buildings, and $5,500,000 to build the airport island. Thus the PWA grants to Chicago for these two projects would total $13,500,000.

Members of the Authority.

At yesterday's meeting, City Clerk Peter J. Brady swore in the ten commissioners. They chose Walter Gregory temporary chairman and Barney L. Majewski temporary secretary and voted to meet again at noon tomorrow and name permanent officers.

The ten members of the authority are Gregory, Majewski, Charles S. Peterson, Max Epstein, William A. Lewis, Chancellor B. Thornton, William Schlake, Robert S. Abbott, Mrs. Edith Joyce, and Miss Bessie C. O'Neill. Miss O'Neill's appointment is temporary.

Alfred Shaw and John Wentworth, who are working to realize the airport plans, and Col. A. A. Sprague of the Chicago plan commission, attended yesterday's meeting. They and Merrill C. Meigs, head of the city's aero commission, are to be at tomorrow's meeting to aid in drafting fiscal plans.

PERSONALTY TAX VALUATION CUT $137,735,985

Commonwealth Edison Wins $23,000,000 Plea.

Personal property assessment figures for Cook county for 1934, fixed at $808,950,004 by the assessor's office, have been scaled down to $671,214,019 by the board of appeals, Fred W. Brummel and Emmett Whealan, board members, revealed yesterday.

The reduction of $137,735,985 is 17.03 per cent below the total assessed valuation for the county as set by the assessor. The total is made up of objections against the assessor's valuations filed by taxpayers with the board of appeals and allowed by the board.

The assessor's 1934 valuation was higher than the 1933 total of $783,937,239, despite the fact that Assessor John S. Clark ordered a 40 per cent blanket reduction on the valuations shown in the personalty schedules. The final revision by the board of appeals brings the 1934 personalty valuations $112,723,220 below those of 1933.

12,400 Complaints Heard.

The board members announced that they had heard 12,400 complaints on the 1934 assessments. The largest single reduction allowed by the appeals board was one of $23,000,000 for the Commonwealth Edison company. The assessor's valuation for the company's properties throughout the county was $65,000,000. After hearing objections, the board cut the assessment to $42,000,000.

Lyons township showed the largest proportionate reduction—46.56 per cent. The assessor's figure for this township was $5,104,355 and that of the board of appeals was $2,727,388. John E. Battles, in charge of the personal property division of the assessor's office, said the major part of the reduction represented drastic slashing by the appeals board, over the assessor's objection, of the assessed valuation for the Corn Products Refining company.

Other Utilities Fare Well.

In other townships also a large part of the reductions represents objections by utilities and other large corporations to the assessor's valuations.

City townships showing large proportionate reductions, and the percentage by which the assessor's totals were pared, include: North, 20.70; South, 18.74; West, 16.68; Hyde Park, 14.06; and Lake View, 13.84.

Among the larger proportionate cuts in the country townships are those of 34.24 per cent for Bloom township, 22.24 per cent for Maine township, 29.34 per cent for Calumet township outside of Chicago, and 18.07 per cent for Worth township outside of Chicago.

Zenge Says She Doesn't Owe Him Anything.

understanding about their engagement, Mrs. Bauer is said to have told the jurors.

On July 14 at 9 a. m., Mrs. Bauer said, she married Dr. Bauer, a professor of chemistry at the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery. Dr. Bauer left for Ann Arbor almost immediately, and at 6 o'clock that night, Mrs. Bauer said, she informed Zenge that she was married.

From the nature of her answers the prosecutors were reported to believe she does not think Zenge guilty of the mutilation of her husband. Some one else was responsible, according to this interpretation of her attitude.

After Mrs. Bauer left the grand jury room it was anonunced that she has agreed to remain in the custody of the state's attorney pending Zenge's trial. Her brother-in-law, Joseph Bauer of Cleveland, the only other grand jury witness yesterday, established the corpus delicti.

Zenge Talks to Reporters.

After Zenge's arraignment in Felony court and the continuation of the hearing there he was placed in custody of the sherif. While being taken to the sherif's office Zenge submitted to an interview.

Informed that his former sweetheart was waiting to testify before the grand jury, Zenge said: "I don't know what Louise can say, but I'm not worried. My conscience is clear. She doesn't owe me a thing."

Q.—Did you ever resent her affair with Dr. Bauer or threaten him? A.—I never threatened any one in my life.

Q.—Did you feel that you had lost her? A.—Yes, but I didn't resent it. It was natural to have a little ill feeling, but I don't hold anything against her. I only want her to be happy, and that's the way I honestly feel about it.

Louise's Choice; He's Content.

Q.—Do you feel that Dr. Bauer was the better man? A.—There's no doubt that he beat me out. But it was Louise's selection. It was her choice. She was the only judge. I was content to let them go their way.

Q.—How long before her marriage did you notice a change in Louise's affections? A.—I never noticed any particular change.

Q.—Didn't you really feel some change in her affections at all? A.—I still thought I was the No. 1 man when I bought the rings. [Zenge purchased wedding and engagement rings on July 13, the day before Louise became Mrs. Bauer.] I did suspect, though, that something was wrong, but I couldn't think what it was. She was cool, but she never made any explanation.

Q.—How did the news of her marriage affect you? A.—Pretty bad. I wanted to get away from it all. I didn't know what to do, so I came to Chicago. I didn't know whether to go back to my job at Canton or not. I thought I might get a job and stay in Chicago.

Denies Being in Ann Arbor.

Zenge then denied specifically that he had ever been in Ann Arbor or that he was the mysterious "E. L. Jones" who registered at the same Ann Arbor hotel where Dr. Bauer was staying and who is alleged to be the killer. He declined to trace his movements while in Chicago.

During the week-end investigators for the state's attorney plan to visit Kirksville and uncover, if possible, evidence which would throw more light on the love triangle and the motive for the crime.

Letters exchanged between Bauer and his bride, which indicated his suspicion of her friendship with Zenge, are still puzzling the investigators. A report that some of them might have been "poison pen" letters destined to sow discord between the Bauers was discounted.

Mrs. Bauer admitted yesterday the authorship of three letters which were found in her husband's hotel room at Ann Arbor. Letters written to her by him, however, Mrs. Bauer said she burned after attending his funeral in Cleveland last Saturday.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm — By Bob Becker

Beaks and Spurs

Aug. 6, 1935.

SQUABBLES among the farm animals are a bit too common on the Wheaton farm this year, so the boys are thinking about hiring an arbitrator to settle all the disputes in the future. First it was the swans, who were "meaner" than usual this spring, wanting to chase everybody away from the ponds. The Muscovy ducks ganged up on a poor little English call duck when it was put in the same pond with them; the turkeys and the chickens fought over possession of a nest; and now there is trouble between the Egyptian geese and the chickens.

The Egyptian geese were hatched out under a barnyard hen, and the boys thought that they would behave themselves, but evidently the old instinct which has always caused jealousy between chickens and geese has cropped out: The geese have been fighting the spring chickens and causing trouble in general, so it looks as though they will have to be "exiled." They will be taken away from the chickens, at least. The probability is that they will be put on one of the ponds. If they bother any of the birds there they will seal their own doom.

The boys on the Yorkville farm worked in the hay fields yesterday morning until the rain drove them to cover about 10 o'clock. They were in the big plot on the north side of Fox road and on the north side of the river, and had put up three loads of hay before the rain started falling. The boys find that the job of hauling hay from this plot is a long drawn out affair, because it is so far from the field to the barns. They have been taking the hay from this field to the barn behind Clarence's house—a trip of about two and a half miles.

The job of cutting hay becomes more difficult every day, because with each day it grows and becomes heavier, making it just that much harder to cut and store.

The original plans for yesterday's work called for two of the boys to help thresh grain at one of the neighboring farms, but they got out of that job because of the rain. This is the season for "swapping" farm labor. These two workers from the Tribune farm—Andy Shadoan and Doc McMann—were going to help thresh on the neighboring Hill farm. Then when the boys on the Tribune farm started threshing they would get some help from the neighbors.

The boys occupied themselves with cutting burdock yesterday afternoon. These weeds have got a start behind Charley Sleezer's house, so everybody pitched in with sharp spades the other afternoon and got rid of most of them. The stalks of some of these burdock plants are two and three inches at the base, so the job of digging them out was harder than was expected.

The old sows in the hoghouse that have been staging rumpuses around 3 o'clock in the morning on the Yorkville farm won't be able to cause trouble for the farm manager this month because they are going to be moved. Clarence said yesterday that he was going to put them down in the lower hog pasture.

The heavy wind and rainstorm that struck the farm a few days ago made work for the boys. So many branches were knocked off the trees around Louis Thurow's house that he had to put in several hours cleaning up the débris. Fortunately no large trees were blown down and the buildings weren't damaged.

EXPERTS SEE END OF DES PLAINES RIVER POLLUTION

Key Is Federal Funds for Sewer Extension.

After several months of study by a group of engineers, the Chicago Regional Planning association yesterday made public definite recommendations designed to put an end to the avoidable pollution of the Des Plaines river.

A statement outlining the proposals emphasized numerous benefits that would result from carrying out such a program. Mentioned were benefits in the field of public health and public recreation, the statement pointing out that the Cook county forest preserve has frontage on more than sixty miles of the river.

The engineers, who acted as a committee, represented the state division of waterways, the state sanitary water board, the forest preserve, the sanitary district, the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district, and the planning association.

U. S. Money Offers Remedy.

"A few months ago when the committee began its study," read the announcement, "there seemed little hope for a material improvement in the river for many years. Recently, however, the Chicago sanitary district has received assurance from Washington that money may be made available for them to extend to the city of Des Plaines the intercepting sewer which now ends at North avenue.

"Also, a number of municipalities outside the [sanitary] district, upon order of the state sanitary water board, have begun forming plans for treatment works. Municipal officials have shown a willingness to do their share in eliminating pollution.

"The fact that nearly every municipality in the valley has only a single system of sewers—that is, one sewer carries away both sewage and storm water from the streets—is going to prolong the time it will take to properly clean up the river.

Two Solutions Possible.

"The only final solution of the problem lies either in some form of treatment of this overflow or the ultimate construction of separate sewers.

"From now on the miscellaneous sources of pollution, such as institutions, golf clubs, independent homes, and groups of homes, will become more important in the pollution of the stream. It is expected that authorities will bear down more heavily on this class of polluters."

The engineering committee recommended the building of a series of low dams throughout the forest preserves from Riverside north to the county line for the stabilization of water levels and consequent benefits to boating and fishing, pedestrian crossings being a feature of each dam.

MRS. F. M. ALGER QUITS MICHIGAN LIQUOR BOARD

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Resignation today of Mrs. Fred M. Alger of Detroit from the state liquor control commission appeared to have headed off temporarily a showdown on policies between the active commission members and Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald.

Mrs. Alger telegraphed from Bar Harbor, Me., that she would be unable to continue her duties because of the illness of her sister, Mrs. William Moffet. Mrs. Alger thanked the governor for giving her the "opportunity to serve." Fitzgerald replied by telegraph that he was reluctant to accept the resignation as Mrs. Alger had served "faithfully and well."

Mrs. Alger, formerly active in the Woman's National Organization for Prohibition Reform, made no mention of the controversy aroused recently by the governor's demand for a "clean-up' of the liquor trafic in this state.

It had been anticipated the governor might ask the entire commission to resign if it balked at his program for changes in policy. John S. McDonald, chairman, already had stated he would not resign and oppose several of the governor's suggestions. The commissioners, under the law, may be removed only for cause.

POLICE HUNT WAY TO TAKE OVER N. U. "CRIME SCHOOL"

The police department is considering plans for taking over the scientific crime detection laboratory of Northwestern university, Mayor Kelly said yesterday. Police Commissioner James P. Allman has named a committee, headed by Maj. John Bauder, department drillmaster, to investigate the project.

The laboratory, established shortly after the St. Valentine day massacre six years ago, directed by Leonarde Keeler, has given its service free of charge to law enforcement agencies, but it now is facing financial difficulties. The laboratory, situated at 222 East Superior street, needs $50,000 to carry on its work, according to Dean Leon Green, of the university's law school, with which the laboratory is affiliated. The school already has spent $400,000 on the project.

"If the city can find funds for taking over the laboratory and an agreement with the school is reached, I certainly will favor the move," Mayor Kelly said.

Bogota, Colombia, Marks 397th Year of Founding

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 6.—(AP)—This city today celebrated the 397th anniversary of its founding with a solemn mass and procession to the tomb of the Conquistador, Don Gonzalo Jimenez de Quesada. The Spaniard gave the name Bogota to the Indian village he found. He was seeking the fabulous El Dorado where the Indians told him could be found a man of gold.

LOSE FIGHT TO SAVE 8 OUNCE BABY BORN 4 MONTHS TOO SOON

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—An eight ounce baby girl died tonight after an all day struggle by five physicians and two nurses to keep her alive.

The tiny infant, whose birth was premature by four and a half months, was the first child of Patrolman Terrence Borelli, 29, and his wife, Marjorie, 26.

Physicians said the baby was normal in every respect save size. She measured 13 inches in length and had a head circumference of nine inches.

The infant, born at 6:25 a. m., in the Van Wyck hospital at Jamacia, was placed immediately in an incubator. Late in the afternoon she seemed to stop breathing, but after a series of injections and increased applications of oxygen she appeared to rally. At 6:45 p. m., Dr. Lester Samuels pronounced her dead.

WEST POINTERS SEE AIR FORCES SIMULATE WAR

Fort Benning, Ga., Aug. 6.—[(AP)]—Dropping explosive bombs weighing 100 and 300 pounds, the army's huge bombers today simulated an attack on a wagon train and blasted out deep craters in the ground as 44 planes staged a demonstration for the West Point senior class.

The cadets are here for a two weeks' tour of duty witnessing demonstrations of the latest in modern weapons of war.

An attack squadron opened the aerial show with withering blasts of machine gun fire on ground targets. This was followed closely by the dropping of 30 pound fragmentation bombs that made sieves of the targets.

Another attack squadron's dropping of parachute dummy bombs—one of the largest of weapons from the air—was the highlight of the show with the exception of the operations of the big bombers.

A smoke screen was laid across the range of fire for the concealment of troop movements effectively masking everything beyond 100 yards of the stand where sat the West Pointers and other spectators.

Whitewash was dropped to demonstrate a gas attack and the effect it would have on ground troops.

Arline Judge, Actress, Celebrates Her Recovery

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Arline Judge, film actress who in private life is Mrs. Wesley Ruggles, movie director's wife, today celebrated her recovery from scarlet fever by making a ceremony of removing the quarantine sign from the front door. Her infant son was attended by nurses in blockaded wings of the Ruggles home during his mother's 21 day quarantine.

U. S. Vice Consul, 2 Britons Escape Death as Boat Sinks

HONGKONG, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Merrit Coots, American vice consul, and two British companions returned here today after an escape from drowning. They were plunged into the sea yesterday when a sudden squall sank their yacht Ninepins. For two hours they clung to an inflated rubber mattress until they drifted to safety on an island. Fishermen brought them back to Hongkong.

ON W-G-N TONIGHT AT 8 O'CLOCK

CALL SUPERIOR 0100—"VOICE BALLOTS"

Tune in W-G-N tonight from 8 to 9 o'clock to hear the finals of the Golden Voice Want Ad-Viser competition, conducted to select three new members of the Tribune telephone ad-taking staf.

Listeners will be invited to telephone in their votes for the voices they like best to help the judges decide the winners.

STORY OF THE COMPETITION

On July 18 the Tribune invited young women under 30 years of age to enter their names in competition for $300 in cash prizes and three positions as full-time members of the telephone ad-taking staf of the Tribune want ad department.

More than 800 entries were received. All entries were given careful consideration and approximately 50 girls were selected by the judges for preliminary tryouts and voice tests. From the fifty the judges nominated fifteen for the final competition.

Tonight's competition will determine the winners of the three positions as members of the most famous want ad staf in the world. The judges, assisted by the ballots of the radio audience, will select the three winners. Each of the remaining twelve contestants will receive $25.00 in cash.

Tune in tonight at 8 o'clock. Listen carefully to the voices. Remember that these girls are not trying out for radio work but for jobs as telephone want ad-visers. Each girl will be identified by a fictitious name so that the balloting may be conducted in fairness to all. Read the text under the accompanying picture of the Tribune telephone ad-taking room so that you will be better equipped to cast a really helpful ballot.

Chicago listeners will be invited to cast ballots by telephone tonight during the program. The phoned ballots will be announced from time to time by Quin Ryan, who will conduct the competition. Out-of-town listeners will be invited to ballot by postcard, addressed to "Voice Ballots," Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All ballots must be received before 6 p. m. on Friday, August 9.

The result of the voting and the judges' decisions will be announced as soon as possible in the Chicago Tribune and over W-G-N.

TONIGHT'S WINNERS WILL WORK IN THIS TRIBUNE AD-TAKING ROOM

As members of a busy staf, each of which in an average week has telephone conversations with from 250 to 300 persons, tonight's winners must have telephone voices which are easily understood and pleasant to hear.

These girls, moreover, must have charm and personality. They must be tactful and intelligent. They must grasp facts quickly and be equally quick to understand another's point of view. They must know the value of time—to themselves and to others.

Because of the variety of goods and services advertised in the Tribune, each want ad-viser must be alert, versatile, courteous, and patient. She must get names, addresses, and numbers accurately the first time she hears them.

Tonight's winners will receive extensive training under the guidance of skilled supervisors. Upon completion of this course of training each of these new members of the staf will be given her own desk in a glass enclosed booth connected by special equipment with a switchboard having many trunk lines.

The room in which they will work is located on the tenth floor of Tribune Tower. Air-conditioned and soundproof, it is famed throughout America as a model of its kind. It is specially constructed to provide pleasant, healthful surroundings for the young women who solicit and receive Tribune want ads.

SALVAGE VESSEL NARROWS SEARCH FOR LUSITANIA

Skipper Certain He's Near Wrecked Liner.

BY GILBERT M'ALLISTER.
[Special Correspondent.]

ABOARD SALVAGE SHIP ORPHIR, Aug. 6.—Additional evidence came to light today to convince Capt. Henry D. Russell that the Orphir must be passing daily within a few yards of the sunken hulk of the torpedoed S. S. Lusitania, missing our prize by the nearest hairbreadth as we patiently chart the treacherous ocean floor.

Early this morning Capt. Russell directed the Orphir into Old Head of Kinsale to interview L. McCarthy, a coast guardsman who witnessed the disaster that shook the world on May 7, 1915.

Took Bearings on Liner.

On that fateful day, from an old fort in a lower cove of Kinsale harbor, McCarthy watched the giant liner spew its human cargo and shiver in its death agony as it plunged into the salt depths. He was able to take accurate bearings on the Lusitania's position during the eighteen minutes that elapsed between the impact of the German torpedo and the final doom of the stricken liner.

With the aid of McCarthy's testimony, the Orphir's search has been narrowed down to a speck of ocean nine cables square—1,800 yards in landsman's language—in the northeastern corner of the area that has been under survey for the past ten days. The Orphir's crew today planted a buoy in the center of this new local point and began combing the ocean bottom about it in parallel courses 100 yards apart.

So tricky is the work and so immense the seascape to be covered that we may pass unawares within an arm's length of the water above the treasure and mystery laden wreck that beckons us onward. Only when the searching vibration of our echo sounder travels directly over the hulk will we have any means of detecting it.

Confident It's Right Spot.

The yard by yard survey of this square of ocean probably will take several days, provided rough seas do not again send us running for cover and sweep away our buoys.

So certain is Capt. Russell that the Orphir is now on the right track that he is ready to concentrate an even greater expenditure on the effort in the tiny area we are now investigating.

"Unless we meet success in a day or two," he said, "I shall have two additional sounding machines fitted out. One will be carried in the ship's launch and the other in a lifeboat. Thus, while the Orphir cruises along on certain bearings, we shall be able to survey two other courses at the same time and complete our search with the maximum rapidity."

Teacher Ordered Seized Over Support of Father

Judge Win G. Knoch of Du Page county, sitting in the County court here, yesterday issued a writ of attachment for the arrest of William Mulderick Jr., 47 years old, 6504 North Washtenaw avenue, plumbing instructor at the Lane Technical High school. Mulderick failed to appear in answer to the charge that he has fallen $885 behind in the $5 a week payments he was ordered in 1929 to make toward the support of his father, now 81 years old. The court was informed that Mulderick's salary is $300 a month and his wife's $250.

Amelia Tells Ideas on Aviation

Testifies Against I.C.C. Control.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The New Deal scheme to put the air lines, along with all other forms of transportation, under the interstate commerce commission was opposed today by Amelia Earhart Putnam, America's foremost woman flyer, who testified before a senate interstate commerce subcommittee.

Miss Earhart said the air lines ought to be left alone for a few years and permitted to develop "hit or miss." She was testifying on the McCarran bill to place aircraft operations under the ICC, as proposed by Rail Coordinator Joseph B. Eastman.

Favors Plan "Ultimately."

The famous flyer, coolly dressed in a brown ensemble with white polka dots, said she favored ultimate coördination of all transportation under a transportation department, with a cabinet officer at its head, but believed the air lines should not be molested for several years.

"The railroads had fifty years in which to sow their wild oats," she declared. "We don't know the possibilities of aircraft. We don't even know what an airplane will look like in a few years. We have no idea what the costs of operation will be."

Miss Earhart objected to the proposal of basing rates on the costs of operation, saying it would penalize efficient operators. She expressed the belief that it would be better to base the rates on the value of service delivered.

Senator Pat McCarran [Dem., Nev.], author of the bill, said he was interested in Miss Earhart's recommendations because "we want to minimize the sacrifices involved."

Urges Revision of Law.

The senate today adopted a conference report revising the air mail act of 1934 after Senator Warren R. Austin [Rep., Vt.] had assailed the administrations policies, particularly the cancelation of the former mail contracts.

Senator Austin said the new legislation was designed to "save the face of the postoffice department," and criticized virtually all of its features. He objected particularly to the proposed limitation of $17,500 on salaries of air line executives.

"Maybe some future administration will put a stop to this condemnation of our citizens without trial," he said.

The conference report provides for the awarding of air mail contracts for three year periods instead of one year, as provided in the 1934 act, and authorizes route extensions up to 250 miles.

HERBERT HOOVER JR. TESTIFIES IN CHILD PARENTAGE ACTION

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Herbert Hoover Jr. was a witness in the child parentage case of his friend Royal Leonard, air line pilot, today while Leonard was defending himself of charges that he was father of the 7 month old daughter of Florence Suddarth, secretary to an air line president.

Young Hoover testified Leonard went home with him from a Kansas City skating rink one night in March, 1934, which was a night mentioned by Miss Suddarth as an occasion when Leonard visited her.

Although Miss Suddarth did not contradict young Hoover's testimony that Leonard was with him when she had testified he was with her, Judge Fletcher Bowron decided Leonard was the father of the child and said: "Somebody lied in this court; perjury has been committed."

Leonard denied the young woman's charges. She sued for $150 monthly support money. The verdict held Leonard was her child's father.

REDS BLAMED FOR HOUSEWIVES' MEAT BOYCOTT

Detroit Police Head Asks Investigation.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Charges that communist agitators have inspired Detroit's striking housewives to carry on their boycott of butcher shops were made here today by the meat dealers.

An investigation of the Red charge was ordered by Police Commissioner Pickert after representatives of Chicago packers, who came here to aid local dealers, also had expressed the opinion that the strike was due to communistic influence.

Pamphlet Brings Charge.

The communist charge first was leveled at the striking housewives when literature outlining a "plan of action" appeared mysteriously in headquarters of the women's action committee in the International Workers' hall. The charge was denied by Mrs. Mary Zuk, leader of the strike, who ordered the pamphlets destroyed.

In the meantime the Women's League Against the High Cost of Living went forward with plans to unify the scattered groups of strikers while the dealers' committee of eleven sought means to end the boycott.

Meat Sales Are Few.

Emil Schwartz, director of the National Retail Meat Dealers' association, said 75 per cent of the butcher shops in the suburb of Hamtramck and some of the other strike centers in the city were closed for the duration of the boycott. There was no picketing today, but sales in the affected areas were few.

Chester Davis, agricultural adjustment administrator, denied the assertion of some Detroit packers that AAA processing taxes largely are responsible for existing meat prices.

2 Dead, 15 Hurt as Flood Hits Quake Ravaged City

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and 15 injured last night by a flood in the city of Ocotepeque. A few months ago, Ocotepeque was partially destroyed by an earthquake. Its citizens are rebuilding. Official reports to the capital today said the Marchal: river had flooded the southern section of the old city, wrecking much of the work of the builders.

7 OF DEMOCRATS THREATEN LIFE OF GUFFEY BILL

May Join G. O. P. 7 in House Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Sixteen perspiring Democrats, majority members of the house ways and means committee, wrangled for three hours today in a futile attempt to reach an agreement on the Guffey coal bill, last of President Roosevelt's "must" measures.

They voted 9 to 7 to make a favorable report on the bill. That measure sets up a miniature NRA for the soft coal industry. But the seven recalcitrants threatened to join with the Republican minority on the committee to kill the bill.

Balk at Unit Rule.

The minority refused to agree to the "unit rule," which would have bound all sixteen to abide by the majority vote. Inasmuch as only one of the eight Republicans on the committee is in favor of the bill, the committee as a whole now stands 14 to 10 against the measure, with one member not voting.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton [Dem., N. C.] shook his head doubtfully when asked when the committee would be called together again. There still is possible the extraordinary procedure of reporting the bill to the house, without recommendation. Doughton, however, is reported to be reluctant to follow such a course that would be interpreted as a slap at the President.

President Asks Action.

A report on the measure was strongly urged by the President in his letter. Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope that any doubts of its constitutionality, "however reasonable," would not hamper action. Failure to obtain such a favorable report would be considered one of the most serious rebuffs given the White House at this session.

One Democratic committeeman predicted privately the Guffey bill will never be reported out.

While the bill has been in committee the President has obtained the postponement of a threatened strike in the bituminous coal industry by asking union leaders to give congress more time to consider the Guffey bill.

Park Board Halts Racket in Auto Parking Fees

Acting on complaints that "attendants" were charging fees for the use of free parking space in the Chicago park district, Otto Jelinek, chief traffic engineer for the district, caused the erection of signs informing the public that the space is available without cost. The signs were posted in the parking spaces for Soldiers' field, where a circus is in progress, for the Field museum, and for the Montrose bathing beach.

MAJ. GEN. M'COY AT GUARD CAMP TO LOOK OVER ILLINOIS TROOPS

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. Frank McCoy, commanding officer of the 6th corps area, arrived at Camp Grant today to watch the Illinois National Guard, now in training at the camp.

Troops, concealed from sight behind rows of trees, swept onto the field as an attacking force. Officers standing on an elevation at the edge of Bell Bowl ordered the defending troops and guns about over a mile long sector.

Airplanes, radio, telephones and runners all were employed in the communications system.

Maj. Gen. McCoy made a tour of the camp immediately following his arrival late this morning. He will return to headquarters at Chicago tomorrow.

Officers of the 65th and 66th brigades will be pitted against each other in war games in Garrity's Woods tomorrow. The battle will be concerned largely with map and signal problems.

Night maneuvers are planned for the 131st, 132d and 133d regiments of the 66th brigade Friday.

RUBBER STAMPS.

A rubber stamp house of representatives in Washington has passed the soak-the-rich tax bill. The vote was 282 to 96. The humiliation of the house was complete. It did not desire to enact a tax bill and if it had wanted to enact one there is no reason to think it would have favored the kind of bill which, robot-like, it voted for.

The gentlemen in the house wear pants, but so do the lay figures in a clothing store window. Mr. Roosevelt uses congressmen. He commanded the enactment of a soak-the-rich bill because the heat which Huey Long was applying to him was more than he could bear. Mr. Roosevelt thinks that Huey's heat has now been turned off.

The bill is a bad one because it is fraudulent. The revenue which it will raise will be negligible in comparison with the expenditure which it is intended to meet. It will produce scarcely 7 per cent of this year's deficit, if that much. The bill is vicious in that it will disrupt productive enterprises and force continual liquidation. There is no popular demand for the bill from the country, as is evidenced by the fact that Mr. Roosevelt's proposals have found little support in responsible and independent agencies of public opinion.

It is Mr. Roosevelt's shame that he permitted his pique at the voiding of NRA to lead him to an act of vengeance upon those whom he regards, wrongly, as the cause of his humiliation. It is the nation's misfortune that his judgment was further upset by his fear of the political consequences of Huey Long's demagogics.

The members of the house do not have to be told that the passions of revenge and fear are a poor guide to fiscal policy. Nevertheless the majority lacked the courage to stand up and fight. They submitted. They were rubber stamps. They voted as they were told to vote.

It remains to be seen if the senate will show itself equally servile.

KEEPING THE RECORD STRAIGHT.

Judge David's recent wrath upon being asked to annul a Waukegan gin marriage is understandable. We should not see so many annulment petitions, however, if the parties understood the import of their action.

Marriage, so far as it comes under the power of our courts, is a civil contract. The validity of that contract depends upon the competence of the principals at the time it was executed. Obviously, a drunken person is no more competent to enter a marriage than he or she would be to deed away real estate or execute a will, and in the eyes of the law such a contract is void.

What the petitioners do not seem to recognize is that annulment, unlike divorce, does not terminate the marriage relation at the time of the entry of the decree. It holds that the relation never existed.

By their annulment proceeding the parties to a gin marriage confess in open court that their acts had no more sanction in law than if they had not troubled to appear before a justice of the peace.

THE STAF PHOTOG PRACTICES HIS ART.

The newspaper photographer has a mixed job, part of it getting away from people who want their pictures taken and part of it getting people who do not want them taken. He is seldom regarded as a friend of man. The less he is wanted around the more he must be there. If a reporter gets most of a story he may do quite well. There's seldom such a thing as part of a picture. The photographer may seem to have the exterior of a hard egg, but at heart he is a sentimentalist. He loves flowers and believes in the good, the true, and the beautiful. For evidence, observe his work.

The young Missouri farmer and carpenter is shown reunited with his dad. The young farmer is held by the police, who strongly suspect, upon discovered evidence, that he may have murdered a rival. As the photographer sees the jail reunion all is in simple faith and genial family feeling. The father may be telling the son an amusing incident of village life back home or asking how he is getting along in the big city.

When the photographer has practiced his art upon the two lady murderers who accomplished the killing and dismemberment of a young man, the lady who used the knife and saw appears as a dean of women, and the other lady, in some mental anguish, as bereaved of some one dear to her, possibly a son-in-law.

To the newspaper photographer, inconsiderate as his profession may seem to make him, a person although down is never out. Some good shines through. The spark of nobility remains. The mantle of charity drops from the camera. The merciful spirit becomes contagious. The reporters get it. Red-handed ladies become Evelyn, Blanche, Lily, or grandma—grandma, memories of the vine clad cottage and the patient knitting figure by the window.

If not forever memorable, at least long remembered, will be the picture of Dillinger's reception in the Crown Point jail when the photographers posed public enemy No. 1 and the public prosecutor in an affectionate embrace. John had come home, but not to stay long, just dropping in to inquire of friends and acquaintances.

The photographer cannot keep sweetness and light out of his world. They break through the darkest deed, and society, observing what pleasant people all his characters are if you get to know them well, cannot harbor resentment. All is good in the best of worlds. What ho, the lark!

THE MASSACRE.

Brookfield, La Grange, Park Ridge, and Dixon are numbered among the towns and cities of Illinois that in the census records of 1930 were shown as having attained a population of ten thousand persons. Most Chicagoans have visited these pleasant communities and know them as centers of considerable activity. Now if the newspapers should some day announce that the population of any one of them had been removed to a cemetery, or a hospital within a period of seven months we would stand aghast. The subject would be discussed with a feeling of horror for generations. Yet Chicago's streets have witnessed just such a catastrophe since January 1. The clock recording automobile casualties has just passed the ten thousand mark.

Rarely can a motorist complete a Sunday afternoon excursion without witnessing the destructive results of careless or thoughtless driving. It is a prominent subject for discussion at any gathering second only perhaps to the depression—and politics. Apparently each motorist considers his driving above reproach, however, because the hands of our death clock continue to move forward at an unabated and even accelerated speed. Cautious driving is invariably urged, but the admonitions are forgotten in the exhilaration of fast movement when the road "seems" to be clear.

We have before remarked that automobile casualties are commencing to equal the records of famous battles. The total to date now approaches the killed and wounded lists of such bloody encounters as Antietam with its eleven thousand six hundred and fifty-seven, Chancellorsville with its eleven thousand one hundred and sixteen, Chickamauga with eleven thousand four hundred and thirteen Union soldiers left on the field. Will not the awfulness of ten thousand deaths or injuries stay the mania for reckless driving? Can we not be impressed with the daily toll of two dead and forty-four injured?

When the public conscience has been aroused, opinion will turn in condemnation upon public officials who might have stopped the slaughter and who did not.

UNCLE SAM AS A HERMIT.

While Japan and Italy are following the traditional courses of imperialistic extension the United States is in reverse. It is receding. It seems, temporarily at least, to have no "sphere of influence." It has pulled in its marines, dropped pretense of authority in Cuba, and abandoned the Philippines, retiring into itself. It strengthens its navy, discusses new outpost fortifications, forbids foreign loans, tries to avoid an exportable surplus in agriculture, and generally appears as an illustration of a nation turning hermit.

To these evidences of purpose must be added others. There is a pressure for statutes which will operate as automatic embargoes if other nations go to war, as from time to time seems inevitable. The embargoes would be pre-known. Nations would know in advance of their own military enterprises that arms, munitions, loans, and credits were not available in the United States, which furthermore would limit the travel of American citizens in war zones.

These proposals may not prevail in congress, although credits and loans are pretty well covered for the time being by the Johnson law. In all the developments there are many diverse trends. They do not represent a general determination. Of that we may be reasonably certain. One thing explains this and another that. But, like pieces of a picture puzzle, they fit together.

If nations had instincts instead of statesmen, so-called, who at the best have only human vision, it might be said that the United States sniffed something in the air that it could not see. It had the wind of something and was warned. If so, the instincts are working through the medium of clumsy politicians and seekers of this, that, and the other thing.

There is a lot in the wind, to be sure. There are Italy and Japan at the old work of using compressed and exploited populations as the excuse for conquest and expansion, more history of materialistic determination. European intrigue shifts its position, the nations ostensibly trying to prevent the start of the dangerous race for new lands, resources, and markets, but each actually trying not to be left at the post.

What will be made of it all in retrospect we can only guess, and badly, at that.

Editorial of the Day

[Illinois State Journal.]

Park-o-meters, which may be the solution of parking problems in downtown sections of cities, are causing a major controversy in Oklahoma City, Okla., where nearly 200 of them have been installed.

The machines, which look like hitching posts, stand on the curb opposite parking spaces. The motorist inserts a nickel, turns a handle, and a green flag flies up. A clock in the park-o-meter keeps track of the time—fifteen minutes, thirty minutes, or an hour, as the case may be—and at the end of the period the flag drops down. Thus traffic officers are enabled to keep tab on parked cars and the city collects some revenue.

Advocates of the new plan say it keeps shoppers hustling and discourages people from parking overtime. Opponents term the devices "damn foolish contraptions" and plan to fight them in the courts. Salesmen, who have to make many calls, are particularly bitter about being charged five cents for every stop.

The plan seems admirable in that it enforces parking limitations and enables more people to find space for parking in a business section. No estimates on revenue are yet available, but if the nickels will pay the salaries of traffic officers they will remove a burden from the entire body of taxpayers and place it on those who use the streets.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

A LADY WHO SCRUBS BY THE DAY.

I've just been musing—how strange it seems
That when daily wending my way,
The cheeriest soul I encounter

"Hello," she'll call from across the street.
"Isn't it nice today?"—
This if the sun be shining
Or if the skies are gray.

Others I meet have a tale of woe—
It's either too cool or too hot,
Or business is poor, their health isn't good,
Or they're tired, or bored, or whatnot.

God's in his heaven for her;
She'll ask how is this one and how is that
With never a dig nor a slur.

I meet her at evening, she's probably slaved
All day long on her knees,
But never a word about work or toil
Or an ache, or a pain, or a wheeze.

Instead, she'll ask if I've heard any word
About how Mis' Meade is today,
Or she'll ask me to look at a wisp of a flower
She's gathered along the way.

She is quite an object lesson to me,
You may believe me sincere when I say
That I've learned a lot about courage

TOO MUCH RELIEF.

HTW: The trouble with this fellow Frank De Roo is that he doesn't know when to stop. He reminds me of myself. Yessir, I almost killed a fellow once with too much relief. The poor gink was out cold—unconscious to you. Not knowing what else to do, I gave him a slug from a bottle of bourbon. It did the trick all right. His eyelids and tonsils started to flutter and his chest to heave. Encouraged, I poured the rest of the quart into his protesting hatch. Later, the doc said if I'd let him alone after the first slug he'd have been okay, but as it was I dam near killed him. C. J. N.

MR. JOE LOUIS, BORN JOE LOUIS BARROW, and Mr. Kingfish Levinsky, born Harry Krakow, will engage in ten rounds or less of fisticuffs at Comiskey park tonight. Forty thousand persons are expected to pay $200,000 of real, not reel, money to see the affair.

For those readers of this space not accustomed to perusing the sports pages, the Wake-Line may inform that Louis, a young colored boy of 21 years, is a glamorous figure in Fistiana. Slightly more than a year ago he was a Golden Gloves amateur champion. On July 4, 1934, he received $50 for his first professional appearance. Tonight his 30 per cent share of the net receipts is expected to notch $50,000. This meteoric rise is a story to fire the imagination not only of boys of his own race but of all boys.

So far impeccable in personal conduct and behavior, Louis has been instilled by his managerial entourage with the idea that he is Destiny's child, destined to become heavyweight champion. That idea is not so far-fetched. It is shared by most boxing experts. Louis, the first prominent Negro boxer whose managerial affairs are handled by men of his own race, is almost an idol among colored people, respected by whites for prowess in the field he has chosen.

Naturally Louis is picked in advance as tonight's victor. This bout is the precursor of others to follow, with Louis against Baer, Schmeling, or Braddock. If Louis were not expected to win it would not have been offered. That does not imply that Levinsky will not be trying. Trying is the best thing he does. Long shots often win in horse races. Levinsky could be a long shot.

WRITER'S CRAMP.

THERE are certain occupations that require the constant repetition of similar muscular movements which may, through overuse and hence fatigue, bring about a loss of control and hence an inability to perform the movement in question. Accompanying this condition may be pain, tremor, weakness, or cramps. The disease goes under numerous names, such as writer's palsy or cramp, piano player's cramp, seamstress' cramp, telegrapher's cramp, typist's cramp, etc.

The symptoms are likely to develop during or following periods of physical or mental strain and appear to be the result of the too steady use of a particular set of muscles of the hand, the wrist, or the forearm. A number of curious anomalies sometimes manifest themselves. For example, one author reports a case in which a stenographer could write shorthand readily, but could not write longhand. Another could write shorthand, but lost the power to type, that is, spasms and contractures would occur after typing had been in progress for a short time.

The onset of the condition is characterized by discomfort. This sensation, which is ordinarily disregarded, is followed by a dull ache, numbness, weakness, or actual cramps. After rest and massage of the parts work may be resumed, although loss of function will in all probability again ensue within a short time. If additional rest is taken the succeeding work period may be even shorter than before. This finally leads to total disability and demands a complete rest or a change of occupation. As a rule the patient is free from pain during rest, but pains, cramps, etc., develop as soon as writing, typing, sewing, etc., are attempted.

Numerous devices have been tried in an attempt to modify the condition. Among these are the use of a heavy, thick pen, or holding the pen between the second and third fingers instead of the regular position. Sometimes individuals who have exhibited the symptom in the right hand learn to write with the left. Telegraphers in former days, when sending was all done with the Morse key, might have a spasm come on either in the act of using the key or in writing, or in both. This same situation occurred in seamstresses, whether they were using the needle or the scissors or were engaged in other types of activity, such as drawing threads.

Sometimes neuritis and rheumatic pain are mistaken for writer's cramp, but in these the symptoms are persistent and are not brought on by a special maneuver or relieved when it ceases.

Because of the nervous element rest or a change of occupation is imperative. The hands and forearms may be used for almost any other type of work not requiring the constant repetition of similar movements. Exercises wherein the movements are varied, to strengthen the muscles of the forearms, hands, and fingers, are advised. Massage and the immersion of the parts in hot water for relatively long periods have been recommended.

It is believed by some authorities that the condition is strictly a neurosis of a fatigue character. Others contend that the symptoms are closely associated with hysteria; that subjectively the patient dislikes his or her occupation, and that while the symptoms are real their origin lies not in physical causes but manifest themselves as the result of auto or self suggestion. In such instances psychotherapy and physiotherapy appear to offer the best hope for improvement, although it is possible that some day we will learn that the difficulty is due to some affection of the coördinating centers of the brain.

Many of these patients do exceedingly well under encouragement. The symptoms must be accepted in good faith by an understanding physician, who will not ridicule or doubt the existence of the neurosis. At best the outlook is poor for the resumption of the particular occupation with which the original symptoms are associated.

INSOMNIA.

H. F. C. writes: You struck the right chord when you said in your article on sleeplessness that the main thing which keeps one awake is worrying about his probable inability to sleep "tonight." I have been bothered with this malady all my life, perhaps due to a chronic nervous trouble, and have tried all the things one hears about, both from laymen and doctors. All failed to produce sleep. I even made a roofless room where I counted stars.

In desperation—a desperation that entertained thoughts of suicide as the only relief—I once lay in bed facing my book shelves, looking at [without really seeing] the many books I was supposed to have read years ago but which were still unread. Suddenly I got an idea! On going to bed, instead of worrying about my inability to sleep, I would work myself into the attitude of "How much can I read in bed tonight, and thus catch up with my back reading?" I tried it, and from that night on my worry has been that I might fall asleep too soon, and get behind in my reading.

It was well said by a humorous philosopher that the best way to go to sleep is to try to stay awake. I have fallen asleep with this method right after having taken as many as three cups of coffee.

You have mastered the principles of applied psychology and have "whipped the devil around the stump." I hope others will follow your example. If a good library is not at hand a boom in the book trade may follow.

MUSCLE ATROPHY.

Mrs. E. K. writes: My 6 year old grandson has muscle atrophy. He uses his right foot forward all the time in going upstairs and in getting up off the floor. He is strong and well developed, but of course does not run as fast as other boys. Is there anything we can do to help him ward off serious effects in later years?

REPLY.

It all depends on the nature of the trouble. If it is myasthenia gravis the use of large quantities of gelatine plus glycocoll will help. Let him exercise freely and use massage and heat on the atrophied muscles each day.

FACTS NOT CLEAR.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Estate was left to four daughters. One daughter died leaving children. 2. No will was made. This transpired in Wisconsin. Does her share go to her children or her husband? Can they demand their share and when? Can their father be administrator, as they are all of age? Must he put up bonds? Can father compel property sale? L. L.

As we understand it, the "estate" belonged to one of the parents. Presumably you mean that that parent died. You also state that one daughter died. You do not state which died first. If the daughter died first, a gift to her by will [you still do not tell us whether the parent left a will] might lapse, depending on the wording of the will. If the parent died first, then the share of the daughter would descend, on the daughter's death, to the daughter's heirs. You do not state facts for us to determine what law controls. Real estate is controled by the law of the state in which it is situated. Personal property by the law of the state in which the deceased resided at the time of death. In view of your obvious difficulty in making the facts clear, we advise you to have a personal interview with an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ILLEGAL ENTRY.

Chicago, Aug 2.—[Friend of the People.]—I was an English sailor. I came to New York in 1906. I left my ship and came to Chicago and married an American born citizen. I would like to become a citizen. Will you please advise me how to go about it? J. D.

It is presumed that the inquirer was not legally admitted to the United States in 1906. If he arrived on or before June 29, 1906, he may apply for citizenship papers providing he is able to submit documentary proof of the fact that he resided in the United States on or before the above mentioned date. If he arrived after the date stated he may apply for a certificate of registry, and if and when the same has been granted to him he may take steps toward citizenship. FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,

PROBATE PROCEEDINGS.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died about six months ago leaving property valued at about $3,500. A will was left leaving the bulk of the property to my brother, but the will stipulated that debts were to be paid. A creditor has forced probate, and as my mother also holds a mortgage on the property, I am interested. 1. What are costs for such probate? 2. Who pays it? 3. In the event the property is to be sold for debts, does the person holding a mortgage, as my mother, have preference in the purchase? 4. Do you think it really necessary to hire a lawyer in filing our claim, and to handle other matters? J. R. M.

1. The Illinois statute fixes the administrator's fee at not over 6 per cent of the personal property. We cannot make an accurate estimate of all of the costs.

2. The costs would be paid out of the assets of the estate.

3. Her mortgage would be protected. It seems probable that the property would be sold subject to the mortgage.

4. If you reside here, it probably would be to your interest to employ an attorney to see if it is now too late to keep the case out of the hands of the public administrator. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

There is no connection between roses and the common "rose fevers" or "rose colds," which appear in the spring, says Dr. Samuel M. Feinberg in his treatise, "Asthma, Hay Fever, and Related Disorders." Dr. Feinberg asserts that the real cause of rose colds is the pollen from various grasses which bloom about the same time of the year that roses appear. Some persons are sensitive to one pollen, while others are not, but are sensitive to other poliens. There are even foods which affect susceptible people in a similar way.

ENEMIES OF RECOVERY.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 4.—It is becoming increasingly apparent that what progress business has made in overcoming the depression has been in spite of rather than because of the New Dealers.

When the NRA was thrown overboard and the Supreme court threw most of the fantastic New Deal laws into the waste basket we saw an almost immediate spurt in the stock market and in business generally. This would indicate that hard times can be overcome only by natural methods and hard work.

Congress should adjourn at once and its members go home and stay there while the entire Roosevelt family takes a vacation on the Thousand Islands—spending a week on each of the islands. Then business and industry could move steadily forward. PETER DE FOE.

TEACHERS' PENSIONS.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Now that the Chicago teachers' pension has been well taken care of, let us turn our attention to the teachers' pension and retirement fund outside the city of Chicago. As Illinois ranks the second state in wealth in the Union it can well afford to raise the meager sum of $400 a year to $600 or more. These teachers must pay for the necessities of livelihood. When rent and scanty food are paid for what can one save from it for the remaining necessities, leaving out recreation and pleasures? Many teachers taught for years before salaries were raised to a respectable living wage, some starting on $15 a month. An increase in pension would be regarded as deferred salary for faithful service. RETIRED TEACHER.

CIRCUS PRICES.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—I attended the circus last night. I found the cheapest seats were 85 cents, but after gaining entrance it would cost me an additional 85 cents for a decent seat. If you don't care to spend the additional money you sit in the horseshoe, where you can't see all the show. Here you have a narrow board without a back and you risk your neck getting to it.

After the circus you are told that for an additional 25 cents you can stay and see the wild west show. The shows are also separate—for another 25 cents. If you are not satisfied with what you get you may leave, but there are no refunds. R. P.

PURSE SNATCHERS.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Last Sunday evening at dusk I had my purse snatched from me by two boys about 16 or 17 years of age at Southport avenue and Clark street.

I have heard since these boys have been making a practice of stealing from stores and snatching purses from women. They pretend to be playing tag and suddenly snatch the purse from under the arm of their victim and dash up an alley.

I want to warn other women in this locality about this to save them the loss and shock I suffered. G. A. H.

SOCIALLY DESIRABLE BOONDOGGLING.

Glencoe, Ill., Aug. 2.—The closing sentence of your recent editorial entitled "Wisconsin Leads—In Taxes," in referring to the expenditures of the present federal administration, states: "As the billions must be raised and as they can't come from the rich they must be wrung from those who are not rich. The bill for the New Deal is going to be dropped into their lap. They and their children will have to pay it in the form of a lowered standard of living, inadequate education, and lessened security in old age."

Do you not lose sight of the fact that present expenditures in terms of dollars do not necessarily increase society's bill to be paid? When people are withdrawn from socially useful employment and placed in either idleness or employment that is socially valueless or undesirable (such as war), a "bill" for society to pay arises. But when those who would otherwise be unemployed or who are employed in socially undesirable forms of employment are then employed by the federal government to increase the nation's socially desirable capital it is difficult to understand how society's burden is increased thereby.

Even the payment of a pure dole, when properly administered, would not in itself increase society's burden; the burden would already exist and would have to be borne by society in one form or another, whether or not the dole were paid. To bring an economic maladjustment out into the open and deal with it in a unified way does not increase the burden. F. L. HOTZ.

SALES TAX COMPLAINT.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—When the 3 per cent tax was inaugurated I thought the tax would be 3 cents on the dollar. I find it is over 6 cents on the dollar. It certainly is disgusting to pay out a tax of 1 cent on a 15 cent article, and it is more disgusting to go into a big store and on each purchase pay a tax. Why don't they do things on the level and on every 33 cent purchase tax the people? I know some stores are making a fortune out of this graft. If the people at Springfield would hear some of the remarks against this unfair law they would do something about it. MRS. M. E. B.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS

ETHIOPIA VOWS NOT TO MUTILATE ITALIAN TROOPS

Red Cross Inaugurated by Emperor.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethopia, Aug. 6.—Under a big tent upon which the rain spattered ceaselessly, Emperor Haile Selassie today officially inaugurated the Ethopian Red Cross, in which American and other foreign doctors intend to serve in event Italy makes war upon the country.

Will Not Mutilate Foes.

Besides being picturesque, the ceremonies were significant. Without the Red Cross, Ethopia's wounded would be almost certain to die, as the number of competent Ethopian doctors and nurses is small, while foreign doctors would be without adequate protection at the front. By inaugurating the Red Cross, Emperor Haile Selassie has virtually pledged that his warriors will not mutilate their Italian foes. In the past the Ethopians have traditionally mutilated captured enemies.

Except for the parliament building, no building in Addis Ababa was suitable for the inauguration ceremony, so it was held in a garden. Straw was strewn a foot deep over the wet grass and carpets were laid down under the tent.

Like every one else, the emperor trod on the freshly mown grass so as to avoid falling on the mud and slippery steps. His two little dogs yapped at his feet as he read his speech.

Creates an Embarrassment.

The foundation of the Red Cross has caused an embarrassing difficulty for keepers of the tiny holes in the wall where barley beer and honey wine are sold, and where street girls gather. For years such houses have been marked by a red cross on the door.

If permitted to remain, they might have caused annoying confusion. At a word from the emperor the saloonkeepers got busy with soap and water and scrubbed off the distinguishing brand and hardly one is left in Addis Ababa. A new sign will have to be found, as it is hard to tell a saloon from an ordinary house in many of the meaner parts of the town.

Prince Threatens Revolt.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A dispatch to Le Matin from Asmara, Eritrea, today reported a threatened revolt against Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia by his son, Asfao Tafari, governor of Wollo province.

Ethiopian caravan drivers were quoted as saying Prince Asfao was angry because his younger brother, Makonnen, was appointed governor of Harrar province, making him next in importance to the emperor. Asfao also was reported opposed to the imprisonment of former Emperor Lidj Jassou.

The threatened revolt was said to be the reason the emperor is keeping his imperial guards, best trained among his troops, at Addis Ababa instead of sending them toward the frontier.

Japan Bars War Supplies.

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Any hopes Emperor Haile Selassie may hold of securing guns and ammunition from Japan are doomed to disappointment, a high official pointed out today.

He said Japan is devoting its energies to a "mission of maintaining peace and order in East Asia." The huge army program makes it almost unthinkable that stocks of munitions would be diverted to Ethiopia, he explained. The arms industry is government controled.

Officials flatly denied an Addis Ababa report a contract had been signed with Tokio for war supplies. Japan's public is strongly in sympathy with Ethiopia, however, and the government, it was explained, is determined to retain "freedom of action."

REVOLT IN CRETE ENDS; WORKERS GET 15% PAY RAISE

ATHENS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A 15 per cent pay boost restored outward harmony today to Candia, Crete, as 4,000 strikers returned to their jobs after a brief but fierce revolt.

The wage increase was negotiated by Gen. Bakapoulos, who dispersed the strikers last night after day long street fighting killed six and wounded fifty-one.

Workers said the uprising was caused by the failure to meet their demands, chiefly for a raise. Other sources had attributed the revolt to adherents of former Premier Venizelos, now in exile under death sentence after leading an unsuccessful uprising last March. Responsible quarters also said the question of restoration of the Monarchy was involved.

INNSBRUCK, Austria, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Two German speaking Italian soldiers, natives of South Tyrol, staked their lives on a hazardous flight across a glacier today rather than go to Ethiopia, and at least one of them lost.

They crossed safely into Austria about 12 miles east of Brenner pass, where the Autro-Italian border traverses a high region of perpetual snow and glacial ice, but they lost their footing in Schlegeis valley and fell off a cliff.

One of the soldiers died instantly. His companion was injured critically. They were found by mountaineers who carried them to the village of Ginzling, near Mayerhofen.

CHURCH JOINS STATE OFFICERS IN BRAZIL TO STAMP OUT REDS

RIO DE JANIERO, Aug. 6.—(AP)—An archbishop, an army general and a justice of the Supreme court today joined in a fight against leftist extremism in Brazil. Gen. Joao Gomez Ribeiro, minister of war, is known to be studying voluminous documents for evidence against several army officers suspected of being linked with communism. They will be cashiered if the charges are supported.

The churchman is Archbishop Becker of Porto Alegre, Rio Grande do Sul, head of an archdiocese of 1,200,000 Catholics. He is leader of a growing movement organized to fight "soviet imperialism."

Hitler Dissolves Military Control Organization

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler today dissolved the special organization of the Nazi party which he drew up to "further and control Germany's military policy." The chief of this office was Lieut. Gen. Franz von Epp, formerly a close friend of former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. Hitler made Von Epp a general of infantry. Von Epp will remain governor of Bavaria.

MUSSOLINI CALLS 75,000 MORE MEN TO WAR MACHINE

Charges Ethiopia Masses Troops on Borders.

ROME, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini ordered 75,000 more men to arms today in answer to reports that Emperor Haile Selassie has sanctioned the concentration of 60,000 Ethiopian warriors on Italy's east African frontiers.

About 45,000 of the 75,000 called to the colors will go to cantonments for intensive training. They bring the total of men in training already sent to east Africa and native divisions recruited there to an estimated 235,000.

The long awaited "communique No. 9" announced that the summoning of two regular army divisions, a volunteer Fascist Black Shirt division, and creation of two replacement divisions was a consequence of "heavy Ethiopian mobilizations."

Army of Million by October.

Italy's military program, well informed circles said, envisages a million men in uniform by October for service in East Africa and to maintain preparedness at home.

Unofficial reports said Il Duce has quietly sent to east Africa or created there other battalions.

Later the war department announced that all prospective officers of the classes of 1909-1914, inclusive, who have not completed officers' training must begin to do so by Nov. 15, ending the training by May 15, 1936.

These embryo officers, including thousands of men with professional degrees and regular army men who have reached the subaltern stage, must drop everything and finish their training.

The order also calls out all men of 17 years of age or more who have not served in the regular army because they received training in military academies.

Italians Abroad Affected.

It also affects officers now living on pensions who are under the age of 39, and who "still aspire" to readmission into the service, and officers who have left the service because of foreign residence.

Simultaneously an announcement from the Italian embassy in London said several thousand voluntary enlistments from officers and soldiers living abroad had arrived to swell the list of volunteers for the East African forces.

It also was announced that Premier Mussolini had received a telegram from the former Italian Combatants' association, saying "Italian combatants in New York, in extraordinary assembly, affirmed their indefatigable adherence to your excellency and their readiness to give their blood for the triumph of the impregnable right of the Italian nation."

Dispatches from Naples said four transports would embark within the next few days carrying more than 2,000 troops, an equal number of skilled workmen, modern tanks and other war equipment to East Africa.

Eden Reports to London.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for league of nations affairs, reported today to Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare on last week's meeting of the league of nations council. Later Eden and Hoare saw Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin before the latter's departure on a vacation.

Tonight British diplomats began preparations for the three power meeting of Britain, France, and Italy which is expected to take place in or near Paris early next week. The powers, meeting under the 1906 treaty under which they divided Ethiopia into "spheres of influence" for themselves, will seek a compromise solution under which Italy would not take military action in East Africa.

British politicians tonight claimed Capt. Eden had achieved a great victory at Geneva. They represented his efforts as having brought about close coöperation between England and France, with the result that France has adopted a "a hard boiled attitude" to Italy's claims.

RED LEADER URGES WORKERS, FARMERS IN U. S. FORM PARTY

MOSCOW, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Creation of a workers' and farmers' party in the United States to prevent the rise of fascism was declared a vital necessity, not only for America, but for the world, today, by Georgi Dimitrov, Bulgarian Communist, before the seventh congress of the Third Internationale.

"A victory for fascism in America would mean a strengthening of the régime of exploitation and the movement for crushing the workers," he said. "This would have a profound effect on the world as a whole."

If Fascist doctrines are allowed to continue penetrating the masses disappointed with the two major parties—Democratic and Republican—fascism will become a "serious and immediate threat," Dimitrov said. American workers and farmers, he said, must abandon the "capitalistic parties" and steer the masses away from fascism into a new party which would be "neither Socialist nor Communist but must be anti-Fascist and not anti-Communist."

NUMBER OF IDLE IN BRITAIN DROPS UNDER 2 MILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Monthly statistics issued by the British ministry of labor tonight showed that on July 22 the total of jobless persons fell below the 2,000,000 mark for the first time in five years. The actual figure on that date was 1,972,941, which was a decrease of 27,169 as compared with the previous month and 153,319 less than a year ago.

Since January, 1933, when the number of idle reached the highest peak, there has been a drop of nearly a million. Last month's decrease was regarded with particular satisfaction, since an improvement rarely is experienced in July owing to seasonal causes.

The consistent improvement in employment during the last two and a half years represents a saving of nearly $5,000,000 weekly in doles, as a result of which the unemployment fund, which a year ago owed the treasury $525,000,000, today is solvent.

Jugo-Slav Patrol Kills Albanians Crossing Border

VIENNA, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Reports to the Freie Presse from Bulgaria said today that six Albanians and two girls had been killed by a Jugo-Slav border patrol near Djaz Toberz, when a group of fourteen Albanians trying to cross into Jugo-Slavia offered armed resistance. The newspaper said an investigation disclosed the Albanians were trying to smuggle the girls into Jugo-Slavia, believing they could sell them at a higher price than was obtainable in Albania.

FACE SHORTAGE OF SHIPS TO GET TOURISTS HOME

Officials Expecting Rush Before Labor Day.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

The one-time problem of how to get the soldiers out of the trenches by Christmas has been succeeded by the present-day problem of how to get the Americans out of Europe by Labor day. After seeing their liners' capacity taxed throughout June and July, the trans-Atlantic steamship officials are trying to figure out how to get the throngs home again.

Since many of the travelers have extended their stay into August, with the expectation of returning just in time for the opening of school in the fall, the liners are threatened with one of the worst westbound trafic crushes since the outbreak of the world war.

One official in Chicago said yesterday that he was seriously considering asking his company to charter the Leviathan, now in disuse, take it "deadhead" to Europe, and let it help relieve the overflow on the return journey. Other steamship men agreed that, without some such solution to the problem, it would be impossible to avoid disappointing several thousand persons homeward bound.

Many Still Sailing East.

Meanwhile, although the rush to Europe began diminishing the latter part of July, the first week in August has seen a large number of Chicagoans still sailing eastward.

Judge and Mrs. John P. McGoorty left yesterday on the Excambion for Mediterranean ports. Fellow passengers included D. H. Dalton, Miss M. Barnett, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McEwen and their son.

When the President Roosevelt steams out of New York today it will have aboard Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Heaney, who plan to make a tour of the British Isles in their own car; the Misses Katherine and Martha Carr, who will remain in Europe for the winter; Mrs. Robert H. Kolinsky and her daughters, Phyllis and Shirley, who will visit in France and England and attend the Zionist convention in Lucerne; Andrew Johnson, Ross Wilson, and Mrs. James C. Buehler.

To Attend Salzburg Festival.

When Mrs. H. G. B. Alexander and Mrs. William J. Cross left for Naples Saturday on the Rex, their travel plans included stops at Villa d'Este, Innsbruck, the Salzburg festival, Vienna, and Budapest. Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Opler will leave the Rex at Villefranche for a trip through northern Italy, Switzerland, the Black Forest, the Netherlands, France, and England.

G. E. Crandall and his daughter, Betty, will spend a few weeks at the Lido, and then go to Paris. Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses S. Alexander, their daughter, Ruth, and Catherine Drain will join Arthur P. Hubbell in Naples for an extended trip through the continent. Others on the Italian liner were Miss Naomi Anderson, who will go from Rome to Berlin and then over to London; Dr. and Mrs. Carlo Scudari, who will wander at leisure through Italy and France; Joseph Paller, on his way to visit friends in Graz, Austria, and Dr. Anson G. Hurley, who will study in Vienna.

A trip over the entire region of the world war battlefields is on the itinerary of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Betty, who will leave Saturday on the Ile de France. This will be Mr. Betty's second trip to the battlefields. His first was as a member of the A. E. F. Miss Ireene Wicker, the "Singing Lady" of radio, took the Ile de France for a hurried trip to England. John H. Kraft, Chicago industrialist, was among the passengers returning on the French liner yesterday.

Plan Tour of England.

The Misses Florence Webster and Andrea Kiland will sail on the Majestic tomorrow for a tour of England, the Netherlands, and France. On the same liner will be Mr. and Mrs. Martin Janule, beginning a journey that will take them eventually to South Africa; Alex O. Potter, European secretary of Rotary International, who has been visiting in Chicago since the close of the Rotary convention in Mexico City; Paul Witty, Mrs. Ella Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Green, Frank Means, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haynes and their three children.

England, the Scandinavian countries, the Netherlands, Switzerland, and France are on the schedule of Mr. and Mrs. James Dawson. They will leave from Montreal Friday on the Ausonia, along with Miss May Juhn, research associate in the Whitman laboratory at the University of Chicago. Miss Juhn is going to Switzerland to see her mother.

A party of eleven Chicagoans under the leadership of Miss Frances Paisley embarked on the Antonia for a tour of England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, France, and Switzerland. On the Aurania were Gilbert Rayner and his daughter, Elizabeth, of Lake Forest. The Rev. Thomas Talbot of De Paul university left on the Scythia for England and Italy.

Leave for Church Meeting.

More than 400 American delegates to the second world convention of the Disciples of Christ sailed on the Britannic for Leicester, England. This is said to be the largest group movement from America to Europe this year. E. James Rogers of the Chicago staf of Cunard-White Star was in charge. Another large pilgrimage is that of the National Catholic Federation of Nurses, leaving on the Georgic next Saturday for Rome.

Alderman and Mrs. Oscar Nelson took the Georgic Monday for a four-day cruise to Halifax. Mr. and Mrs. J. Lithgow Nugent and Miss M. M. Worthington arrived home last week from a cruise to the West Indies and South America on the Columbia. John M. Johnson, Mrs. Winifred Johnson, and Miss Florence Kahn were aboard the Columbia when it started southward again.

On the California, on its way from San Francisco to New York via the Panama canal, are Mr. and Mrs. K. N. Forbes, Mrs. Tina Muller, Mrs. Nellie M. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Schatz, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kuhlmery and their son, George, and the Misses Mary Rogers, Elizabeth Muller, and Mabel LeFevre. On the Virginia, en route from New York to San Francisco, are Maurice Brown, Miss Joan Raymaker, T. J. Hamilton, Mrs. Chase C. Chace, and Mrs. E. B. Warder and her son, Gordon.

Cruise to Bermuda, Quebec.

On the Franconia, now on a two weeks' cruise to Bermuda, Quebec, and the St. Lawrence, are Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Haynes, P. E. True, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Quinn, Mrs. W. A. Excell, Mrs. Alma McLarty, H. W. Nicholas Sr., H. W. Nicholas Jr., C. W. Nicholas, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Bechcrer and her daughter, and the Misses Sarah O'Donnell, Florence True, Esther Smith, Helen Roberts, Catherine Courtney, Helen Swanson, Dorothea Westrinen, Irene Ratner, Theda Wayson, Anna Ryan, Josephine Ryan, and Martha Boyd, all of Chicago, and Mrs. Leon E. Denison III. and her brother, E. F. Cullinane, of Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wray of Glencoe boarded the President McKinley at Seattle the first of the week for Shanghai. They expect to spend three or four months in the orient.

LAKE MICHIGAN LEVEL HIGHER DURING JULY

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Lake Michigan was 0.20 of a foot higher last month than it was in June, according to the United States lake survey notice to mariners, issued here today. Lake Huron was at the same level.

Superior	602.98
Michigan-Huron	578.61
St. Clair	573.93
Erie	570.86
Ontario	244.32

Lake Superior was 0.27 of a foot higher than in June [since 1900 the July level has averaged 0.22 foot higher than June] and was 0.14 of a foot above the July stage of a year ago.

Lakes Michigan and Huron were 0.53 of a foot above the July stage of a year ago and 0.91 of a foot below the average stage of July of the last ten years. Lake Erie was 0.10 of a foot higher than in June, 0.46 foot above the July stage of a year ago.

LORD LINLITHGOW APPOINTED NEW VICEROY OF INDIA

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The most difficult administrative task at the disposal of the British government, the leadership of the new India, was intrusted tonight to the 48 year old marquess of Linlithgow.

Lord Linlithgow was appointed viceroy of India in succession to Lord Willingdon, whose term of office expires next April. Some time after he takes office, perhaps a year, Lord Linlithgow will become the first governor general of a federated India on proclamation of the bill granting India self-government with safeguards.

Lord Linlithgow is regarded as a skilled diplomat and is intimate with India. Linlithgow was educated at Eton. He served throughout the world war. He was civil lord of the admiralty from 1922 to 1924 and held the chairmanships of the India agriculture committee and the joint select committee of lords and commons on the India bill.

Absent-Minded Mental Expert Finds His $400

Vacationists Given Choice of Routes Both Ways.

Magnificent scenery throughout the western half of the North American continent, huge government projects in the making, and the international exposition at San Diego are among the objectives of more than 200 tours being operated this summer and fall by the western railroads running out of Chicago. Under a coöperative agreement entered into by the roads, it is possible to go by any one of them and return by any other.

The itineraries for the circle tours are designed primarily for two and three weeks' vacations, but extensions are permitted until well into the autumn. The traveler can take in the southwest, the Pacific coast, the northwest, and the Rockies all in one trip. He can start any day up to Sept. 18, and can go either independently or with an escorted group. Most of the national parks and the summer resorts close in September.

Drastic Cuts in Rates.

The tours include about everything worth seeing west of Chicago. One line is making a specialty of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado on the way out to the coast, with the national parks and the Canadian Rockies on the way home. Others call for stops at such places as the Carlsbad caverns, Boulder dam, Bryce canyon, Zion park, Yellowstone, Rocky Mountain park, Yosemite, Mount Rainier, Glacier park, San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Vancouver, Banff, Lake Louise, Salt Lake City, and Denver.

Drastic reductions in the rates were made at the beginning of the summer season. First class tarifs on every western line were cut approximately one-third, and corresponding cuts were made on the tourist and day coach tickets. The result is that a 6,400 mile circle tour may now be made for $86, with Pullman fares and meals extra; or $68.80 tourist class, berths and meals extra, or $57.35 in the coaches, with meals extra. Included is the use of the air conditioned equipment, installed last spring at a cost of $19,000,000.

Escorted Tours Available.

These rates, of course, are based on the railroad travel only. But in conjunction with them the roads, along with one of the travel agencies, have arranged escorted tours, with everything paid for in advance in a lump sum covering all necessary expenses. Pullman space, meals, lodging at hotels, rail transportation, and sightseeing trips by motor are included. These tours vary from one to three weeks, and the prices vary accordingly. For instance, the traveler can do Yellowstone in seven days for $110.08, or he can elect to do Salt Lake City, Bryce, Zion, and Yosemite National parks, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Vancouver, Lake Louise, and Banff in three weeks for $289, traveling first class in a lower berth.

For the names of the railroads and the travel agency operating these trips, or any further information concerning the trips, call the Tribune Travel bureau, Superior 0100, local 707 or 734, or write the bureau at 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations to the Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Are there any autumn cruises to the Mediterranean? C. K.

Yes. The Italian liner Roma will leave New York Aug. 24 for a 28 day cruise, and the "Yankee cruises" aboard American Export liners will leave every two weeks throughout September, October, and November.

We wish to take in the Murray Bay Follies at Murray Bay, Quebec. Can you give us details as to when and where? S. T.

I have heard of an ostrich farm at Willemstad, Curacao. Is it possible to see it on one of the Caribbean cruises? A. V.

The farm is no longer operating. Since women have given up plumes, there is no need of continuing to breed the ostriches.

At the Variety Showmen's jubilee, Sept. 3 to 8.

Aug. 18.

Is there a "floating university" cruise around the world this year? C. A. C.

Last year's cruise was canceled at the last minute, and so far there has been no announcement of another one.

GUNMAN ROBS GROCER.

PIONEERS' WRATH COOLS; BRINGS IN BREAKFAST SETS

PALMER, Alaska, Aug. 6.—(AP)—There will be radios in most of the homes in the government's Matanuska valley colony, a survey of furnishings showed today.

A majority also will have new kitchen ranges, and many will have overstuffed davenports, chairs, breakfast sets, quality rugs, new curtains and new heating stoves. Several will have pianos. Indoor chemical toilets are being furnished for each house, as well as lamps.

Plan New Project.

With about 1,000 men at work, it was indicated more than 100 houses will be completed before snow falls.

As work progressed today, the pioneers brought here from Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin heard with interest of reported plans for a "super colony" similar to their own in nearby Kenai peninsula.

The reported plan for the Kenai project was announced by Mayor Don Brownell of Seward on his return from Washington. He said the "super colony" in the tentative plans now on hand would call for 2,000 families, or 10 times the number brought here. The peninsula lies between Anchorage and Seward.

More Farmers Apply.

Don L. Irwin, manager of the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation corporation, said 650 farmers, representing every state in the Union, have applied, hoping to fill vacancies in the ranks of the colonists in Matanuska valley.

Irwin announced the names of all applicants for places at Matanuska were being filed and would form the basis for careful selection of colonists in any future such movements.

DUKE OF MANCHESTER IS BANKRUPT AGAIN; LISTS $45,000 DEBTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The duke of Manchester, who recently won an appeal from a nine months' prison sentence for pawning jewelry which did not belong to him, today listed assets of $25 and liabilities of more than $45,000 in Bankruptcy court.

This is the duke's third bankruptcy. After the first, in 1900, he paid $3 on each $5 of his debt. After his second bankruptcy, in 1916, he paid $50,000 out of $650,000 debts.

Since then, the duke testified today, he has depended on a voluntary allowance from his late mother's estate, which until 1929 varied from $35,000 to $45,000 annually. Afterward, he said, this was reduced to $17,500 annually. The examination was adjourned until Nov. 8.

Polish Veterans Honor Memory of Pilsudski

CRACOW, Poland, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The veterans of the Polish Legion met today for the first time since Marshal Pilsudski's death to celebrate the 21st anniversary of their start from here against the Russian army. Foreign Minister Joseph Beck marched in a procession of soldiers to the tomb of Pilsudski. A solemn mass was said before the tomb with legion banners draped upon the altar.

DIES ON HIS FRONT PORCH.

George Beoddy, 64 years old, 611 North Fourth avenue, Maywood, a machinist for the Chicago and North Western railroad, died suddenly of heart disease yesterday on the front porch of his home.

DIONNE QUINTS BRING BOOM TO NORTH ONTARIO

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Dionne quintuplets are bringing a boom to this part of northern Ontario.

Tourists from all provinces of Canada and the United States head by thousands for the Dafoe hospital, 12 miles from here. Trafic police estimate 5,000 have visited the hospital on a single Sunday preceding a holiday, and about the same number on the following day.

On an average Sunday, they estimate, more than 3,000 visit the hospital. The average daily crowd is placed at more than 1,000.

Biggest Season for Resorts.

Resort proprietors and others dependent on tourist trafic are experiencing the biggest season since this business became a major factor in the commercial life of the district.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe, physician to the famous babies, reported there was no accommodation for tourists last night anywhere in the district between Huntsville and North Bay.

Some 50 automobiles were parked on the streets of Callander throughout the night, motorists trying to get some sleep before they went out to see first of the babies' "four-a-day" shows at 8 a. m. today.

Trafic Up 35 Per Cent.

A. McDonald, clerk of the North Bay board of trade's tourist information bureau, estimates tourist trafic has shown a 35 per cent increase over last year.

Other sources reported that the province of Ontario is enjoying a revenue of at least $300 to $400 per day, or nearly $12,000 a month, in gasoline taxes paid by visitors to the quintuplets' home.

NEWS! NEWS! NEWS! NEWS!

IMPORTANT legislative problems face a tired Congress . . . New York's racket investigation gets under way . . . The world tensely watches the Italo-Ethiopian situation . . . Nazi Germany again occupies the headlines . . . Political leaders plan their 1936 campaigns . . . News of business recovery and Wall Street activity is watched.

News . . . News . . . News . . . The rush of it is tremendous . . . its nature highly complex. And never did it mean so much, for events in these times touch every phase of life.

You must keep up with the news. Yet often the pressure of business or other activity breaks the continuity of your daily newspaper reading. What then? The answer is found in the Review of the Week, in The Sunday Times—a new kind of newspaper section that performs two vital functions:

It summarizes the news of the week, fitting together the pieces of the news picture so that the reader gets a graphic bird's-eye view of events.

It tells what the week's news means, in special articles gathered from all over the world with the aid of the far-flung Times news organization.

Here is a unique newspaper section—accurate, and yet with a large sense of drama; highly informative, and yet with a considerable touch of entertainment. And it is up-to-the-last-minute, covering events through Saturday afternoon.

Thus another news feature has been added to the outstanding Sunday *news*paper. With its Magazine, Book Review and Picture Sections, its Arts Section, and now the Review, The Sunday Times combines the qualities of the best magazines with the timeliness of the newspaper and therefore is kept for through-the-week reading.

The character of The Sunday Times is reflected in the character of its *readers. It offers an incomparable opportunity to advertisers, reaching homes with better-than-average incomes, a most responsive section of the nation's greatest market, at lowest comparative cost.

TO THE READER

Orders for The New York Times can be placed through John B. Woodward, Inc., 400 North Michigan Ave., Chicago—Telephone Superior 5456—or by writing directly to the Circulation Department of The Times. Annual subscription rates are: Sunday, $5; Weekday, $10; Sunday and Weekday, $15.

TO THE ADVERTISER

Selling costs depend upon the number of worthwhile prospects that can be reached for the money expended. The Polk Consumer Census has proved that The Times reaches more of them per advertising dollar than any other New York newspaper.

15 LITTLE GIRLS STAGE A SHOW TO AID FREE ICE FUND

Benefit Smashes Season Record for Receipts.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Fifteen little girls, the oldest 13 and the youngest 4, drew upon their latent talents yesterday to produce a summer day's entertainment that netted $28.05 for THE TRIBUNE free ice fund.

The benefit was held in the Mayfair Presbyterian church, Kostner and Ainslie avenues, and the receipts were the largest, by far, of any benefit of the season. From tickets, which sold at 5 and 10 cents for each person, a total of $19.05 was realized. From the sale of donated candy and from silver contributions came another $9.

The program was planned entirely by the children, so each child did just what she wanted to do. They gave readings and plays, danced and played the piano.

Tells Mission of Ice Fund.

When all the acting and singing and dancing was over, Mrs. John C. Carroll, 4836 Lowell avenue, sponsor, told the audience of the work of the free ice fund.

"Ice," she said to the children, "is as necessary as food. Living without protection of ice for milk and other food is probably something of which you have no idea—because you can have no real idea of poverty as it is in Chicago. The free ice fund supplies this ice to poor families."

Mothers and neighbors assisting the children were Mrs. Jennie Peterson, Mrs. George Churchill, Mrs. Trygve Holth, Mrs. George Vasen, Mrs. John Rida, Mrs. Arthur Maack and Mrs. Robert Daniel.

Lemonade Sale Aids Fund.

At the opposite end of the city Patricia Ann Tumpane, 10 years old, 8000 Vernon avenue, and Louise Scherer, 8 years old, 8006 Vernon avenue, Monday conducted a benefit lemonade sale. Their total receipts of $1 were received yesterday.

BURIAL SERVICES TODAY FOR REV. ALOYSIUS THIELE

Solemn requiem services will be held today for the Rt. Rev. Aloysius J. Thiele, pastor of the St. Aloysius church, LeMoyne street and Claremont avenue, who died Monday at the home of his sister, Mary Thiele, in Niles Center. He was 88 years old. Burial will be in the old St. Boniface cemetery.

One of the pioneer Roman Catholic priests in the Chicago archdiocese, the Rt. Rev. Thiele in 1932 organized and built the St. Aloysius church. He was born in Thulen, Westphalia, Germany, Oct. 15, 1847, and came to Chicago in 1863. Father Thiele first was pastor of a church in Sterling, Ill., and then was transferred to St. Peter's church in Niles Center. Later he became pastor of St. Henry's church, Devon and Ridge avenues, remaining there until 1932 when he became pastor of St. Aloysius.

Father Thiele was known as a leader of people of German descent here and was known for his work in organizing many charities. In 1915 he was made a monsignor. His body was brought last night to St. Mathias German Roman Catholic church where his brother, Very Rev. Dennis Thiele, is pastor.

Stickney Resident Is Found Shot to Death on Prairie

The body of a man identified as Constantine Rozehnal, 63 years old, 3913 Elmwood avenue, Stickney, was found lying in a cornfield three or four blocks south of 42d street and Scoville avenue yesterday afternoon. Physicians said the man, whose left chest was partly shot away, had been dead for several hours. Stickney police found a shotgun near by the body and concluded that the wounds had been made by a charge from this weapon.

Brother Andre, 'Miracle Man,' Nears 90th Birthday

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 6.—Brother Andre, founder of St. Joseph's oratory, will be 90 years of age Friday. The "miracle man of Montreal," as he is known to thousands of pilgrims from the United States and Canada, will observe the anniversary in the same manner as he has for several years past—in prayer. He continues in good health.

FORMER CONVICT SHOOTS FAMILY AND SELF; 3 DEAD

Beloit, Kas., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Climaxing a quarrel with his estranged wife and her family, Ralph James, 35, an ex-convict, today shot and killed her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Gould, and probably fatally wounded his wife, Helen Gould James, and their 2½ year old son, Bobby. James then killed himself.

The shooting occurred in a restaurant operated by the Gould family. Friends of the two families said that the trouble which led to the shooting began several weeks ago when Mrs. James left her husband, stating he had beaten her.

Charges of assault and battery were filed against James by his father-in-law, but the case was dismissed in justice court as a "family quarrel." Throughout the proceedings James was reported to have blamed the Goulds for his failure to bring about a reconciliation with his wife.

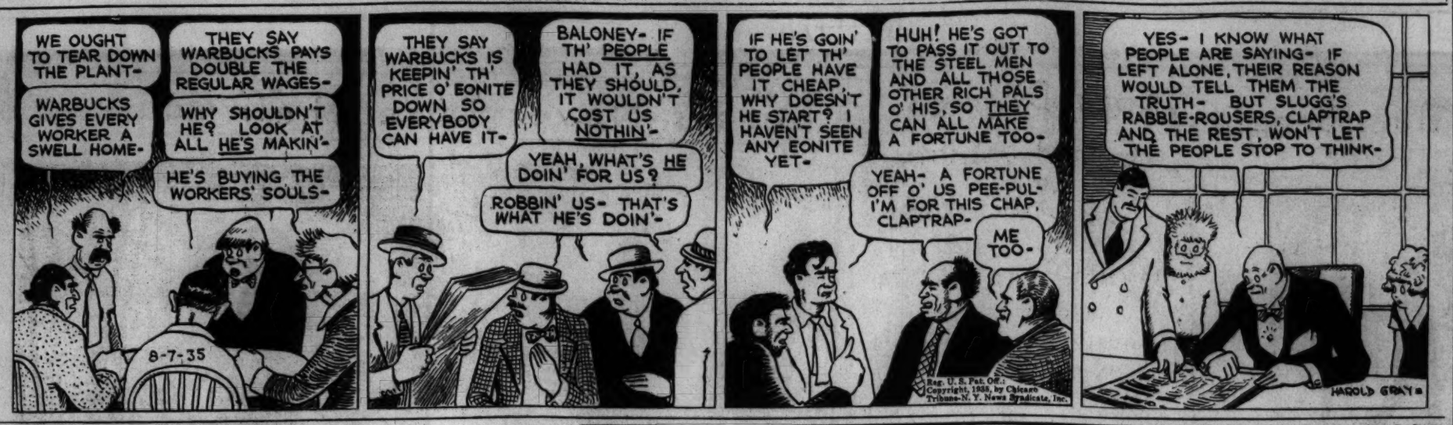
John Burger, 49, Realtor, Is Dead; Funeral Tomorrow

John Burger, 49 years old, 1435 East 60th street, head of the Stanley Realty company, died yesterday of a heart ailment in the Mercy hospital at Benton Harbor, Mich. He was stricken several days ago while visiting at Lakeside, Mich. Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Jennie Burger, a son, and a daughter. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the chapel at 936 East 47th street. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery.

Charles Craig, Former N. Y. Controler, Dies on Tour

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Charles Craig, 63, New York attorney and former controler of the city of New York, died today in a local hotel of a heart attack. Craig was touring by automobile with his wife and chauffeur. They arrived here last night from San Francisco.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Voice of the People



News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Ireene Wicker, the Singing Lady, will leave on a vacation trip to England after her W-G-N—NBC broadcast tomorrow. With Walter Wicker, her husband, also identified with radio as a writer and actor, and her accompanist, Allan Grant, she will fly to New York via United Airlines after tomorrow's broadcast. Her final Singing Lady broadcast before sailing will be made Friday afternoon from Radio City. She will also be a guest on the College prom program Friday evening over NBC. This program has the same sponsor as the Singing Lady broadcasts and features Ruth Etting regularly.

Sailing on the Ile de France Saturday Ireene expects to spend a week in England, where she will make several guest appearances over a British Broadcasting company network. She will return Aug. 27 and be back on W-G-N Aug. 29. Bob Brown, regular announcer on her program, will become the Singing Gentleman for the duration of her vacation.

Walter Wicker will return to Chicago in a few days. Charlie Wicker, their young son, had his thumb crushed in a boat accident over the week-end and is still in a surgeon's care.

Frank Crumit will be master of ceremonies on Town Hall amateur show tonight. . . . Maj. Bowes' amateur hour has been renewed for an additional three month period, which calls for appearances through Dec. 15. . . . Lanny Ross will take his imaginary "State Fair" troupe to the Cook county fair on his broadcast at 6 o'clock next Sunday evening. . . . And the WLS National Barn dance will be broadcast from the amphitheater of the state fair grounds at Springfield on Saturday, Aug. 17. . . . Anne Roberts, 4520 Greenview avenue, a blind girl, who took third place in the north side contest of the Chicagoland Music festival the other evening, will sing on the WLS Household parade at 10 a. m. this morning and Friday.

Jack Benny, on vacation, will be back on the air for one evening. At 6 p. m. next Sunday Benny, Frances Langford, and others in the cast of "Broadway Melody of 1936," will give a preview of the new picture. . . . Mme. Schumann-Heink, who has been vacationing for a couple of months, will be back as a guest on the Welcome Valley Aug. 20 to help Edgar Guest, headliner of the show, celebrate a birthday.

Lum and Abner—Chester Lauck and Norris Goff—have just been insured by their sponsors for $100,000 against any mishap that might befall them for the duration of their new two year contract which they recently signed.

Three concerts from the famed Salzburg Music festival in Austria, featuring the distinguished Vienna Philharmonic orchestra and noted soloists, are to be broadcast for the next three Sundays at 10 a. m. over WLS—NBC under the sponsorship of an American plumbing manufacturer. The programs will be relayed direct from Salzburg across Europe and the Atlantic for the distribution over NBC in America.

Felix Weingartner will direct the orchestra in an All Beethoven program Sunday. Bruno Walter will conduct the second concert and Arturo Toscanini the final one. Soloists on the concerts will include Dusolini Giannini, Lotte Lehman, Luise Helletsgruber, Alfred Jerger, Helge Roswaenge, and Richard Mayr.

51 MILLION ACRES LAID WASTE BY DUST AND WATER

Soil Erosion Is Called "Armed Foe."

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)A huge area, nearly the size of the state of Kansas, was disclosed today by a federal survey to have been laid waste by dust storms and water erosion.

The results of a survey of 1,903,176,620 acres, completed but not yet published by the soil conservation service, classified 51,465,097 acres as "essentially destroyed by wind or water erosion insofar as having further use for crop production." Most of this acreage, officials said, had been cultivated and was at one time good soil.

Stresses Gravity Problem.

Emphasizing the seriousness of the problem, Morris L. Cooke, rural electrification administrator, asserted tonight that if "things go on as they are now," in 50 years "we will have a total area of really fertile lands not much more than three times the size of Nebraska."

Cooke, speaking before the National Institute of Public Affairs at American university here, described soil erosion as an "armed foe."

"As matters now stand and unless there is a marked change in our present methods of agriculture," he said, "we have as a nation less than 100 years to go.

"As a nation, we are in the position of an individual far gone in such a disease as tuberculosis or cancer. We cannot wait."

Tugwell Group Maps Plans.

Meanwhile, Rexford G. Tugwell's resettlement administration mapped plans for close coördination with the soil conservation service in retiring and developing sub-marginal lands. It was indicated that the resettlement administration would purchase much of its sub-marginal land from areas designated in the conservation service survey.

The survey was reported to have touched every county in the nation.

The total area covered was said to have included 144,768,315 acres of mountainous, rough or scab lands on which erosion was not classified in detail.

In addition to the 51,465,097 acres discarded as "essentially destroyed," it was said that "there has been a loss of practically all of the top soil from about 105,594,229 acres," an area equal in size to the state of California plus the state of Massachusetts. This area, it was reported, mostly was either unsuited for further tillage or had been reduced materially in productivity.

Top Soil Disappears.

The report said an area was mapped comprising a total of 513,074,201 acres in which from one-fourth to three-fourths of the top soil had been lost over more than 25 per cent of its extent. The cultivated part of this land, it was said, rapidly is losing its top soil but much of it is still productive and is "well worth saving."

Wind erosion was reported to have "essentially destroyed for further cultivation" a total of 4,443,849 acres, an area almost as large as New Jersey. The dust storms and smaller winds were reported to have damaged seriously an additional 60,584,778 acres.

PAPAL HONORS FOR AMERICAN BISHOP, PRIEST

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The apostolic delegation here today announced that Pope Pius at Vatican City had appointed Monsignor Peter L. Ireton, rector of St. Anne's church, Baltimore, Md., as coadjutor bishop of Richmond, Va., and Bishop James Hugh Ryan, now rector of the Catholic university here, as bishop of Omaha, Neb.

Monsignor Ireton will assist Bishop Andrew Brennan at Baltimore. Bishop Brennan is ill. Monsignor Ireton is to succeed Bishop Brennan.

Bishop Ryan succeeds Archbishop Joseph Rummel who was transferred to New Orleans, La., several months ago. Bishop Ryan was born in Indianapolis Dec. 15, 1886, and was ordained in 1909. He was president of St. Mary of the woods at Terre Haute.

Admits Kidnap and Rape Story False; Sent Home

Mrs. Birdie Spencer, 48 years old, of Little Rock, Ark., admitted in the Women's court of Municipal Judge Edgar A. Jonas yesterday that she had never been kidnaped and said she had told a story of abduction and rape when she arrived here on Saturday to win sympathy because she was penniless and in a strange city. The judge dismissed a charge of disorderly conduct against Mrs. Spencer after her brother, George Godwin, 6456 South Marshfield avenue, agreed to pay her bus fare back to Little Rock.

Prof. Harry C. Thurnau, Kansas University, Dies

E. E. DALTON, DENTAL LABORATORIES HEAD, DIES; BURIAL TODAY

Funeral services for Ernest E. Dalton, president and founder of the Coe Dental laboratories, 6033 Wentworth avenue, who died in the Billings Memorial hospital Monday after a long illness, will be held at 2 p. m. today from the chapel at 77th street and Jeffery avenue. Burial will be in Mount Greenwood cemetery.

E. E. DALTON.

Mr. Dalton was 48 years old. He founded the Coe laboratories in 1924 and gained national recognition for a number of new materials and new practices in dental surgery, which he pioneered. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Cora Dalton, a daughter, Collette, and three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Henderson, Mrs. Irwin Haas and Mrs. Mile C. Smith.

Hold Suspect Who Claims He Was Once Counterfeiter

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 6.—(AP)—William A. Wilson, 37, of Bluefield, Va., was held by police and federal authorities today while federal agents investigated his story that he had counterfeited over $50,000 in United States bills eight years ago in Virginia and had been dodging the law ever since.

Douglas Tilden, Sculptor, Succumbs to Heart Attack

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Douglas Tilden, 74, who rose to international note as a sculptor, was found dead in his home today from a heart attack. He was on the jury of sculpture at the Chicago Exposition in 1893.

SECOND TYPHOON IN SOUTH CHINA KILLS HUNDREDS

AMOY, China, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The second typhoon in as many days battered the south China coastal section today and exacted a heavy toll in life and property. Destroyed communication lines prevented an accurate check. Several hundred were known to have died.

Fishing fleets were wrecked near Amoy as the storm blew inland over a widely populated area. Chuanchow, which bore the brunt of the first typhoon, reported starvation was threatening refugees. The district government and foreign missionaries combined their resources to establish soup kitchens and straw shelters.

Grain and fruit crops throughout the area were destroyed. Eighty per cent of the buildings in the area, it was estimated, were torn down. The storm yesterday flooded valleys of the east and west river, inundating numerous villages. Hsiwei, one small market town, was said to be 25 feet under water. Dozens were believed lost at Chuanchow when water raced over a church where hundreds were taking refuge. A report came from Lungyen, 100 miles west of Chuanchow, that bubonic plague had broken out.

Debut Parties for September Near a Record

Buds Will Be Rushed on Two Week-Ends.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ANNOUNCEMENTS of two new debut parties, one a dance on Sept. 7 and the other a tea-dance on Sept. 14, will bring the total of debuts on those two days to five and four respectively. This great number of parties will remind many of society's popular members of one hectic September afternoon last year when they attended no less than seven debuts.

The dance on the evening of Sept. 7 will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Julian Armstrong in their Lake Bluff home to introduce their daughter, Miss Katherine Armstrong; and the tea-dance on the fourteenth will be given by Mr. and Mrs. William D. Truesdale of Winnetka, who have reserved the Indian Hill club for their younger daughter Marjorie's debut.

The Horace W. Armstrongs' tea at their Winnetka home for their daughter, Mary, the Robert S. Lairds' tea-dance at Indian Hill for their daughter, Mary Lou, and the Walther Buchens' tea at home for their daughters, Elizabeth and Esther, are set for Sept. 7.

The Truesdale tea-dance, the tea the Averill Tildens of Winnetka will give for their daughter, Ruth, the supper-dance the Alfred E. Hamills will give in their Lake Forest home for Clarice, and the tea the Edwin S. Prices will give for their daughter, Frances, on Sept. 14 will make these two week-ends unusually busy and gay for the buds and their beaux.

Another party on the fourteenth is a dinner Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Poole and their daughter, Miss Nancy Poole, will give in the Pooles' Lake Forest home. After dinner the young guests will proceed to the Hamills' supper-dance. Miss Poole will not be presented to society until next year, and she will return to Sarah Lawrence college this fall. She is leaving Saturday to visit the R. Douglas Stuarts on their Montana ranch.

Miss Hamill and her mother are leaving tomorrow for the Huron Mountain club, to be away until September. Miss Katharine Armstrong is leaving next week to visit her grandmother, Mrs. Frank D. Stout, in Wisconsin, and will go from there to Buffalo before she returns for the debut festivities.

Miss Truesdale Will Return to School.

Miss Truesdale, who attended Mount Vernon seminary last year, will go east to school again this fall right after she is presented. It is not yet certain what school or college she will enter, but it is possible that she might follow in the footsteps of her elder sister, Miss Lois Truesdale, who attended Connecticut college. The elder Miss Truesdale is going east on the fifteenth to visit friends for a fortnight. She has been working most of the summer in the Junior league office.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Smithies have a subdebutante daughter who definitly is planning to enter Connecticut college this fall, and her mother and father are more than pleased about it, because during a visit in the east recently with her younger son Mrs. Smithies took occasion to drive to New London, Conn., to see the college.

Mrs. Smithies and Thomas, called Tim, who will be a junior this autumn at Princeton, just returned from Bronxville. They and Katherine, the subdebutante, will close their Banks street house and drive up to Minocqua, Wis., Friday or Saturday to spend a month in their summer home. John T. Smithies, another son, who was graduated from Princeton last year, has been transferred by his firm to Camden, N. J., after several months' business experience here.

Miss Mary Wood, the daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, is to postpone all of her predebut festivities until September, for she is leaving tomorrow with Miss Hope Leonard, a debutante of last season, for the Teepee lodge in Wyoming. They are to be gone several weeks.

Miss Eleanore Thompson, another debutante of next season, is at Lake Geneva again, where she will stay until autumn. She and her mother, Mrs. John R. Thompson, have been unable to go away for any length of time before, as they have been among the racing enthusiasts who flocked to Arlington all last month. Mrs. Thompson departed yesterday to spend several weeks at Harbor Point.

Miss Eleanor Barron, who went to Briarcliff with Miss Betty Edmonds, arrived from her home in Southern Pines, N. C., last Saturday to spend

Miss Lillian Lampert, one of the pretty Lampert twins, will be a check room girl at the Drake hotel on Friday, Oct. 4, the day the Chicago Junior league will "man" the hotel and give a mammoth benefit to enlarge its charity fund. Miss Myrtle is the other half of the Lampert twins, who are the daughters of the Wilson W. Lamperts of 1242 Lake Shore drive.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

EISENACH, Germany.—The road from Hildesheim to Goslar, on the way to Eisenach, lay through wheat fields splashed with the scarlet of poppies, with a distant panorama of farm land checkered in greens and yellows, and a view of the Harz mountains in the distance. Arrived at Goslar, we drove through the town and stopped at a terrace restaurant, the pillars of which were hung with baskets of pink geraniums and the upper façade adorned with painted and gilded imperial figures. An ancient gray stone edifice with late Gothic carvings greeted our eyes across the street, and the pigeons flocked about the fountain in the center of the square. While we waited for our chicken with rice we consulted the trusty Baedeker. The ancient gray edifice was the "Hall of Homage," one of the sights of the town, containing thirteenth and fourteenth century treasures, we learned. Near the staircase is a cage, the Beisskatze, in which it was once the custom to incarcerate shrewish women. The restaurant we had chosen for luncheon was in a hotel, formerly a guildhouse, built in 1494, Baedeker states. The chicken and rice were excellent.

LEAVING Goslar we saw a company of Nazi soldiers, and farther on, in a field outside the town, many more brownshirts, with their red armbands decorated with the swastika, were going in for outdoor athletics.

Ahead of us the Harz mountains rose abruptly from the Thuringian plain. Covered with pine trees, furrowed by deep wooded ravines, they seemed indeed the setting for legendary tales.

MOTORING through the countryside of central Germany, the difference between the mode of living of the German farmer and the American farmer becomes immediately apparent. The farmer in central Germany does not live on his land, but in tight little villages, where the houses, built one against another, offer a solid, inhospitable wall to the street. The street door leads into a courtyard which is in the form of a hollow square, surrounded by the house, the barn, and the stable. The barnyard is the center of the hollow square. The manure pile is here, the farm carts, the chickens, and geese. A series of such units, lining each side of the street, forms the village. This mode of living is a relic of the days when the peasant feared invasion from savage hordes from the east. We saw this in Spain, too, we remembered . . . great stretches of cultivated land and olive groves, with no barns or houses to be seen. And at sunset we encountered the workers returning to their homes in the villages.

Kopp Displays Great Ability as Conductor

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Leo Kopp, one of the conductors of the Chicago Grand Opera company, made a high place for himself in the program at Grant park last night. Directing the opera orchestra in a program partly operatic and partly concert, he displayed a fine sense of pace and pulsation, striking ability as an accompanist, and a degree of resourcefulness and spirit that carried the program to high success.

Beginning with the overture to Wagner's "Flying Dutchman," continuing with Strauss' "Emperor" Waltz and Moussorgsky's "A Night on the Bare Mountain," he was both versatile and effective.

He was assisted by some brilliant soloists. Mary McCormic, of whom there had been no previous announcement, made a great hit with the waltz song from "Romeo and Juliet," as well she deserved, and continued her success with an encore.

Sybil Goldberg, an astonishing youngster of 12 years, appeared in no less a number than the first movement of Tschaikowsky's B flat minor piano concerto. She is apparently destined to be one of the artists capable of anything in piano literature. Whatever failing she had last night was a matter of physical and not mental force. At that it was an astounding performance for one of her years.

A bit later came the Chicago soprano, Flora Waalkes, to sing the final scene from "Tristan and Isolde" in a dramatically as well as musically impressive fashion.

Glenn Cliffe Bainum and his band will play tonight. The soprano soloist will be Sara Corinne Mason, last summer adjudged the best woman singer in the Chicagoland Music Festival contests. She will sing an aria from Victor Herbert's seldom heard but greatly melodious opera, "Natoma." The Cadets, a male quartet, will appear in a group of songs by Stephen Foster. The program:

1. Overture—"Chal Romano" [Gypsy Lad] ..... Ketelbey
2. Norwegian Rhapsody ..... Lalo
3. Ballet Suite—"La Source" ..... Delibes
4. "I List the Trill in Golden Throat," from "Natoma" ..... Herbert
   Sara Corinne Mason.
5. [a] "The Girl with the Flaxen Hair" ..... Debussy
   [b] "Golliwog's Cake Walk" ..... Debussy
6. March—"The Crown of India" .... Elgar
7. A Manx Rhapsody ..... Wood
8. Suite—"From Meadow to Mayfair" ..... Coates
9. Memories of Stephen Foster.....
   ..... Arr. by Caillliet
   The Cadets ..... Arr. by Caillliet
10. Selection from "You're in Love". Friml
11. Grosser Festmarsch ..... Wagner
    The Star-Spangled Banner.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Hugh Walpole, British novelist, who was suddenly stricken with arthritis in both hands while watching a preview of the film "David Copperfield," for which he had done dialog and acted in an advisory capacity last year, returned to America on the French liner Ile de France today, well on the way to complete recovery.

He's going back to Hollywood, this time to help in the filming of "Oliver Twist." Mr. Walpole, besides being a distinguished novelist in his own right, is a leading authority on the work of Charles Dickens.

He gives credit to his cure of arthritis not to the specialists who pulled all his teeth and did various other painful things to him when he got home to England last year, but to a mysterious concoction which he tried at the persuasion of his Irish manservant.

Loss of the use of his hands practically incapacitated him, since he writes in longhand and finds himself unable to dictate to a secretary. Despite his illness he managed to complete another novel, a sequel to "The Cathedral," called "The Inquisitor." It is to be published this autumn.

Berets Never Lose Their Charm

The perennial charm of a well designed beret never wanes. Berets come and go, but they return each year a bit different, as illustrated in the photograph. Claire Trevor, movie actress, wears a new square visored beret made of contrasting colors and materials—navy blue taffeta and white felt. It is worn with a white street dress of silk and wool, featuring a sleeve pocket, double upstanding mandarin-type collar with a bow tie, and taffeta lined turnback cuffed white gloves.

Skirt-Jacket Outfits Hit of Fall Arrivals

Color Contrasts Popular in Ensembles.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

With all kinds of new fall clothes arriving daily to tempt the most jaded of clothes collectors, shopping for new models is the most exciting recreation of the hour. The smartest of two piece outfits, those clever ensembles of skirt and jacket, are stealing the spotlight . . . you'll find them of wool; the skirt a very simple flared proposition; the jacket fitted snugly to the ribs and pulled in tightly around the waistline. Most of the best successes have a skirt in one color and jacket another.

Green tops are stunning, especially if the wool is the new wide waled stuff that looks like corduroy. Rust is another color that is ideal for dark colored skirts, and the eye-filling combine of clear yellow top worn with a bottle green skirt is really something to write home about.

Gun metal gray costumes will be frightfully smart this fall, in velveteen, in corduroy and in every shade of gray wool. Velvet ascots in deep rich jewel shades such as garnet, ruby, and sapphire blue are to be tucked in the neckline. But the ascots are neater and narrower this fall, not the big overflowing affairs of the past.

Dark gray skirts have high colored checked jackets in small checks and plaids, a deep red and iron gray check being the most popular. Frogs are used much oftener than buttons to keep these fitted jackets snug across the chest, and the braid frogs are huge, just as big as your conscience will permit.

If the few first arrivals are not just what you want, you can have your own combinations fashioned for you, for the fall fabrics are glowing with color and plaid formations, giddier and gayer than ever before. Don't miss a shopping trip. The new clothes will make you long for cool weather.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Not a fancy soap, but one whose virtues rank it high and whose price puts it in the practical class, is one originally designed to end the woes of the dry skinned sisterhood. The fact that it is superfatted renders it delicately creamy in texture, and leaves the skin delightfully soft and pliant. The hands, after washing, feel very nearly as though they had been treated to a dose of your favorite hand lotion, and your face might almost have been cleansed with a fluffy cream instead of with an ever-so-gentle soap and warm water.

At this season of the year, all too frequently a lethery texture of skin quite destroys the charm of an otherwise flattering coat of tan—and to overcome this condition everything that tends toward dryness must be avoided. If your skin is beginning to show signs of a wind and weather look, a hint of flakiness in its texture, this is a product that you will probably like to know about.

We don't mean to imply at all that this soap has magical powers which render the use of your cleansing and tissue creams unnecessary; but merely that, for all who have never foregone the old habit of washing the face with soap and water, it's an additional and very effective aid in the battle against summer dryness of skin. For no matter what shade of tan you strive for, if you want the texture of your skin to be as fine and velvety as at any other time of the year it will mean lots of extra care and attention, with heavier creams and the blandest soap you can find.

This one, made by a well known and highly respected pharmaceutical house, especially for skins that are abnormally sensitive, is as gentle a cleansing agent as you could well wish for, and, needless to say, very, very pure. And it has such a nice, fresh scent—not overly perfumed and yet not merely "soapy," either—that you'll like this quality, too.

Wedding

The wedding of Miss Kathryn Sue Potter, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul David Potter of Winnetka, to Richard William Vilter, son of Dr. and Mrs. William Frederick Vilter of Cincinnati, will take place at 4:30 o'clock on Saturday, Aug. 17, in the Potter residence at 570 Hawthorne lane. The Rev. George E. Drew of the Winnetka Congregational church will read the ceremony.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Ferry Hall and of Wellesley college, where she was graduated last year. The bridegroom was graduated from Harvard in 1933 and is now attending the Harvard medical school. He and his bride will make their home in Boston after a wedding trip in Canada.

Sunday Shows Given O. K. of Actors' Equity

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Sunday performances on the legitimate stage, long a subject of controversy along the Rialto, were authorized for a trial period of one year today by the Actors' and Choral Equity associations.

The councils of the two associations voted to sanction Sunday performances provided that each actor and chorus person who is required to play on Sunday be paid "two-eights of his contractual salary for each such performance" and be given a week day off. The state legislature and the municipal assembly already have authorized Sunday shows.

Equity, long opposed to the idea, voted approval of a 12 months' trial period, beginning about Sept. 1, after studying the results of a nation-wide referenda of the membership.

Belief was expressed in theatrical circles that the stipulation requiring extra pay would make many producers think twice before deciding to take advantage of the new plan.

Shirley's Ma Is Jealous of Jane Withers

Friction of Mothers Keeps Child Stars Apart.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—It seems a shame that two such likable little actresses as Shirley Temple and Jane Withers should become involved in a situation of friction. But actresses sometimes prove temperamental even if they are only 6 and 9 years of age and, even if Shirley and Jane didn't feel edgy about each other a situation has come about where the attitude of their respective mothers has created embarrassment.

It is hard for a neutral to find out what started it, but Mama George Temple seemed to feel that Shirley's importance with the Fox studio which employs both young stars was being a trifle obscured by the rapid rise of Miss Jane. One or two other things displeased Mrs. Temple also.

Mrs. W. E. Withers, Jane's mother, kept her displeasure more to herself, although many mothers might feel critical if their daughters were drawing $200 a week while the other girl—represented by Shirley—was drawing $1,200.

To be sure, Jane owed her rise to the fact she played opposite Shirley as the little brunette meanie in Shirley's "Bright Eyes," but since then Jane has traveled a long way up the happy trail to film fame on her own efforts.

Once or twice a situation came up where the Fox studio wanted to cast both youngsters in the same film, as they had been cast in "Bright Eyes." But the team of Shirley and Jane never was reassembled. Mrs. Temple was so chilly to the idea that the project got frostbitten.

At present Shirley is in Hawaii vacationing with her banker-father and her screen manager-mother. When she comes back she will, as formerly, continue to appear in films shot at the Movietone city branch of the Twentieth Century-Fox studios. Jane at present is appearing in "This Is the Life," a film being shot by the Western avenue branch of the T. C. F. outfit.

The studio finds that things get along better when Shirley and her mother are at one lot and Jane and her mother, who also acts as Jane's maid, dramatic coach and business manager, are stationed at the other lot, ten miles distant. Jane's daddy is operating an auto service shop at Whittier, a little town southeast of Los Angeles, and he never has met Shirley's dad, but then, the family friction never included the fathers in its scope.

Walt Disney, creator and boss of Mickey Mouse and Silly Symphonies, returned from Europe today and declared "music, pantomime and sound effects will be stressed in our future productions. There will be less emphasis on dialog."

Mrs. Sarah B. Reck to Become Bride of William Boyden

Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Mrs. Sarah Brown Reck will become the bride of William Cowper Boyden at the residence of her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Burton Roberts, in Highland Park. The Rev. William McDermot will read the service in the presence of the bride's parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Brown and Miss Barbara Brown of La Grange, Ind.; Dr. and Mrs. Roberts, and Preston Boyden, the bridegroom's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyden will go to California on their wedding trip, and upon their return in September will be at home at 33 Bellevue place.

Mrs. Reck has been society editor of the Chicago Daily News for several years, and Mr. Boyden, who is an attorney, writes dramatic criticisms for a Chicago magazine.

Dr. and Mrs. Andreen to Mark Wedding Anniversary

Rock Island, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Dr. Gustav A. Andreen, retired president of Augustana college here and present general alumni secretary of the school, and Mrs. Andreen will celebrate their forty-fifth wedding anniversary tomorrow. Three of his sons, all of whom live in Chicago, will be present. They are Dr. M. A. Andreen, Gustav A. Andreen Jr., a lawyer, and Dr. Carl O. Andreen, a dentist.

Engagement

Mrs. Roy O. Randell of 1149 East 56th street announces the engagement of her daughter, Helen Louise, to Laurence Hamilton Carr, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Carr of 5544 Kenwood avenue. Both Miss Randell and Mr. Carr are graduates of the University of Chicago. The wedding will take place Aug. 31 in the Thorndike Hilton chapel.

THE BIGGEST-SELLING PACKAGE SOAP IN AMERICA

The Husband Snatcher

By Elizabeth York Miller.

SYNOPSIS.

Nancy and Dick Heritage have been married for two years and are still greatly in love. Though Nancy is hated by Edith Heritage, her mother-in-law, and she has come to live with them in their little house in Primrose Dene, near London. There is a gap of four years in Nancy's life which she had not satisfactorily accounted for. Nancy is informed by Mr. Sam Digger, attorney, that she has been bequeathed £5,000 by Miss Agnes Satchell, late governor of a girls' reformatory, where Nancy had been committed for four years. Nancy had been employed by a Mrs. Lane and was accused of theft. Sylvia, Mrs. Lane's daughter, was the real culprit. Sylvia threatened to kill herself if Nancy exposed her. Nancy foolishly took the blame, though she possessed a signed confession from Sylvia. Miss Satchell believed in Nancy's innocence. That evening an account is given in the newspaper of the assassination in China of Nancy's sole remaining relative, her aunt, and her aunt's family. Next morning Nancy, who hadn't informed her husband of an expected heir, is unable to get out of bed. Dick and his mother are displeased when they learn the cause. Edith Heritage invites a friend, Mrs. Lane, and her daughter, Sylvia, for tea. Nancy pleads a dentist's appointment.

INSTALMENT IX.

THE HIDDEN PHOTOGRAPH.

"I'm terribly sorry, but I simply can't break my appointment," Nancy said.

If she could escape the Lanes today she might be lucky another time, too. They wouldn't always be coming to tea. But escape them she must!

"What time is your appointment?" Mrs. Heritage asked.

"Four—no, I believe it's 4:30." Nancy replied in confusion.

"But he won't keep you very long. They never do."

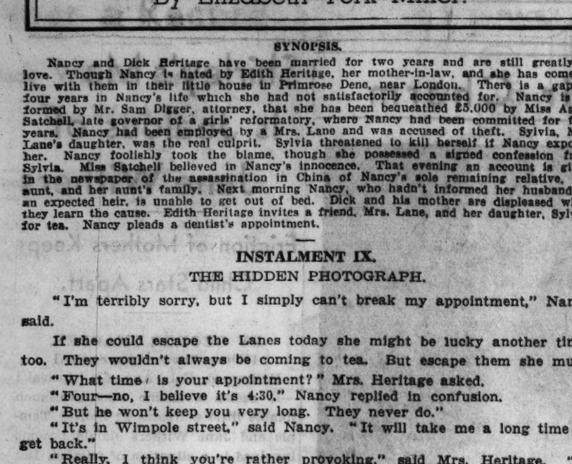
"It's in Wimpole street," said Nancy. "It will take me a long time to get back."

"Really, I think you're rather provoking," said Mrs. Heritage. "It looks as though you didn't want to meet my friends. And you have so few friends of your own I should think you'd be glad to meet some really nice people. I've told them such a lot about you."

"What have you told them?" Nancy demanded in ill disguised consternation. Whatever it was, she knew well enough it wouldn't be to her credit. But obviously neither Mrs. Lane nor Sylvia had as yet suspected that she was the Nancy Akers who had been convicted of theft in their house and committed to a reformatory, otherwise they would be sure to have dropped a hint to Edith Heritage.

"What have I told them?" Edith repeated vaguely. "Well, my dear, the usual things, I suppose. That you are very pretty and that your marriage with Dick was quite a romance—and so on."

It was painful watching Edith trying to pay her daughter-in-law compliments. The insincerity stuck out like a sore thumb.



It came to his mother in a flash—Sylvia was the girl Dick should have wed.

Nancy was sick at heart and nearly overcome by a sort of blind, unreasoning terror.

It was almost as though her mother-in-law had said: "I've got you at last, my girl! You're afraid of me, and when I've probed your secret you'll have good reason for your fear."

By lunch time the rain had left off, which was one small blessing, and by 2 o'clock Nancy had contrived to get out of the house.

Edith had been given "the slip." She had gone up to her room, having a few more things to do by way of settling in, and told Nancy.

Going downstairs again shortly after 3, Mrs. Heritage discovered that she had the house to herself.

Minnie had laid everything in readiness for tea in the living room.

At first Mrs. Heritage was annoyed at Nancy's leaving without informing her, but soon she was interested in poking about and discovering little faults and shortcomings in the arrangement of the furniture.

That handsome desk, for instance, which had belonged to Dick's father, was badly placed for lighting purposes. With some effort, Edith shifted it. But afterward she had to move it back again, because the new position called for a wholesale rearrangement.

The desk looked rather bare, didn't it? What was missing?

Suddenly she remembered, and a queer glint came into her eyes. Last night she had noticed that a large, framed photograph of Nancy had stood there—Nancy in her wedding dress. Edith had noticed it particularly because during her husband's lifetime the desk had been similarly decorated with a photograph of herself, taken upon her presentation at court, and she could not help but resent the alteration.

Who had removed Nancy's photograph—and why?

Surely it had been there even as short a time ago as lunch?

Edith did a little rummaging and discovered the object of her search propped up against the wall behind a divan.

Again that glint came into her eyes. She was a clever woman, unusually gifted with reasoning powers.

Nancy, the girl from nowhere, who had no "background," as Mrs. Heritage was fond of putting it, had taken the trouble to hide her photograph before leaving the house to keep an appointment with the dentist.

There must have been a reason for such an apparently senseless act.

Nancy hadn't wanted to meet the Lanes. That fact had been evident to her mother-in-law, but Edith had set it down to a peculiar shyness which she had noticed in Nancy before. The wedding, with all of Dick's relations and friends, had been an agony to Nancy. She hated meeting people.

Edith shrugged her shoulders and set the photograph back in its former place on the desk, and if Nancy referred to it on her return she could not very well do so without offering an explanation for having hidden it away.

Then Edith sat down to wait for her guests to arrive and while she waited she did a little meditating.

It was apparent to her that Dick still loved his wife; he was still bewitched by that classically beautiful face and figure. Edith knew in the beginning what Nancy had come to realize too late, that Dick Heritage had a weakness for mere beauty. He had been in love before with beautiful girls, but fortunately the attacks were brief. If only he had consented to wait his passion for Nancy would have passed off like the others.

But, thought his mother, this is a modern world. Thank heaven, nowadays no marriage was really irrevocable. The idea of divorce had always alarmed Edith Heritage, until Dick got himself tied up with Nancy. Since then she had begun to regard it as a legitimate loophole of escape for the mismated.

The girl had certainly dragged him down, and now she was using a billous attack to pretend she was going to have a baby. Perhaps she wasn't quite so sure of Dick, after all.

A little after 4 o'clock a handsome salon car turned into Primrose Dene and came to a stop at No. 6.

A slender girl with very pale, blonde hair, and a face of ethereal loveliness was driving it, and beside her sat an older woman who, from their resemblance, could only be her mother.

Dick Heritage had escaped from the office early that afternoon. All day his conscience had been pricking him where Nancy was concerned, and he thought he would surprise her by getting home an hour or so before she would be expecting him. Also, he had stopped at the florists and bought a bunch of red roses for her.

So it happened that Dick was just on the point of entering his own front gate when the blonde beauty leaned out of her car and asked him if this was the house of some people named Heritage.

A queer, little thrill went over Edith as she saw her tall, fine looking son help Sylvia Lane to lock up her car, and then the two of them lingering along the path as Dick pointed out the results of his gardening efforts.

It came to his mother in a flash that Sylvia Lane was the girl Dick should have married. Sylvia belonged to his own world, and she had money. At Cannes she had been greatly sought after and admired. Wherever Sylvia went there were men after her but so far, her mother said, she had been impervious to Cupid's shafts. It would not always be so, of course. The time must come when Sylvia would meet her fate.

If only, thought Edith Heritage, Dick had met Sylvia Lane before he met Nancy.

But was it too late, even now?

One simply must remember that marital mistakes can be rectified in these modern times, and no disgrace attached to it, either.

A Friend in Need

Ask Baby Crib and Buggy.

"Dear Miss Brown: We wonder if you could assist us in obtaining a baby crib and a go-cart or buggy for a 3 month old baby of one of our families. At present he is using a table padded with sheets and blankets, which arrangement is naturally most uncomfortable. His mother has to carry him to an infant welfare station, a good distance from home, and is much in need of a buggy or cart."—Miss B.

Plans for Orphan Outing to Be Completed Tonight

Plans for the thirty-first annual outing of Chicago orphans and residents of homes for the aged are to be completed at a meeting this evening of members of the Orphan's Automobile Day association in Café Brauer, Lincoln park and Center street. President S. D. Meyer of the association said he would appeal for volunteers to drive 1,000 cars to carry the 4,000 guests to the outing, which is to be held on Aug. 21 in Lincoln park. Those who are willing to drive guests to the outing should call M. J. Lamb, chairman of the transportation committee, at Dearborn 0718 and 0719.

Debut Parties for September Near a Record

Buds Will Be Rushed on Two Week-Ends.

several weeks with Miss Edmonds and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Edmonds, in Winnetka. Miss Barron will be a bridesmaid at Miss Edmonds' wedding to William A. Frazer Jr. on Friday, Aug. 30.

The other bridesmaids will be Mrs. John B. Clemens of Wayne, Miss Mary Turner of Evanston, the bride's cousin, and Miss Billie Andersen of Winnetka. Another cousin, Mrs. Harold C. Rittenhouse, of Pontiac, Ill., will be the matron of honor and Miss Margaret Huxley of Evanston will be the honor maid.

George Frazer of Omaha will serve as his brother's best man, and ushering will be Joseph Barker Jr. of Omaha; Robert E. West of Manitowoc; William P. Wilke II. of Hammond, Ind.; Samuel A. Bingham Jr. of Tryon, N. C., and G. Bowman Kreer of Winnetka. Mr. Frazer, who is a son of Mrs. William A. Frazer of Omaha, and his bride will live in Riverside.

The wedding is to take place at 8:30 o'clock in Christ church, Winnetka, with a reception following at the Indian Hill Country club. The rector, the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard, will officiate.

Prenuptial Parties to Start Monday.

The prenuptial festivities for Miss Edmonds will commence on Monday of next week when Miss Andersen gives a luncheon at the Andersen summer home in Lauderdale, Wis. The next day, Tuesday the 13th. Mrs. Kreer will entertain at tea for Miss Edmonds and on the following Tuesday the 20th Mrs. Wallace D. Mackenzie [Betty Gillies] will give a bathroom shower at her home in Evanston.

Miss Rosemary Price of Winnetka will be hostess at a magazine subscription shower on Thursday the 22d, and Mrs. Clemens and her mother, Mrs. Henry Stanton, will entertain the bridal party at the Stantons' beautiful home in Wayne the next day. On Saturday the 24th Miss Mary Lou Laird of Winnetka will give a pantry shower, and on Monday the 26th Miss Katharine Korrady of Winnetka will entertain at tea for Miss Edmonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds will give the bridal dinner at their home in Blackthorne lane on Thursday the 29th, and Miss Huxley will give a luncheon for the bridal party the day of the wedding. Mrs. Frazer will come from Omaha the Sunday before the wedding and George Frazer, who has been traveling in South America this summer, will arrive just the day before the ceremony.

Crane Birthday Party Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Crane II. are in Woods Hole, Mass., today to attend the birthday celebration that will be held there at the residence of Mr. Crane's uncle, for whom he was named. Today is the birthday of the oldest living member of the Crane family—he is 77—and also of his namesake nephew, who is a little more than half his age.

The younger Mr. Crane's sister, Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, did not go east for the celebration for she is too much engrossed with plans for the Lake Geneva Garden club flower show on Aug. 16 and 17 to leave home just now, but the elder Mr. Crane's two sons and two daughters are there. Mrs. Harold Bradley [Josephine Crane] and Mr. Bradley and their seven sons have gone from their home in Madison, Wis.; Mrs. Frances Crane and her two sons are there; John Crane and his wife, the former Teresa Marescotti, have come from their home in Rome, Italy; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane III. and their charming young daughter, Bruce, of Westover, Va., are in Woods Hole for the occasion.

The Frank Lillies, who live in Chicago, have a summer place in Woods Hole so they are there for the celebration of Mrs. Lillie's brother's and nephew's birthday, but the Edmund A. Russells of Lake Forest did not go east for the family party. The senior Mr. Crane, who used to be our minister to China, returned several weeks ago from his annual jaunt to Carlsbad and then came out to Lake Geneva for a visit.

Mrs. Fairbank at Isle Royle.

Mrs. Denison Dunning of Syracuse, N. Y., who was Miss Mary Chatillon, arrived yesterday in Lake Geneva to visit her grandmother, Mrs. Theis J. Lefens and her aunt, Mrs. Frank S. Porter. Mrs. Dunning brought her 20 month old baby with her.

The Henry C. Murphys of the Lake Shore Drive hotel are spending the summer in one of the guest houses on Lakewood farm, the estate of George F. Getz, near Holland, Mich. Senator Arthur Vandenburg and Mrs. Vandenburg of Michigan are occupying the cottage next door.

Western notes: The Robert F. Huseys, Charles Kittle, Miss Jean and Miss Mary Armstrong, the Arthur W. Reebies and their son Earl, and Mrs. Marvin Pool and her son Philip are "hitting the trail" daily at the H. F. Bar ranch in Buffalo, Wyo.

The junior John F. Jelkes and their children have just returned to Lake Forest from the A-Bar-A ranch in Wyoming where they spent a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbert Adams of Winnetka left Saturday for Darien, Conn., to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Lusk.

Mrs. William Pratt Sidley has left Winnetka to join her son and daughter-in-law, the William D. Sidleys, on a ranch they just purchased in Wyoming. It is called the Silver Spur Encampment, and young Mr. and Mrs. Sidley find it a pleasant place to spend the summers. They are living permanently in California now. Mr. Sidley returned Saturday from a brief trip to New York, and will go west later to the Silver Spur.

Lines Designed for Slimness

WOMAN'S DRESS.

Here is a pattern that is a little different for your latest cotton, linen, or tub silk. It's as smart as can be and not difficult to make. The detachable cape that just turns the shoulders at the front is a slimming detail, and the skirt is made slenderizing by the use of gores which give it a slight flare at the hem.

The pattern, No. 2646, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Daily Business Record Needed in Every Home

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The movement to establish home on a better business basis is one worthy of heartfelt coöperation, if for no other reason than to eliminate that oft heard comment: "I don't know where the money goes!" In that sentence is found the kernel of an infinite amount of domestic discord.

The new movement to put home functioning on a better business basis is not to complicate life with great ledgers and entries therein so much as it is to answer the simple question: "Where does the money go?" In this new deal for homes, it is advised that the keeping of any record needs care and accuracy, but it is not necessary to go into the refinements of bookkeeping.

It is not a set of balanced accounts at which the homemaker should aim, but a knowledge of what she is getting for her family and how she might get greater satisfaction from the expenditure of the same amount of money. The housewife is advised to think of the record as a diary of the business actions of the family. Ten minutes a day is all that is required for the average family, and two hours or so each month for a summary should be sufficient. There should be a memorandum book in which expenses are jotted down as made, and these transferred to the regular record where they should be entered under a suitable heading.

BUT the whole success of the plan depends upon using these records for study and to use them as a basis for correcting past mistakes in spending and for making a better plan for the future.

Shorter Skirts Gain Support of Molyneux

PARIS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The biggest surprises in five years in skirt lengths and waistlines distinguish the present showing of winter fashions.

Shorter skirts and lower waistlines gained their most important sanction thus far when Molyneux today displayed both.

His sport and street dresses of modern green, beige, and jersey were designed with both blouses tucked inside an unbelted skirt with waistlines an inch above the hipbones and hemlines 13 or 14 inches from the ground.

Longer afternoon frocks of black crêpe wool were designed with horizontal shirrings at the unbelted waistline and finished with high necklines tied with black taffeta cordings, all topped with three-quarter jackets furred with a astrakhan and nutria.

There were numerous ankle-length, black crêpe cocktail frocks with three and four great, red roses at the lowered neckline.

The hats were small, black, sugar-loaf toques worn dipping over the forehead and designed of panne velvet or astrakhan and trimmed in front with a bunch of anemones, fuchsia, or violets. They were encircled by veils.

Evening gowns were designed of cardinal and borgia red, madonna and sapphire blue, or black velvets. They were featured in instep or floor lengths.

Were you raised in the belief that a good executive is known by the way he gets other people to do his work? If that's the real mark, we know many women who are corking good executives, even those without maids to be capably ordered about. For, instead of roping in other people, these kitchen executives simply turn their work over to this or that piece of equipment.

Right now it's the refrigerator that takes the beating. While the tycoon of the household takes an afternoon off for golf or a bridge game or other unofficial duty, her dinner is undoubtedly chilling and freezing in the care of the able refrigerator.

Since salads become more important in the summer than ever, this same competent home executive specializes, probably, in main dish and dessert salads. She makes them in the cool of the morning and then turns over the work of the day to her underling, the family refrigerator. By dinner time some cool and refreshing dish is ready for the table, plus only a few finishing touches, such as crisp lettuce or a touch of mayonnaise.

The list of such frozen salads is long [practically overwhelming if you want to add molded ones and just plain chilled ones], but here are a few we've been urging of late on our friends:

Frozen Cheese and Date Salad

1 3-ounce package cream cheese
3 tablespoons milk
½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup heavy cream
¼ cup chopped dates
½ cup blanched almonds
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Blend the cream cheese and milk to a smooth paste. Add the mayonnaise, mixing until perfectly smooth, and fold the cheese and mayonnaise mixture into the whipped cream. Add the dates and nut meats [chopped], and lemon juice. Freeze quickly in the tray of an automatic refrigerator. Unmold on lettuce and garnish with additional mayonnaise and maraschino cherries.

Frozen Salmon Loaf

2 cups cold cooked rice
1½ cups salmon, drained and flaked
1 cup cooked peas
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon lemon juice
⅓ cup mayonnaise

IVANHOE SALAD.

Whip one cup of heavy cream and combine with a like amount of mayonnaise and a cup of grated American cheese. Spread in freezing tray of refrigerator and into it pack two cups of drained, canned pear halves. Sprinkle the top with a half cup of additional grated cheese and freeze quickly until firm.

The quickest and simplest of the frozen fruit salads is this: Merely cut finely the fruit from a No. ² can of mixed fruits, combine it with one-half cup of fruit salad dressing [or honey dressing] and one-half cup of heavy cream, whipped, and freeze.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Secretary of State Cordell Hull was the special guest at a luncheon given today by the Bolivian minister, Dr. Don Enrique Finot, in celebration of the 110th anniversary of Bolivian independence.

The newly appointed United States minister to Hayti, George Gordon, is in Washington at the Anchorage, where he will be joined by Mrs. Gordon, who is now at Narragansett Pier. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon arrived in New York last week from Rio de Janeiro, where Mr. Gordon has been counselor of the embassy.

South is on lead.

North and South are to take six tricks against any defense.

Today we are featuring two hands for the price of one . . . or, rather, one and a half hands. But in view of the thought provoking double dummy problem given above we shan't cast any of our gilt edged grand coup hands before you. Enough is enough! You have to get around to the stock market reports some time this afternoon.

No, this hand is something to save for those long winter evenings when you drowsily relax in a great armchair before the open fire and doze over the printed page. It was played at contract whist. South opened the bidding with a spade, North bid three spades, South bid four spades, and North bid six spades. Simple bidding and straight to the point! Nothing is disclosed, either to the opponents or to North and South.

As I mentioned before, contract whist is contract played without a dummy. West opened the nine of spades. North went up with the jack and played a small one back. South taking with the king. South assumed that North held five spades and saw no point in drawing any more trumps. He played a club.

North cashed the ace and king and returned a third round of the suit. South trumped, dropping West's queen, and played back the king and a low diamond. North took with the ace, let South chuck a diamond on the jack of clubs, and played another diamond. What was in North's mind we have been unable to ascertain.

South saw the chance for a spectacular end play. Instead of ruffing he discarded the seven of hearts on the diamond—and West was in. He had to return a heart into the ace, queen. South claimed the balance.

After the hand had been exposed it was discovered that East had held a trump during all this play of clubs, diamonds, and what not. That is the fascination of contract whist. Always something new! A surprise in every package.

Mdivani Princes Leave to Attend Brother's Rites

[ADVERTISMENT.]

NEW FREEDOM! No more wondering and worrying about embarrassing "accidents." For there's a new kind of sanitary napkin now. One with longer tabs that can't pull loose. One that can't strike through. It's called "Certain-Safe" Modess. It's so much safer . . . and it's softer, too. Get a box today.

Scolding Often Gives Rise to Child's Faults

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Scold.

Scold.

What an unpleasant picture it brings of voice, expression, and a beating upon the ears of words of complaint, recrimination, and often unjust accusations regarding past, present, and sometimes future offenses!

How tired children must get of a scolding mother when [consciously or unconsciously, depending upon their years] they crave the fun and friendliness, the praise and quiet correction or quick, wholesome, just reproof of a mother who is kind and mature and poised.

Oddly enough [it may seem] the scolding, nagging, whining mother [yes, mothers can whine as well as children] is most often the one who complains about her children. They're lazy or rude or irritating or impudent, she will tell you. And she doesn't realize that besides setting them a bad example, her scolding is responsible for their unpleasant ways. For they may actually have to become unpleasant, though not nearly as much so as her ways with them warrants.

Parents are grown up. And grownupness should bring with it at least some measure of maturity and poise. Yet I've heard scolding mothers who acted not much older than one of their children—almost descending into the "You did," "I didn't," attitude.

Scolding is a form of disagreeable childishness which robs children of that fine respect and real friendship for their parents. It also robs parents of much of the real joy that the companionship.

We all have moments when we scold, but those moments should be rare. Certainly never should the scolding voice and the scolding face become a habit.

For the mother who feels herself tried beyond bearing our fully written booklet, "Make Patience Your Handmaiden," contains helpful suggestions and some new angles on patience. It will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self addressed envelope.

Nazis Will Show Foreign Films with Jewish Actors

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—(AP)—American and other foreign motion pictures written, produced, or acted by Jews will still be accepted in the reich, Hans Hinkel, new Nazi director of non-Aryan art, said today. He pointed out the question of eliminating Jewish influences from the nation's cultural life was "purely an internal affair."

Mature Woman Needs Fulness in Her Figure

Youthful Slimness Not to Be Her Goal.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Yesterday we talked of ideal figure proportions as presented by a well known corsetiere who declares today's ideal is the loveliest in history. I'll repeat the measurements in case you may have missed them yesterday: Waistline, 23 inches; hipline, 37 inches, and bustline, 34 inches.

But I spoke yesterday, too, of the difference found in figures that may achieve ideal proportions without the ideal resiliency of muscle that really creates the young figure. Proportions, as said, are only proportions. Youth of body is another thing, expressed in the lightness of the walk and the youthful carriage generally. One can go without food and get herself down to tape measure distinction, let's call it. But that still does not make the body any younger looking. Sometimes, indeed, it makes the woman look older if she adds unyielding muscle stiffness to a skinny frame.

To begin with, the older woman doesn't want the "skinny" frame. She wants a pleasing padding of flesh to let the curved lines take the curse off angularities. She's not trying for movie fame. Consequently, there's no need under heaven for her trying to get herself down to a Hepburn silhouette.

On the whole, of course, women are becoming much more sane in this regard, but just yesterday I learned of a case of an idiotic woman in her forties using a young and slim movie star as her ideal. We older ones just must recognize that we need more tissue lining, to keep the cheek and throat from collapsing on us, than does a youngster in her late teens or early twenties. They can go gaunt and still represent youth, but we older ones can't play that game.

We can and should lighten on the food, and we can and should get in a little stretching work, at least daily, to get a muscle suppleness and a resiliency that is the most of youth we can appropriate to ourselves once the gray hairs begin sprouting.

Sally Warns Children to Hurry Letters

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

'Way high up in a skyscraper near the loop is a theater built for boys and girls. It has a stage, with footlights and curtains, beautiful settings and wings—rows and rows of seats—and every single bit of it is done small scale.

And that, boys and girls, is the Jack and Jill theater, the theatrical home of the talented young actors and actresses who form the Jack and Jill players. Under the direction of Marie Agnes Foley these boys and girls present plays all the year 'round, and many of them have been on the radio, several of them having important rôles.

The youngsters who win invitations to come with me to see them present "Water Babies" on Aug. 15 will receive especially autographed programs.

Now, if you haven't already done so, you still have time to write in and request an invitation to this party. Providing, of course, that you mail the letter today, because bright and early tomorrow morning I'm going to read all the letters received and award invitations to 50 of the boys and 50 of the girls who write the best letters.

So if you want to see "Water Babies" a week from Thursday be sure that the mail man gets your letter today without fail. Tell me why you want to come, your full name, address and age, and address the envelope to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Of the many flower basket patterns, this is fairly simple to applique. Its gay effectiveness is gained through the use of bright but harmonious colors, such as rose, yellow, green, blue, and gold. No matter how many quilts there were in the early colonial chests there always was one "Flower Basket." The diagram accompanying the quilt pattern illustrates the beauty of the completed coverlet.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Schenken's Team of 4 Wins Bridge League's Tourney

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Howard Schenken, Mrs. Helen Bonwit, Ruth Sherman, and Louis H. Watson captured the team-of-four event of the American Bridge league's annual summer tournament today with 39½ match points.

Trailing Schenken's team by a half point were the favored Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Jacoby, Waldemar Von Zedtwitz, and Mrs. Mary Clement. Both of the teams were from New York.

After leading the field of 21 teams in the first day's play, the defending champions, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bachner of New York, playing with Mr. and Mrs. Millard Kaiser of St. Louis, stumped badly today and finished fifth with 33 points.

LOOK! YOU FOLKS WITH NATURALLY SKINNY BUILDS!

Kelpamalt, the New Mineral Concentrate from the Sea — Rich in Newer Form of NATURAL IODINE . . . Guarantees 5 Lbs. in 1 Week or No Cost!

Men and Women Everywhere Amazed At Results!

Thousands of thin, pale, rundown folks—and even "Naturally Skinny" men and women—are amazed at this new easy way to put on healthy needed pounds quickly. Gains of 15 to 20 lbs. in one month, 5 lbs. in 1 week, are reported regularly.

Kelpamalt, the new mineral concentrate from the sea, gets right down to the cause of thin, underweight conditions and adds pounds of solid flesh by a "2 ways in 1" natural process. First, its rich supply of easily assimilable minerals stimulates the digestive glands which produce the juices that alone enable you to digest fats and starches, the weight-making elements in your daily diet. And these minerals are needed by virtually every organ and for every function of the body. Second, Kelpamalt is rich in NATURAL IODINE—a mineral needed by the vital organ which regulates metabolism — the process through which the body is constantly building firm, solid flesh, new strength and energy. 6 Kelpamalt tablets contain more NATURAL IODINE than 486 lbs. of spinach or 1,660 lbs. of beef. More iron and copper than 2 lbs. of spinach or 15 lbs. of fresh tomatoes. More calcium than 1 doz. eggs. More phosphorus than 3 lbs. of carrots. Try Kelpamalt for a single week and notice the difference—how much better you feel, how ordinary stomach distress vanishes, how firm flesh appears in place of scrawny hollows—and the new energy and strength it brings you. Kelpamalt is prescribed and used by physicians. Fine for children, too. Remember the name, Kelpamalt, the original kelp and malt tablets. Nothing like them, so don't accept imitations. Start Kelpamalt today. If you don't gain at least 5 lbs. in 1 week the trial is free.

3 Kelpamalt Tablets Contain:
1. More Iron and Copper than 1 lb. of spinach, 7½ lbs. fresh tomatoes, 3 lbs. of asparagus.
2. More Calcium than 1 lb. of cabbage.
3. More Phosphorus than 1½ lbs. of carrots.
4. More Sulphur than 2 lbs. of tomatoes.
5. More Sodium than 3 lbs. of turnips.
6. More Potassium than 6 lbs. of beans.
7. More Magnesium than 1 lb. of celery.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Tonight is the night when Joe Louis, former Golden Gloves champion, will knock out King Levinsky at Comiskey park. Pardon, this is the night when King Levinsky, one time fish peddler, loops his famous right to the Louis jaw for a knockout. Well, perhaps the boys will prance through ten rounds to a decision.

These possibilities have Pop Dearborn up in the air. What will happen? It's 2 to 1 that the Brown Bomber will win, but how and when? And there is Levinsky money which seeks long odds that the King will come out on top.

Last night Sol Katz, ticket czar, had banked more than $120,000. Apparently the bout will produce $200,000 with the final splurge coming this afternoon when the $2.40 seats, which are reserved by section only, go on sale at 3 o'clock. Forty thousand are expected to attend. There are 30,000 seats at all prices still available.

No Broadcast.

There will be no broadcast. The sole exception to this rule will be the special telephone wire from ringside to the Hines Memorial hospital over which Bob Elson of W-G-N will give a continuous description for the benefit of the 1,700 wounded veterans. More than 50 wires will carry blow by blow descriptions to newspapers, but these will not be available for radio stations.

Louis and Levinsky chose to spend the night before the scrap out of the city. Louis was sequestered at Julian Black's Michigan summer home. The King rested at Round Lake, scene of his training. The rivals will motor this morning to the offices of the Illinois athletic commission, 5 South Wabash avenue, where at 12:30 o'clock they will be examined and given the routine instructions. Others on tonight's card will be greeted by the officials at 1 o'clock.

Louis will be seconded tonight by co-Manager Black, Jack Blackburn, and Larry Amades. Levinsky will have Harold Steinman, Issy Kline, and Art Winch supervising his corner. Kline and Winch have been borrowed from the ménage of Barney Ross, Chicago's welterweight champion of the world.

Lena Promises, but——

Lena Levy, sister-manager of Levinsky, whose shrill voice has been heard these many years encouraging the King to sock various gents in various places, has agreed to sit silent throughout the proceedings. This resolve may be taken in stride as one vacates the resolutions of a new year. Some time this evening the war cry of the Krackows probably will reverberate through the ringside and Leaping Lena will be back in form.

Last night Poker Face Joe, undefeated in 23 professional bouts, 19 of which he has won by knockouts, vouched that he would add the Levinsky scalp to his collection. Five rounds is Joe's idea of the length of the battle. Without urging, the clouting King, who has belted all of his major opponents, except the giant Carnera and Max Baer, to the floor at least once, was of the opinion he would need about five rounds to hammer Louis to the floor. Some one must be wrong.

"This guy Louis," the Kingfish said, "never had no punch hit him like the punch I got. He's my cousin and they can hold the funeral anytime."

The King Is Serious.

The general idea is that Levinsky is serious. He has trained better than at any time in his colorful career, and while condition won't win without expert exertion, it does make Louis' problem more difficult than if Levinsky, the clown, were to saunter from his corner his usual obese and frolicing self.

Messrs. Kline and Winch have impressed the King with the necessity of covering the Levinsky chin. They have urged the King to tear in close, throw those Maxwell street dukes

Girl Sues Vosmik; Asks for $100,000

Cleveland, O., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Joe Vosmik, Cleveland Indian star slugger and outfielder, was accused of jilting an attractive 29 year old girl in a breach of promise suit filed in Common Pleas court today.

MINNIE BAHR.

Miss Minnie Bahr, formerly of Norfolk, Neb., filed the petition through her attorney, Benjamin Sacharow, alleging Joe's refusal to marry her as promised caused her mental and physical anguish valued by her at $100,000.

Miss Bahr states in her suit that Vosmik agreed to marry her in October, 1928, but at a later date refused to keep his pledge. His attentions ceased in August, 1934, she claimed. She also alleged Joe "made violent protestations of allegedly undying love" since he met her shortly after she arrived here from Nebraska ten years ago. Miss Bahr is employed in a steel company office.

Vosmik, who could not be reached for comment on the suit, is a Cleveland sandlotter who made good in big league baseball. He is leading the American league in batting.

His baseball career started with East Tech High school here and progressed through the sandlots until 1928, when he was signed by a team in Frederick, Md. Joe next played with Terre Haute in the Three Eye league. From there he returned to Cleveland and the Indians in 1930.

Vosmik said in a published interview in 1933 that he did not intend to get married. He is 25 years old.

Homer Ruins Henshaw's Hope of Shutout.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Roy Henshaw, the tiny southpaw, met up with his cousins, the Pirates from Pittsburgh, again yesterday and the Cubs used the meeting as a means of covering some valuable ground in their campaign to catch up with the pacemaking Giants. The young left-hander simply threw a batch of mystifying curve balls and the Pittsburghers succumbed, 2 to 1, making the fifth time they have collapsed before him this season. It also was his ninth triumph.

While Henshaw's performance was good enough to warant a favorable conclusion, his effort might have gone to waste if his opponent, Ralph Birkofer, also a southpaw, hadn't become deeply involved in his own strategy. The visiting left-hander, thinking he could turn a double play on one of several bad bunts by the Cubs, merely precipitated a pair of errors, one by himself. The upshot of the brainstorm was two runs on one hit in the third inning and two runs proved sufficient.

Birkofer Yields Only 4 Hits.

The portly Mr. Birkofer, while careless about executing what would have been a swell idea had it worked, was not at all big hearted about yielding hits. He gave up only four, all of them singles in different innings. The hits were equally divided by Bill Jurges and Frank Demaree. Birkofer also made himself annoying by fanning six, Cavarretta being the victim on two occasions. Another thing the large sized left-hander accomplished was the stopping of Walter Rebel Stephenson, who had attained six hits in 12 times at bat in three previous games. The young fellow couldn't get the ball out of the infield in four attempts.

Henshaw, who boasts two shutouts over his cousins, was well on the way to another until Bud Hafey, former White Sox rookie, cast his ballot in the seventh. The Coast league graduate ruined the whitewash idea by sailing a homer beyond the left field wall. Hafey was the only Pirate to travel farther than second, although they had runners on base in seven of the nine innings.

Cubs Score Twice.

The funny home third when the Cubs scored their two runs began with Jurges pushing a bunt past Birkofer. Henshaw also bunted, the scheme being to get Jurges to second. The bunt was just a puny fly ball and just as Birkofer was about to catch it he was smitten by a swell idea. He caught the ball but immediately dropped it and promptly became confused by his own strategy.

The maneuver also confused the Cub runners but only for a moment. Jurges, seeing the ball was going to

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

JOE LOUIS, who came from nowhere in 15 months to become the most sensational athlete of his day, has a chance tonight to establish himself as boxing's greatest attraction since Jack Dempsey. . . . If he disposes of King Levinsky as convincingly as he did Primo Carnera and his other professional opponents, he stands to make a million. . . . Louis lives in Detroit, but he probably never would have been heard of if it hadn't been for Chicago. . . . It was here that he first attracted attention as a potential champion and it was in Chicago rings that he did nearly all his professional fighting until he went to New York to whip Carnera. . . . The toughest bouts he has had were in Chicago. . . . Strangely enough, they weren't in professional contests. . . . They were in the 1934 Golden Gloves tournament at Chicago Stadium. . . . Neither before nor since has he encountered such rugged opposition. . . . Ask Louis for confirmation. . . . He won two of his bouts in the world's biggest amateur tournament by the narrowest of margins. . . . Had the decision in either case gone against him, he might easily have passed into fistic oblivion. . . .

Levinsky expects to trade in his automobile for a new one, no matter what the outcome of tonight's bout at Comiskey park. . . . He will be paid $250 for a five minute radio interview with Paul Gallico of the New York Daily News on a national program tomorrow night. . . . Monty Stratton, the gangling youth who is the pitching sensation of the American association, probably will be called in by the White Sox after Labor day. . . . The Sox farmed him to the St. Paul club after last spring's training trip. . . . Bohn Hilliard of Texas, chosen as a half back on the College All-Star team, has been playing baseball this summer with the Gladewayer Bears in the West Dixie league. . . . His first football feat at Texas was a 105 yard run from scrimmage against Rice freshmen in 1931. . . . Hilliard scored the touchdown that gave Texas a 7 to 6 victory over Notre Dame last fall. . . . Jack Dempsey's young sister, Elsie, has an important rôle in "The Last Days of Pompeii," an R. K. O. movie in production. . . . Dempsey, by the way, has given up cigar smoking and taken to chewing. . . .

Joe Louis certainly softens 'em up. . . . Lee Ramage, twice defeated by the Golden Gloves champion, is now managing and coaching a girls softball team in San Diego. . . . John C. Depler, Zuppke's new assistant at Illinois, was playing in a game for the Illini at center shortly after the war when he happened to catch the opening kickoff of the opposing team. . . . He tucked it under his arm and started to run. . . . Almost simultaneously the entire enemy team hit him and pounced on top of him. . . . Illinois had made a fine gain as a result of the break but Depler wasn't satisfied. . . . He was captain of the team, so he called the players together very much irritated and said, "What was the matter with you fellows? Where in hell was my interference!" . . . The point, of course, is that there was no chance for interference to form on such a play. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—The Mickey Walker-Billy Wells title bout at East Chicago was postponed on account of rain. . . . Sybil Bauer broke the 220 yard back stroke record at Detroit. . . . Ted Lyons held the Red Sox to three hits as the White Sox won, 2 to 0. . . . Flagstaff, with Jocky L. Schaefer up, won the East End Handicap at Hawthorne. . . . Philadelphia defeated Cleveland, 2 to 0, in 65 minutes and thereby established an American league record for the shortest game.

Final Vote on Coaches

Final returns in the nation-wide poll to determine the coaching staf of the College All-Stars, who meet the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 29, follow:

W-G-N DRAWS UP TWELVE GAME FOOTBALL CARD

Will Broadcast Contests on Both Coasts.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A tentative football schedule of twelve games, including four intersectional contests, was drawn yesterday by the management of W-G-N with the coöperation of football experts of The Tribune's sports staf. The broadcasts are confined to contests between schools which are not selling their football broadcasting rights exclusively. W-G-N, as well as WENR and WMAQ, have announced that they will not carry commercially sponsored football broadcasts this season.

On the W-G-N schedule are contests on both coasts—the Illinois game with Southern California at Los Angeles on Oct. 12; the Army-Notre Dame game at New York City, Nov. 16, and the Army-Navy game at New York City on Nov. 30. The Notre Dame-Southern California game at South Bend on Nov. 23 also will be carried. W-G-N's invasion of the east and far west will be in line with custom. The station has reported games at great distances from Chicago every season.

Thirteen universities, including seven Big Ten names, are on the tentative schedule. The season will open Sept. 28 with Kansas at Notre Dame and wind up with the service teams' game on Nov. 30. The tentative schedule:

Sept. 28—Kansas at Notre Dame.
Oct. 5—Washington U. at Illinois.
Oct. 12—Notre Dame at Wisconsin and Illinois at Southern California.
Oct. 19—Pittsburgh at Notre Dame.
Oct. 26—Northwestern at Minnesota or Iowa at Illinois.
Nov. 2—Notre Dame at Ohio State.
Nov. 9—Northwestern at Notre Dame or Michigan at Illinois.
Nov. 16—Army vs. Notre Dame at New York and Ohio State at Illinois.
Nov. 23—Southern California at Notre Dame.
Nov. 30—Army vs. Navy at New York.

Because of difference in time W-G-N expects to be able to broadcast both an intersectional and midwestern game on Oct. 12 and Nov. 16.

No N. U., Chicago Game.

No home games at Northwestern or Chicago are shown on the schedule because both schools have announced their intention of selling exclusive broadcast rights. But with three of the four major Chicago channels barring sponsored football, and WBBM, the remaining one, already committed to a sponsor who has announced that he is not considering the exclusive offers of Northwestern and Chicago, it appears that if these two institutions do find a buyer, only the smaller stations will be available as outlets.

You Better Hurry!

~~$2.20~~—$1.65—$1.10

All $2.20 seats for the football game between the College All-Stars and the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' Field Aug. 29 have been sold. Only $1.65 and $1.10 seats are available.

The chance to see this huge football spectacle is not gone, however. There are thousands of good seats left at $1.65 and $1.10. These prices include tax. All seats are reserved.

Tickets are on sale at The Tribune's Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn and on the first floor of The Tribune Tower. If you can't get to the ticket office, make out a money order or check to The Chicago Tribune and mail your application to the Football Ticket Manager, Chicago Tribune.

Everybody's going. Order your tickets today or you're going to be among the disappointed.

LOCATELLI WINS TEN ROUND BOUT FROM DUBLINSKY

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Cleto Locatelli, lightweight champion of Italy, tonight won a close ten round decision from Harry Dublinsky, Chicago, before 6,000 in the Coney Island velodrome. Locatelli weighed 139½, and Dublinsky 137½.

Dublinsky put on his usual strong finish, but Locatelli's early lead was sufficient to swing the decision. Starting with the seventh, when he opened a bad cut over the Italian's left eye, Dublinsky captured three of the last four rounds.

Borries Coming

FRED BORRIES, star half back of last year's Naval academy football team, yesterday was given permission to join the College All-Stars for the game with the Bears. Approval was granted by Admiral Harris Laning, commander of the battle force, Pacific fleet. Ensign Borries, who is attached to the U. S. S. Arizona, now maneuvering in the northwest, will be put ashore at San Francisco tomorrow.

BY ARCH WARD.

Frank Thomas, coach of the University of Alabama's Rose Bowl football champions, will lead the College All-Americans against the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field Aug. 29.

Thomas won the honor in a coast to coast poll sponsored by The Chicago Tribune and 105 associated newspapers that attracted the staggering total of 7,317,821 votes. It was a brilliant tribute to college football, a nation's sport.

His assistants will be Charles Bachman of Michigan State, Dr. C. W. Spears of Wisconsin, and Edward Madigan of St. Mary's, who finished in the order named. Invitations were wired to all four last night to appear at Northwestern university Monday morning prepared to take charge of the greatest squad ever presented to a college coaching staf.

Sport's Most Amazing Contest.

The players were chosen by the same method as the coaches in a national poll that drew 737,918 votes. There will be 44 on the squad, the best from the east, south, Pacific coast, and middle west. Numbered among the athletes are the captains of the Harvard and Princeton elevens, the star of the Naval academy team, and the man who won The Tribune's most valuable player trophy in 1934, Pug Lund of Minnesota.

The coaches' poll was the most amazing sports contest ever conducted. Two governors, Frank Fitzgerald of Michigan and Paul McNutt of Indiana, made radio appeals in support of Charles Bachman and Bo McMillin, respectively. Gov. Graves of Alabama and 102 members of the state legislature cast a solid vote for Thomas. Newspapers and radio stations throughout the country have been buried under an avalanche of votes for the last five days.

Thomas wound up in Alabama alone with 376,892 first place votes, all of which came through the Birmingham News and Age Herald. President Roosevelt in 1932 polled only 208,222 votes in Alabama.

He's Happy but Exhausted.

After the last vote from Alabama had been forwarded to The Tribune Zipp Newman, sports editor of the Birmingham News, wired: "Take your contest. We all need vacations."

If the four leaders accept the honor conferred upon them by the fans the staf will be composed of a coach from the south, one from the coast, and two from the middle west, a conference and a nonconference man. If one or more are unable to come, the men next in line, Bo McMillin of Indiana and Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, will be asked to serve.

The first football poll, inaugurated by The Tribune last year with the coöperation of 22 newspapers, developed 167,000 votes for players and 615,000 for coaches. Noble Kizer of Purdue, who won the coaches' contest, was not a candidate this year. Once a coach has won the poll he is not eligible to run again.

San Francisco made a valiant effort to elect Slip Madigan. The last day vote from the Chronicle, which conducted the poll in the bay district, gave the St. Mary's leader 76,579 first place votes. More than 300,000 individual voters cast their ballot for Madigan through the Chronicle. That represents approximately 10 per cent of the total population of northern California.

Home Town Comes Through.

"Sunday was the day for celebration of the Rebel Cork association in San Francisco. That's the annual conclave of all the Irishmen around, and boy, in this section, that's something. There were 25,000 there. Madigan backers came away with nearly 20,000 signed votes. Another group went up Russian river, which is a popular resort teeming with people, and came back with all the signatures and addresses it would be possible for three men to collect in a day.

"If Slip doesn't win it is going to be tough to explain to a lot of Irishmen who have done nothing but arouse this community in his behalf for the last five days."

Madigan could not have earned a place on the coaching staf, however, without the support of his old friends in downstate Illinois and Chicago. The Republican Times of Ottawa, Madigan's boyhood home, turned in 58,943 first place votes, which were collected from an area embracing a population of 200,000. Aurora, Elgin, Streator, Peoria, Joliet, La Salle, and Marseilles contributed heavily to the Madigan total.

Charles Bachman's votes probably came from a wider range than any other candidate's. Michigan, of course, deserves credit for landing him in second place. Two radio talks by Gov. Fitzgerald and the united efforts of the newspapers and radio stations of the state gave him an enormous vote. He got more than 150,000 through the Lansing State Journal in the last 48 hours alone. Lansing served as a clearing house for many points in the state.

The Jacksonville [Fla.] Times Union also rolled up thousands of votes for the Michigan State leader, as did the Kansas City Star. Bachman formerly coached in those localities. Chicago, where he began his football career at Englewood High school and coached at Northwestern, also added heavily to his total.

Dr. Spears owes his success in earning a job as an All-Star coach to the undivided support he received from the fans of Wisconsin. The Wisconsin State Journal, which turned in 174,656 first place votes representing a score of cities in the central part of the state—Milwaukee, Green Bay, and Manitowoc—went to the front for him in a big way.

Spears picked up the greatest number of second place votes of any man in the field. This was traceable to the support he received from the Thomas backers in the steel mill district of Gary, East Chicago, and Hammond. Thomas likewise scored heavily as second choice throughout Wisconsin.

McMillin Fifth Choice.

Bo McMillin, who will get the first invitation to join the staf if any of the leading four is unable to come, received unanimous support of Indiana's congressmen. Among those who cast their votes for the former Centre college star were Senators Sherman Minton and Frederick Van Nuys and the state's 13 representatives in Washington.

Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, who finished sixth, swept South Bend as completely as other leaders did their home localities. He rolled up an amazing vote in the Davenport Times poll and picked up by far the heaviest miscellaneous vote of any man in the contest. Layden discouraged any organized effort in his support.

One of the interesting developments of the poll was the 218,708 votes accumulated by A. A. Stagg. He finished 12th in a field of 63. Apparently thousands still believe that the man who spent 41 years on the Midway and now is nearing his 73d birthday is strong enough for the biggest assignment in football.

Good for All.

The greatest poll in sport is over. For some it has been a thrilling adventure. For others probably keen disappointment. But we hope that all feel, whether they were winners or losers, that they have come out of the competition with something gained. A coach's worth is not measured entirely by a popularity contest, and, after all, that's what a national poll amounts to. The 63 whose names appeared daily for two weeks have the consolation of knowing that they were a part of the biggest event of its kind sport has known.

THE TRIBUNE is deeply appreciative of the remarkable coöperation it has received from the press of America, particularly the 105 newspapers who assisted in shattering all records for sports promotions.

BRITISH POLO TRIO ARRIVES FOR OPEN MEET

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Members of a team which on handicap equals the strongest American combination in the tournament, three British polo players arrived today on the Majestic, completing the squad of five which will compete for the United States open championship starting Sept. 7.

What four men the British polo authorities will select to challenge for the international cup is not definitly known.

The players who arrived today were Capt. P. B. Sanger, regarded as the leading player in India; Capt. Humphrey Guinness and Eric Tyrell-Martin. They are rated at eight goals apiece.

Their teammates, Captains Michael P. Ansell and H. C. Walford, six and seven goals respectively, arrived yesterday with 34 ponies, 16 grooms and a farrier.

EVA MORRISON MAY TRY CHANNEL SWIM TODAY

DEAL, England, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Weather permitting, Eva Morrison, 25 year old Boston hospital librarian, will make her attempt to swim the English channel tomorrow or Thursday. If she defers her effort beyond Thursday she may have to wait a month for favorable tides.

Miss Morrison, who has trained systematically under the famous channel-swimming "twins," Capt. Harry Pearson and Billie Kellingley, expects not only to conquer the rough, choppy waters easily, but to do it in record time.

The present record for the England to France crossing is 15 hours 55 seconds, set by E. H. Temme of England last year. The France to England record was set at 10 hours 45 minutes by V. Spacek of Bohemia in 1927.

Marshall, Adams Formulate Plans for Braves Deal

Boston, Mass., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Charles F. Adams and George Preston Marshall today laid the ground work of a deal to turn over the Boston Braves to new interests.

When the long conference ended early tonight Marshall, owner of the Boston Redskins professional football team and a chain of laundries in Washington, agreed to head a corporation that would put in much new working capital and assume active direction of the National league's last place ball club.

Adams, who controls 9,500 shares of the 14,200 outstanding, explained he and the other stockholders would be protected by retaining ownership of all the ball players now on the club roster.

"Nothing definite was accomplished today," Marshall said. "I have made an offer and it remains for Mr. Adams and the club's creditors to act upon it."

During the conference, Adams proved the Braves solvency by producing the club's books, which showed a profit of $20,000 as of July 1, despite its woeful 1935 playing record. The club had Babe Ruth to thank for most of this surprising profit.

Mathisen Goes to 3d Round of City Golf

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

While Harold Mathisen, Big Run's golfing chemist, was blending a variety of shots for a 5 and 4 victory yesterday in the defense of his city amateur championship at Jackson park, the rest of the brothers in the town's oldest tournament were having more of a time of it.

The profusion of professionals which the amateur annually attracts was more than apparent as the field for today's third round was reduced to 32. Five of the second round battles in the championship flight were stretched to an extra hole for decision.

Play Extra Hole Matches.

In one of these, Gordon Rittenhouse, the former University of Chicago water poloist who upset Al Anderegen in the first round, went to the 19th thole before he eliminated William Anderson of Longwood. Playing in the same foursome, Joe O'Hanley of Southmoor, former Notre Dame golfer now in the insurance business, was also forced to go to the 19th to win from Jim Williamson of the home club.

In another extra inning debate, Bill Ennis, home club star, had to drop a 40 foot putt for a birdie on the 19th to win from Eddie Joyce, one of the tourney favorites. John Slebos of Westgate Valley, a native Hollander and a carpenter, defeated Ernie Bones, Jackson Park contractor, 1 up on the 19th after being 4 down. Keith Morrison of Jackson won on the 19th from Jake Knanishu of Lincoln park, with a big 6, Jake taking a 7 on the par 4 hole. Both were in traps and bushes.

Gus Fetz Wins.

Other favorites also advanced but not without an argument in some cases. Pete Miller, Jackson park, a former champion, went to the home green to defeat Eddie Kletcke, Beverly caddy, 2 up, and Gus Fetz of Lawrence Grove, another former title-holder, was carried to the 17th by John Jemsk of Cog Hill before he won, 3 and 1.

Harold [Mush] March, star wing of the Blackhawk hocky team, who recently finished third in the Saskatchewan open, made a solo rush to score a 6 and 5 triumph over Denvir Busby, three time Lincolnshire champion.

Mathisen won his 5 and 4 match from Carter Hyde of Jackson park. Hank Foley of Glendale, runner up last year, had little trouble winning from Ed Wiech of River Forest, 6 and 5.

Sixteen matches will be played in today's third round, with a double round tomorrow. Friday's two semi-finals and Saturday's championship battle, all will be at 46 holes.

Dick Henry, Ridge, drew a bye.
Bill Ward, Jackson, drew a bye.
Bob Oppenheimer, Idlewild, defeated Harold Madden, Lincolnshire, 6 and 5.
Ty Bulger, Oak Hills, defeated Joe Walsh, Lansing Airport, 3 and 2.
J. B. Catch, Hillmoor, defeated R. F. Johnson, Euclid Hills, 1 up.
Bobby McLean, Mid City, drew a bye.
Bud Swats, Lincolnshire, defeated Ernie Simmons, Oak Hills, 2 and 1.
James Goldsmith, Idlewild, defeated Chris Miller, Oak Hills, 2 up.
Lew Houlding, Jackson, defeated L. J. Pitcher, Rensselaer, Ind., 3 and 2.
Frank McNamara, Lincolnshire, drew a bye.
Gus Fetz, Lawrence Grove, defeated John Jemsek, Cog Hill, 3 and 2.
Jake Krutilla, Hickory Hills, drew a bye.
Carl Jankowski, Westgate, drew a bye.
R. A. Bowker, Jackson, drew a bye.

King George Visits American Sloop Yankee

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—For the first time in eighty-four years a British sovereign boarded an American racing vessel when King George V. of Great Britain today visited Gerard Lambert's sloop Yankee. Both the king's Britannia and the Yankee are competing in the Cowes regatta, but neither raced today, so the king took the opportunity to inspect the American challenger anchored close to the royal yacht Victoria and Albert.

Hughes Makes Hole in One on Edgewood Valley Links

O'MAHONEY IS WINNER.

Lincolnshire Is 17½ to 9½ Victor Over Midlothian

Lincolnshire's golf team took the lead of the South Side league at South Shore yesterday, beating Midlothian, 17½ to 9½, in a team match. Midlothian held second place, but is pushed by South Shore, which defeated Ravisloe, 25 to 2.

Olympia Fields defeated Idlewild, 16 to 11, and Flossmoor won, 18½ to 8½, from Calumet in other matches. Bill Andrews, Lincolnshire, had a card of 33—33—66 to lead the field. Eddie Murphy, Midlothian, scored 68; Russell Martin, Flossmoor, 69; Fred Newton, South Shore, 70, and Merrill Lord, Flossmoor, 71.

On the west side, at Glen Oak, Elmhurst displaced Oak Park in first place and Hinsdale moved from seventh to fifth. Glen Oak had an easy time in its match with Riverside, winning 22 to 5. Hinsdale defeated Westward Ho, 16½ to 10½; Medinah won from Brookwood, 17½ to 9½, and Elmhurst beat Oak Park, 16 to 11.

Charley Smead, Chicago district junior champion, was low with 73. Don Heppes, Glen Oak, had 74, and Al Lays, Glen Oak, carded 75.

Taps day, annual invitational tournament of the Westward Ho Golf club, will top the Chicago district program today. The tourney will be held over the 27 hole route. A list of 48 prizes, one of the heaviest of the season, will be offered to members and guests.

In addition to the festivities at the Melrose Park club, the North Shore league will hold one of its regular series of matches at Illinois, and Medinah will be host to the Tripoli club of Milwaukee in an intercity team match. Tom and Sandy Armour, Medinah, will play a special match with Johnny Revolta, Tripoli pro, and his assistant.

Tomorrow's program is headed by the 32d annual Midlothian Pater-Filius, one of the best tournaments on the season's calendar. The Pater-Filius this year will be featured by the addition of a special division for professionals and their sons. Calumet will hold its annual Plae Dae invitational tomorrow also.

Honors in serious golfing went to Mrs. John Gertenrich yesterday in the Elmgate Golf club's annual woman's hullabaloo, while Mrs. Joe Kortman, Northbrook, was the prize winner in the amusing competition that accompanied the awarding of prizes for the most freakishly dressed contestant. One hundred and ten competed for the golfing and costume prizes awarded by Buck Kelly, course professional, and Gene O'Reilly. Results:

ARKY VAUGHAN BOOSTS BIG SIX AVERAGE TO .400

Arky Vaughan, leader of all major league hitters, edged himself up two points to an even .400 yesterday as Buddy Myer, Washington second baseman, entered the big six with a field day against the Athletics. Vaughan's two hits in three tries against the Cubs kept him far ahead of the field. Myer, with four out of five, jumped six points to .337, dislodging Roger Cramer of the Athletics. The standing:

Miss Jacobs Is Eager to Meet Mrs. Moody Again

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Miss Helen Jacobs, returning from foreign courts today on the Majestic, expressed bright pleasure and modified confidence when informed that Mrs. Helen Wills Moody had expressed an intention of playing in the women's national championships at Forest Hills.

"O, good," Miss Jacobs said, evidently looking forward to another chance to play Mrs. Moody, who beat her at Wimbledon in a close three set match. Efforts were made to make Miss Jacobs predict the outcome of their next meeting. She declined to express any confidence.

"No player in the world," she pointed out, "can meet a player of Mrs. Moody's caliber and feel overconfident."

She said that Mrs. Moody's game seemed to her as steady as ever, but that her rival "may not be hitting as hard as she used to."

Miss Jacobs indicated that she felt her strategy might have been better in the Wimbledon match.

"I didn't go to the net as often as I did in 1933," she said. That was the year Mrs. Moody, trailing 3-0 in the third set, defaulted. "I feel that that failure was partly responsible for my defeat."

AUTO DRIVEN BY BABE RUTH HITS WOMAN OF 58

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Mrs. Julia Straus, 58 years old, was knocked down and injured today when she walked into the path of an automobile driven by George Herman [Babe] Ruth. Ruth placed Mrs. Straus in his car and drove her to the Jewish Memorial hospital. He then telephoned to the police.

The police said Ruth had been driving with the green light and had no chance to stop. They placed responsibility for the accident on Mrs. Straus and took no action against the baseball player.

Physicians said Mrs. Straus suffered a brain concussion and leg bruises.

MARATHON WINNERS.

The two mile marathon swim carried on by the women's division of the Englewood Y. M. C. A. was won by Mrs. Betty Thornton in the morning class and Mrs. Viola Gowdy in the evening class.

Ross Plans Portland Bout on Coast Trip

Barney Ross may make his first fight since he regained the welterweight title by beating Jimmy McLarnin last June, at Portland, Ore., late this month. Co-Managers Sam Pian and Art Winch are planning a tour of the Pacific coast for Ross. Barney, who Monday returned from a business trip to New York, believes his thumb, fractured against McLarnin, has healed.

Bert Rubi and Turp Grimes will be the rival performers in the main event of a wrestling show tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Supporting bouts will bring together Dale Haddock and Cyclone Burns, Walter Logan and Jim Heffner, Jack Gacek and Ernie Peterson.

The mat troupe, headed by Everett Marshall of La Junta, Colo., is represented by Fred Kohler in Chicago. Kohler appeared before the Illinois athletic commission yesterday seeking championship recognition for Marshall here. Chairman Joe Triner and Commissioners George Getz and Packey McFarland refused the request, saying Danno O'Mahoney is recognized as heavyweight wrestling champion in Illinois. Permission was given Kohler to promote a bout between Marshall and Casey Birger at Marigold Gardens a week from tonight.

Jackie Reed will clash with Russ Nyberg, and Ben Miller is paired with Eddie Gapp in two of seven amateur contests to be presented at Northwest stadium Friday. F. M.

PEACOCK EQUALS WORLD MARK IN 100 METER DASH

BASEL, Switzerland, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Led by Eulace Peacock, colored athlete from Temple university, who equaled the listed world record of 10.3 seconds for the 100 meter dash, touring American track and field athletes dominated an international meet today. They captured twelve out of thirteen events.

Peacock, Phil Cope of Southern California and Cornelius Johnson, Los Angeles, colored star, figured in three victories apiece, including the relays.

LOUIS BATTLES LEVINSKY AT COMISKEY PARK

from the position which leaves slight opportunity for Louis to reciprocate. The plan, as conceived, has been followed daily in training, but occasionally Levinsky has lapsed to his catch as catch can style. When he does, and if he does, Levinsky may have to ask what hit him.

Louis has been built up in the public imagination as a ruthless machine. His assault against Carnera in his New York debut six weeks ago is responsible. But Joe's record doesn't make him a perfect fighting machine. Many of his victories have been scored against inferior opponents who were beaten before they entered the ring, just as Charley Retzlaff, whom Levinsky knocked out in one round, was thoroughly frightened before the bell rang.

The King May Sneer.

Natie Brown, an indifferent heavyweight, Patsy Peronni, Adolph Walter, and even Jack Kranz, a hit and run fighter, have shown that Louis can't win by a knockout every time out. Moreover, Levinsky will not be the same ponderous, slow moving target that Louis met in Carnera.

Bill Duffy, Carnera's manager, tried for days to arouse the Italian. He thought that sheer anger might confuse Louis, that bull-like charges would achieve a victory. Carnera, placid and complacent, never roared in defiance. Levinsky may. Then, if the King can score a knock down, the 40,000 customers will find an answer to the question: "Can Louis take it?"

Not since the night eight years ago when Gene Tunney won from Jack Dempsey at Soldiers' field has a Chicago fight attracted such a representative gathering of the nation's civic and business leaders. William F. Carey, former president of Madison Square Garden, is coming from New York on a special train which is bringing 100 fans. Governors from several states will be at the ringside and the press of the larger cities have descended on the city.

Sheldon Clark will be host to 300 prominent folk. Among those present will be Vincent Bendix, John R. Thompson, Gene Tunney, Gen. Robert Wood, Michael Igoe, United States district attorney; Walter J. Cummings, P. D. Block, Bernard Gimbel, C. V. Whitney, Warren Wright, Stuyvesant Peabody, Edward E. Cudahy, Mayor Frank Hague, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, of New York; I. Newton Perry, Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, Col. Matt Winn, Otto W. Lehmann, Charles McCullough, John P. Harding, Dr. John P. O'Connell, Charles W. Bidwell, Leonard Hicks, Louis Comiskey, Judge Kenesaw Landis, Harry Grabiner, Walter Chrysler, Pat Joyce, Gov. Guy B. Park, of Missouri; Sewell Avery, Gov. Fitzgerald, of Michigan; Samuel Insull Jr., Lester Armour, Sheriff John Toman and Jesse Jones, Texas financier.

Last night at 9 o'clock the lights at Comiskey park were turned on and the arrangements were inspected by the promoters and the Illinois athletic commissioners. Eight thousand seats are located on the infield around the ring which is located about 20 feet from the pitchers' slab toward second base. There are 56,000 seats in the stands.

Maj. John Bauder and Capt. John Prendergast will have command of 850 uniformed police tonight. Capt. T. C. Wolfe, with Lieut. William McCarthy as aid, will be in active command. More than 100 plain clothes men will be at the park.

FISH MERCHANT CLAIMS A SHARE OF KING'S PURSE

Harry Sugar, a fish dealer at 225 North Union avenue, yesterday secured a writ of attachment for King Levinsky's purse which he will receive for tonight's fight with Joe Louis. Sugar claims that he has notes signed by Harry Krackow [King Levinsky] and members of his family for $5,000 worth of merchandise. The writ was secured from the Cook county Circuit court. It also names Joe Foley, Mickey Farr, and Mike Jacobs, promoters of tonight's bout.

The writ was not served late last night and a meeting of representatives is said to have reached a settlement which will be subject to approval of Lena Levy, Levinsky's sister, this morning.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Ray Lash of Cleveland took a three-stroke lead in the Union Printers' International golf tournament today. At the halfway mark in the 72 hole medal play tournament, Lash had 161. Ed Gabelman, Cincinnati, O., 1931 champion, was second with 164.

Chicagoans Eye Series with Tigers.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Aug. 6.—The Cleveland baseball bugs, a moody lot, were made hysterically happy by Steve O'Neill's managerial debut here yesterday and were fixing to yell themselves hoarse this afternoon at the planned double-header between the White Sox and the Indians. But it rained and there wasn't any doubleheader. A bargain show has been arranged for tomorrow in defiance of the weather man.

Manager James Dykes will stand on the pitching selections he had made for today. That is, he'll start Carl Fischer in the first game and Babe Phelps in the second game. Manager O'Neill altered his pitching plans. He expects to use Willis Hudlin and Thornton Lee.

Mr. Dykes allows that he will play himself this afternoon, after an absence of more than a week—an absence, incidentally, that has seen the entire blooming of the Sox current losing streak, the first of the year to progress to a five game total.

Next—the Tigers!

The Sox visit to Cleveland will be concluded tomorrow and the lads have some hope of catching a twilight caravan to Detroit. Manager Dykes and his cast have high expectancies for the Detroit series. The fifth place Clevelanders have spanked the Sox nine times in 15 games, but the first place Detroiters have been licked eight times in a dozen starts against the Sox.

For this reason it is suspected that the Sox would just as soon it would rain here again tomorrow that they might further conserve their strength toward making Mickey Cochrane and his chattels unhappy.

Dykes, who talks only sketchily of tomorrow's business, likes to contemplate the Detroit pilgrimage, even to dreams of accompanying Mr. Cochrane down to the bridge after the Sox take four straight from the Tigers. Unfortunately Mule Haas will not be around to voice his "Mickey Going Crazy" chanty. Maybe Dykes will have him bring his injured wrist on from Chicago just to have him sit on the bench and sing.

Whitehead Hurls Opener.

The Sox manager plans to open the series with his younger fat boy, John Whitehead, employing thereafter Ted Lyons, Les Tietje, and Vernon Kennedy in the order named.

It was a tough break for experting to have it rain on the first day of joining up. About the only statistic this observer was able to pick up is that, with only half the club surveyed, the White Sox lead the Cubs in neckties, 5 to 4.

Senators Run Over Macks in 11 to 2 Victory

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Washington Senators gained another full game on Philadelphia in their battle to grab sixth place in the American league today, pounding out 14 hits to score their second successive victory over the Athletics, 11 to 2.

The Senators scored ten runs in the first two innings. Bump Hadley held the visitors to seven hits.

THE BREAK OF THE GAME

be caught sprinted back to first. Henshaw stopped on his way to base and started going again when he saw the ball on the ground. They didn't have to wait long before Birkofer assisted them out of their dilemma.

Makes Wild Throw.

There was no need to hurry because the retirement of at least one of the two runners was a cinch but without giving Suhr time to get set, Birkofer made an erratic throw to the base. The ball went to the Pirate dugout instead of to Suhr. Suhr captured it after it had bounced off the visitors pile of bats and heaved it to third to slow down Jurges. The throw was wild and bounced past Thevenow so Jurges continued to the plate and Henshaw went to second. He moved to third on Galan's sacrifice and scored on Herman's fly to Waner.

After the pair of Pirates' hits in the third Henshaw enjoyed a streak of real prosperity until Hafey showed up to open the seventh. The ex-White Sox rookie gave one of Henshaw's foolers such a sound whack that it sailed high into left and bounced off the top of the wall for a homer. When Suhr followed with a single to right the boys in Grimm's bull pen hustled into action, but the half pint southpaw didn't need help. Padden fled to Demaree, Suhr was forced at second on Birkofer's poor bunt in front of the plate, and Jensen flied to Galan.

Pirates Lose Opportunity.

Henshaw had Hafey to contend with again in the eighth when a pinch existed. Vaughan singled to right with one out and was forced by Young. Thevenow also singled. This brought up Hafey and he was erased on a tall fly to Demaree. The ninth developed no complications except a pass to Pinch Hitter Lavagetto, but it came with two out and a fly ball finished the show.

FRENCH HURLS TODAY

Managing Vice President Charles Grimm of the Cubs is going to feed the Pirates another bath of southpawing today in the second of the series. Larry French will draw the pitching job. The Pirates probably will counter with their ace, Cy Blanton.

Gabby Hartnett will not resume catching until the Cubs open in the east next week. At least that is Boss Grimm's view of the veteran's ankle injury.

Most of the crowd was made up of 4,500 school kids and 2,500 women guests who were granted a special day because all applicants for free tickets last Friday couldn't be accommodated. The paid attendance was 6,000.

Dodgers and Zachary Beat Giants, 3 to 1

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers knocked a full game off the New York Giants lead in the National league today as Tom Zachary, the ancient southpaw, won his seventh game of the season, 3 to 1. With the Chicago Cubs beating Pittsburgh, 2 to 1, the Giant lead was trimmed to three games.

The Giants had scoring chances in almost every inning, but Zachary was at his best with men on bases. The only run scored off him was due to Jimmy Jordans error in the sixth.

Bud Parmelee, pitching out of turn, lasted seven innings. Tony Cuccinello, who also made two singles, nicked him for a home run in the second, and Buzz Boyle's single drove in Len Koenecke in the fifth.

BRAVES, 4; PHILLIES, 0.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The three hit pitching of Bob Smith and the hitting of Wallie Berger today were combined to give the lowly Boston Braves a 4 to 0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. Boston scored all its runs in the third, two coming across when Berger slammed out his 23d home run of the season with a man on base. Berger also made two other hits.

Walter Johnson Retires to Farm; Praises Players

The Big Train of other years, who resigned Sunday as manager of Cleveland's Indians after undergoing a withering fire from fans and critics all season, tramped over portions of his 550 acre farm with his familiar slouching step. He greeted farm hands and looked over his horses and dogs.

"What a relief to get back to the country," he said, "to get away from it all." Walter wants to let bygones be bygones. His only desire now is for rest and the nerve-quieting chores of the farm.

"The Cleveland baseball men are fine gentlemen. I like them. I believe President Alva Bradley always was and still is strong for me. And I think most all my players were for me, that most of them gave 100 per cent of their efforts for me. Some have said Averill was against me. Now, I'll tell you, Earl came to me several times and said it wasn't so, that he was doing the best he could.

"The Cleveland club just wasn't as good as I had thought it would be. Some players didn't live up to the expectations I had for them. We had injuries that hurt us. I wasn't able to get all I had hoped out of the club. But that's baseball. Looking back over it, I don't think of a single decision I made that I would change now."

Johnson has no plans for the future. If the Cleveland club orders him to scout during the remaining weeks of the season, he will. Otherwise he'll rest up on the farm.

CHICAGO GIRLS SOFTBALL TEAMS TO PLAY TONIGHT

Three games will be staged by the Chicago Girls Softball league starting at 7 o'clock tonight at Mills stadium, all to be decided in slow pitching.

In the first Hart Motors, U. S. champions, will oppose the S. S. Ambrosias; in the second the Our Girls will face the Commercial Time Supply Co-eds, and in the third the Narragan-NorClaire Drug Co-eds will oppose the Felz Motors.

Eleanor Sharp Is Defeated in Eastern Tennis

New York, Aug. 6. — (AP) — Two women favorites and one male star were beaten today as play in the eastern grass court tennis tournament progressed to the quarter final round at the Westchester Country club.

Eleanor Jane Sharp of Pasadena, Cal., seeded third, and Mrs. Penelope McBride of Short Hills, N. J., seeded fifth, were the women headliners eliminated. J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, seeded eighth and recent Southampton finalist, was the other star to fall.

Mrs. Agnes Lamme of Rye, N. Y., defeated Miss Sharp, 6-0, 0-6, 6-3. The steady back court play of Helen Pedersen of Stamford, Conn., upset Mrs. McBride, the national girls' champion, winning, 7-5, 6-3.

Surface Beats Hall.

Exceptional shot making by Harold Surface, young Missouri valley champion of Kansas City, Mo., put Hall out of the tournament, 6-3, 7-5. Hall was hitting the ball well, but Surface had a brilliant streak from the very start of the match, and nothing the South Orange veteran did could stop him.

In addition to the downfall of the favorites, the debut of Sidney Wood, Davis cup alternate, featured today's play. He met Haines Stockton of Spring Lake, N. J., in the first round and beat him in straight love sets, and then disposed of Lieut. R. M. Watt, U. S. navy, 6-4, 6-4.

Easy for Parker.

Frankie Parker, the Milwaukee boy who is defending the championship he won last year for the first time, scored an easy victory over Sidney E. Davenport of Forest Hills, N. J., 6-3, 6-2.

Frank Shields of Hollywood, Cal., rallied to defeat Charley Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., 3-5, 7-5, 6-1.

MURPHY WINS.

Culver, Ind., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Chester Murphy of Tilden Tech High school, Chicago, kept pace with the leaders as the only remaining Chicagoan in the National Junior Tennis tournament today. Murphy entered the fourth round by defeating Stacy Hill of Cincinnati, 6-2, 6-0. Earlier in the day he beat Nathan Ritzenberg of Washington, 6-0, 6-1.

Six players from Chicago and vicinity were eliminated today. Marion Reese of Atlanta beat Arthur Jorgenson, 7-9, 8-6, 6-1. William Murphy, brother of Chester, lost to Melvin Lapman of New York, 6-3, 7-5. Frank Guernsey of Orlando, Fla., made quick work of Don Brown of Winnetka, 6-0, 6-0. Robert Decker of Waban, Mass., beat Alan Vaughan of Western Springs, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3. Alfred Jarvis of Tenafly, N. J., eliminated Douglas Coyle of Chicago, 6-4, 6-2. Charles Shostrom was beaten by Robert Kamrath of Austin, Tex., 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

BIG WALL EYES AWAIT FISHER IN METONGA LAKE

BY BOB BECKER.

Metonga lake, at Crandon Wis., where we fished last week, is a lake that the pike fisherman may want to put on his list for August. It is well stocked with wall-eyes and there is always the chance of picking up a big one there. Although our party [fishing on a blazing hot day with nary a breath of air stirring] got nothing over five pounds, the boys have been picking up some real ones, weighing 10, 12, and even 13 pounds, this summer.

Of course, it is deep fishing. The wall-eyes have gone into 20 feet of water and more to spend the rest of the summer. But find their loafing spots and we are pretty sure that you'll get fish. You can get boats at the north end of the lake, which is within the village limits of Crandon. As a matter of fact the spire on the county building in Crandon is a landmark that many pike fishermen use to line up the small gravel and weed bar near the north end of the lake where we found the small mouthed bass and the pike on our recent visit to the lake.

Pike Like Small Minnows.

One of the most interesting points about the habits of the wall-eyed pike in Metonga was their preference for small minnows rather than good sized ones. Of course, you have to use minnows to attract these deep water fish at this time of the year. But when we asked for four and five inch minnows we were advised to take the small ones. Eventually both sizes were taken along. After two hours of fishing during the morning all of us were ready to admit that the small minnows were just as attractive as the big ones.

Although we fished right through a very hot and windless day in company with Paul H. Davis of Kenilworth to pick up a very satisfactory string of fish we noticed that many of the fishermen were just starting out at five o'clock in the afternoon.

Pike Biting at Night.

When we asked about the luck evening fishing brought we learned that recently the pike have been biting actively through the evening up to eight o'clock.

"The Fisherman's Guide," by Bob Becker, packed with practical information, is now on sale at The Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 25c; by mail, 30c.

BY FRENCH LANE.

When it comes to winning overnight handicaps, that horse Prince Torch is the most consistent fellow to race around Chicago this season.

He proved it again at Lincoln Fields yesterday, where 10,000 racegoers gathered to see the program run off and to find out whether they could get in on some of the juicy longshots that have been flying home since the Lincoln Fields season opened.

The Prince paraded out in the Chicago Heights handicap, the day's feature race which was at a mile. He was the favorite and after the first half mile had been run his backers had nothing to worry about.

Just a Breeze All the Way.

He had let Gilbert Elston make the pace for a while, and when ready flew to the lead. His right to look back and laugh at those who were trailing him never was disputed. As Prince Torch wheeled into the stretch he was four lengths in front. Jocky Landolt took a snug hold on him at that stage of the journey and actually coasted on home to win by two lengths from the gray horse, Open Hearth, owned by H. G. Shoemaker, Kentucky. Mad Frump, saving much ground while racing on the inside, nipped Dusky Devil for third money in the last stride.

When Prince Torch galloped home he was rolling up his seventh victory of the season, and all but one have been scored in Chicago.

Turns in 1:37 3-5 Mile.

In the early spring he was associating with lowly platers, but has changed hands a couple of times since then and for every new owner he seems to run better. Prince Torch raced in the silks of Frank Abbate, Chicago, yesterday, and ran his mile in 1:37 3-5 over a track that was just a bit off.

In the betting, the Prince paid off at $5.80 and those who backed him thought that it was just like finding money. He is a son of Torchilla-Dulce Tokalon and was bred in Kentucky by Clyde Van Dusen.

Trainer Bert Michell, who conditions the Laddie Komorous horses from Chicago's west side, again proved that he is almost a miracle man with a thoroughbred. Late last week he took Higher Cloud out of a claiming race at Arlington park in which Higher Cloud was soundly beaten.

Meets a Good Field.

He sent the son of High Cloud-Miss Toney out in the Niles Center purse yesterday against some of the fashionables among the 2 year olds quartered at Lincoln Fields.

Higher Cloud, after being saddled by Mitchell, won the race in runaway style, winding up the five and one-half furlong event six lengths in front of Bamboo. The best the favorite Rushaway from Joseph E. Widener's stable could do was finish third. Higher Cloud showed keen speed from the start and ran the five and one-half furlongs in 1:06 2-5. He paid $17.00.

EIGHT EVENTS ON MIDGET RACE CARD TONIGHT

The regular midweek program of midget automobile racing at the Chicago Midget Speedway, Lincoln and Devon avenues and McCormick boulevard, will be staged tonight, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Eight events have been arranged by Track Director Len Bernard with the feature events the opening race, a 3 lap helmet dash, and the evening's final, a 20 lap speed duel between the fastest cars of the evening.

Time, :23, :46 3-5, 1:13 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Epernay, $7.00 straight, $3.60 place, $2.80 show; Lisa Belle, $7.80 place, $4.80 show; Surveyor, $5.20 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 2:18½. At post three minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won easily; place driving.

EPERNAY took command with a rush, maintained the advantage while under strong restraint on the turn and continued well to last sixteenth before tiring, yet won without need of strong pressure. LISA BELLE, forced to race wide early and a strong factor from the start, held on well in an improved effort. SURVEYOR weakened in the drive, but outstayed SWEET MEMORIES.

Winner trained by J. V. Stewart. Went to post at 2:51½. At post two minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won easily; place driving.

HI-NELLI, much the best and sent into command gradually, increased her advantage easily when entering stretch and, continuing with good speed to end, won with something left. CARDARRONE was under strong urging after three-eighths and held on with good courage. HENNESSEY, also under pressure after three-eighths, swerved out in stretch and weakened in final eighth.

Winner trained by C. A. Marone. Went to post at 3:22. At post three minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

PRETTY MONK, going in his best form and showing the most speed from the start, was aided by good rating and, increasing his advantage in stretch, stalled off FULL UP when weakening in late stages. FULL UP, probably best and also having speed from the start, swerved out badly on stretch turn and, holding on well, was wearing down the winner. NAUGHTY POLLY, well up throughout, came again near end.

HIGHER CLOUD, quick to begin and maintaining fine speed throughout, increased his advantage fast in stretch and had something left. BAMBOO, forced back as BILLY bore over in first quarter, came to extreme outside in stretch and closed with a rush. RUSHAWAY, under pressure throughout, moved up fast on the turn and held on well after bearing out entering stretch, but failed to hold BAMBOO.

Winner trained by F. Chiavetta. Went to post at 4:23½. At post one minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won easily; place driving.

PRINCE TORCH, taken back under a stout pull to force the pace, still was restrained as he went to front on stretch turn, opened up a safe lead without need of strong pressure, and had something in reserve. OPEN HEARTH saved ground when possible, but had to come to outside in stretch, and closed with determination under strong handling. MAD FRUMP, far out of it early, came through on inside in stretch.

Winner trained by O. Dobbins. Went to post at 4:51. At post one minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

BIBBIE'S CHOICE, far out of it for three-quarters, during which she saved ground, raced between horses when coming with a rush in final quarter and appeared ready to draw out. INFINITATE had speed from the start and held on stubbornly. MANAGER BILL lost much ground throughout, had trouble entering stretch, and, while failing to hold the leaders, fought it out gamely to end.

BEBEST, away in motion and rated under snug restraint for three-quarters, stood a drive gamely and could not get away from PACIFIC COAST weakened badly in late stages. The latter forced the early pace under strong reserve, worked his way up gradually under strong riding after reaching stretch, but faltered badly in last fifty yards. DANDY JAY, a strong factor after opening quarter, weakened in last eighth, but outstayed DONNAHONA.

Wilkerson Aroused by Delays.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday ordered the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company to show cause on Sept. 17 why an order should not be entered requiring the road to submit a plan of reorganization to the interstate commerce commission by Nov. 1.

Indicating displeasure over delays in presenting a plan, Judge Wilkerson said that the court will "take such further action as it may deem advisable" if one is not forthcoming.

"A period of more than two years has elapsed since the said petition (for reorganization) was approved by the court," the judge stated, "and no plan has been presented."

Bill Filed in 1933.

The original bill was filed June 7, 1933, under Section 77 of the amended bankruptcy act, but no program has been submitted, either to the court or to the ICC, which must rule first on the plan.

The Rock Island road has been in financial difficulties for several years. Its 1934 loss after all charges amounted to $12,100,691 for an increase over the 1933 deficit of $11,055,216. Current assets were only $11,733,837 against current liabilities of $214,717,057. In 1933 current assets were $14,457,993 compared with $37,230,626. The difference on the liability side is accounted for in large part by funded debt which is carried on the balance sheet at $143,314,372 in 1934 as against $310,536,372 at the end of 1933. In the year's time $167,220,000 in funded debt matured and unpaid was transferred to current liability.

In Argument with RFC.

Recently the Reconstruction Finance corporation has engaged in an argument with the trustees of the road—Frank O. Lowden, James E. Gorman, and Joseph B. Fleming—over appointment of Otis F. Glenn, former Republican United States senator from Illinois, as special counsel at $10,000 annually.

The RFC attempted to "punish" the road by raising the interest rate on its $13,718,000 loan from 4 to 6 per cent. Chairman Jesse H. Jones has indicated that the chastisement may be brought to an end soon, commenting that it didn't seem possible to collect the 6 per cent. The RFC is exercising the provision of the loan contract whereby it was permitted the supervision of salaries of the road in return for granting the 4 per cent rate.

Milwaukee Ry. Chief Urges Capital Slash

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Financial difficulties of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad were attributed, in large measure, in testimony today before the interstate commerce commission, to provisions in its mortgages requiring it to replace equipment not needed in operations and accumulated interest on the adjustment mortgage, which amounts to $47,500,000.

This testimony was given by H. A. Scandrett, president, in supporting the carrier's plan for reorganization.

"The first essential to a plan of reorganization," he said, "was to reduce permanently the fixed interest requirements. "This has been done and, in addition, the plan provides for a still greater reduction in the years immediately ahead, if earnings are not sufficient to meet the fixed charges under the plan."

Plan to Reduce Capital.

"Another effect of the plan is to reduce the capitalization, now $753,551,449, including therein the accumulated interest of June 30, 1935, of $47,547,160 on the convertible adjustment bonds. This figure is to be compared to the total capitalization in the plan of reorganization of $590,608,504, a reduction of $162,942,945.

"That the reduction the plan proposes in fixed interest bearing debt is drastic, and that the total of such debt is conservative, is shown by comparing the Milwaukee's 1934 gross revenues per dollar of debt with that of the 34 class 1 railroads which that year had gross revenues of $20,000,000 or more.

"This comparison shows that our 1934 gross was 39 cents per dollar of fixed interest bearing debt, including full interest on the general mortgage and interest on the proposed new loan of $12,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation."

Interest Charges Questioned.

Testimony and cross-examination of W. W. K. Sparrow, vice president of the Milwaukee, was completed. Oliver E. Sweet, director of the commission's bureau of finance asked Sparrow whether it would not have been possible, in the making of the reorganization plan, to have reduced the fixed charges below $7,146,147. Sparrow said if the road could not earn such fixed charges it might well be turned over to the government, which is one of the carrier's creditors, by reason of loans from the RFC.

Sparrow said the road should show income available for fixed charges in the last half of this year of $2,254,000. On the basis of the anticipated income he estimated a loss after fixed charges provided for in the reorganization plan of $1,350,857 for the closing half of 1935.

In the first half of this year the road had something over $1,000,000 available for fixed charges. For 1936 he estimated income of $6,074,000 available for fixed charges, which would mean a loss of $1,481,328 after charges provided for in the recapitulation plan.

COUNTY BOARD TO STUDY NEW PLAN FOR BONDS

$10,000,000 Issue May Be Offered.

New plans for clearing up Cook county's $10,000,000 of defaulted bond principal and interest and refunding $38,000,000 of unmatured bonds will be taken up by the finance committee of the county board Aug. 15, Maurice F. Kavanagh, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday. It was indicated that no attempt will be made to revive the refunding program which was vetoed last week by Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, after it had been approved by the commissioners.

Formulation of a new refunding program has been discussed informally by the commissioners. One plan, which has won some support, calls for public sale of a new $10,000,000 issue for the sole purpose of clearing up the interest and principal defaults without any attempt to refund the unmatured bonds at this time.

Forest Preserve Bonds.

Provision would be made for all principal and interest payments accruing up to Jan. 1, 1936, and for paying off the approximately $3,500,000 of defaulted forest preserve bonds.

This program is understood to have the support of Commissioner Peter M. Kelly. Commissioner Kelly sided with President Smith in opposing the plan previously adopted by the board. The rejected plan called for the sale of a new $10,000,000 issue, the interest rate on which would hinge on the number of unmatured bonds which the refunding agents obtained for exchange.

A Separate Operation.

A second proposal, which is under consideration, would call for handling the refunding operation and the sale of the new bonds separately. The bonds would be offered at a competitive sale and the county would advertise for bids for the refunding of the unmatured bonds.

A third method is supported by other commissioners by which the authorization and sale of a new bond issue would be made contingent on the success in obtaining a large percentage of the unmatured bonds for refunding.

Sale of a new issue could be effected without difficulty at the present time, but a change in credit conditions might render such an operation more difficult in the future.

CORN DROPS 2¢ AS RAINS BOOM CROP CHANCES

Future Contracts at Low for Season.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Timely rains over the corn belt that emphasized the excellent prospects for a bumper harvest this season served as the background yesterday for a break of 2 cents a bushel in corn prices on the Chicago Board of Trade. The future contracts based on the new crop fell to the lowest prices quoted this season. The December future, the earliest new crop contract, dropped 2½ cents to 59½ cents a bushel.

The wheat market also weakened, unsettled somewhat by the break in corn, and closing prices showed losses of about 1½ cents a bushel from Monday's level. September wheat closed at 90½ cents.

Rains Help Crops.

Reports coming in from practically all sections of the corn belt tell of favorable crop progress. Rains in the last day or two in central Illinois came as a highly favorable development, and most of the crop in the section is tasseling.

The emphasis which the market has placed on the rapid deterioration in the spring wheat crop in the last few weeks has tended to obscure the corn prospects. At the same time the scarcity of current corn supplies because of last year's small harvest has bolstered the prices of the futures on which deliveries must be made out of old crop supplies.

The July corn future expired with a show of strength, and speculative buying then started in the September contract on the chance that a tight situation might develop before the future expired. The improving crop prospects, however, have caused speculative sentiment to veer, and yesterday the September future was weak with other contracts, although showing a smaller decline.

September Closing Prices.

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Wk. Ago.
Wheat	$ .90½	$ .92	$ .93⅜
Corn	.75⅜	.77⅜	.76⅝
Oats	.30½	.31	.33
Rye	.43⅞	.44⅝	.45⅝

At its low price of the day December corn sold at 58⅞ cents a bushel. This is the lowest quotation on the December future since July 10, 1934, before the market began to advance on the big crop damage of last year. May futures were the lowest since May 31 last year. Last year December corn touched a high price of 97 cents a bushel on Dec. 8, and the May sold at 93¼ cents on the same day.

Wheat prices advanced more than a cent yesterday before the reaction. In Liverpool and Winnipeg prices were moderately higher and this gave the market strength at the outset.

Soak the Rich Taxes Paid by 'Little Fellow'

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Who pays taxes?

The New Dealers in their proposed "soak the rich" tax bill infer that taxes are paid by the rich. On that theory they have inserted in the new tax bill a provision for penalizing "bigness" in corporations by imposing a higher income tax rate on larger companies than on smaller concerns.

Statements by heads of big corporations, however, disclose that corporate income taxes are not paid by the rich but by the millions of stockholders, most of whom are people of modest means, holding only a small number of shares.

Edward G. Seubert, president of Standard Oil Company of Indiana, Monday in an attack on the tax bill now pending before congress urged a "share the taxes" movement, pointing out that each dollar of corporate income diverted to taxes meant one less dollar for stockholders to spend for goods and services. Standard Oil, he said, earned $6.12 per share last year, before taxes, but only $1.25 per share of these earnings were left to be credited to the stockholders' account after various governments had extracted a total of $4.88 per share in taxes of all kinds.

The management of Kroger Grocery and Baking company recently estimated that out of 1934 profits of $11.31 per common share, before taxes, only $2.31 per share was left for the stockholders after federal, state, and local governments had taken in taxes an amount equal to $9 per share.

American Telephone and Telegraph company is still paying its 675,027 stockholders annual dividends totaling $9 per share. Almost half of this dividend money, however, is being paid out of surplus, because tax collectors are getting almost as big a slice of the company's profits as are the stockholders who provide the money and shoulder the risk.

The average holding of A. T. & T. stock is 28 shares. Fifty-six per cent of the stockholders are women, thirty-five per cent men and the rest are investment trusts and other institutional investors. No one holder owns as much as one per cent of the company's stock.

The tax collectors take no risk, but they have a prior claim on earnings—and if there are no earnings they get their "take" out of the company's surplus, thereby weakening the concern and impairing its ability to do business and employ labor.

Last year, for example, the Milwaukee railroad's operations resulted in a deficit of $18.92 per share, but the tax gatherers took $5.48 per share for various government bodies to spend.

United States Steel corporation was in the red $5.39 per common share in 1934, but $3.31 per share had to be paid out in taxes. New York Central railroad, despite a deficit of $1.08 per share, was forced to hand over $5.30 per share in taxes. Consolidated Gas of New York last year earned $3.55 for the tax collectors and only $2.94 per share for its stockholders.

The following table shows what happened last year to the profits of these and other representative American corporations. These companies were chosen at random. They are typical of the big corporations.

RISE IN STOCKS CHECKED; PRICE CHANGES MIXED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—With strength in the mining, sugar, and an assortment of preferred shares overbalanced by a tendency to lower levels in the railroad, utility, and industrial groups, the stock market presented a mixed appearance today. A majority of the leaders finished from fractions to a point or so worse off.

Although sentiment was by no means bearish, brokers reported a growing opinion in speculative quarters that a technical correction is due and a large proportion of the selling was blamed on this precautionary viewpoint. Some observers have been warning that the prolonged climb of the market—it has been on the upgrade virtually ever since the middle of March—has boosted the averages to a level where a substantial setback between now and Labor day would be waranted.

Dividends Furnish Chief News.

Business news of the day was of little interest except for the dividend increases announced by two large corporations, General Motors and International Nickel, after the close of the market yesterday, and the declaration of the disappointing Socony-Vacuum Oil company rate today. Both the General Motors and International Nickel declarations were held to reflect business recovery and forecast further improvement; but the market has been saying that for some time. Socony's rate was only about half of what the trade had expected and was blamed for some selling in the oils.

One particularly noticeable effect of the General Motors action was to stimulate buying in du Pont, the directors of which will meet a week from Monday to declare a rate which the street has no doubt will serve to pass along the General Motors disbursement either in the form of an increased regular dividend or an extra payment, or both.

Du Pont Holdings Are Large.

Du Pont holdings amount to approximately nine-tenths of a share of General Motors for each du Pont share outstanding, the total of General Motors held being roughly 10,000,000, or nearly one-fourth of the total of General Motors common stock outstanding.

General Motors stock dominated the early trading. Books of the eleven specialists in the issue were so jammed with orders that it could not be "opened" until 10:33 o'clock. A group of governors of the exchange, after conferring, with specialists, then permitted a block of 30,000 shares to be quoted at 40¾, a rise of 1½ points to a new high mark for the year. The stock closed at 41½, up 1⅝ points.

In the rails Union Pacific had a poor day. The shares fell more than 6 points to a price under 100, the lowest since June 15, but later recovered slightly. The first six months' earnings, published today, showed only 68 cents a share. Admittedly the first half of the year is the poorest for Union Pacific, but the market felt the severe drop from a year ago, when $2.03 was earned, might affect the dividend policy. The board will act late this month. Atchison gave up a point.

Communication Issues Strong.

American Telephone and Western Union were bright spots in the communications division. Western Union is steadily beating back to a position of stock market affluence. An advance of about 2 points today brought the stock to a new high for the year. The lowest this year was a little over 20 and now the stock is around 48.

Tobacco shares accompanied the sugars to better prices. Liggett and Myers was the best of the smokers. Sugars moved up 1 to 3 points. Trading was brisk for a while in American Crystal, American Sugar, Cuban American preferred, Great Western Sugar, and South Porto Rican.

Columbian Carbon perked up, but other chemicals sagged. Oils were generally disappointing; Standard of New Jersey and Socony gave up a point. Phillips reached a new top, but failed to stay there.

Chain Stores Report Gains in July Sales

Sharp gain in sales during July, contrary to the normal trend, were reported yesterday by some of the leading chain store organizations. Walgreen company, F. W. Woolworth company, and S. S. Kresge company reported the best sales for the month in four years, while W. T. Grant sales were the highest on record for July.

Walgreen sales for July at $4,732,966 were $29,684 or 6.6 per cent above the $4,440,282 for July of last year. Sales in July were also the best for this year since March.

July sales for other years were as follows: 1933, $4,334,820; 1932, $3,807,291; and 1931, $4,861,874.

In the first seven months of this year the company's sales total was $33,030,703, compared with $30,466,831 in the corresponding period of last year, a gain of $2,563,872, or 8.4 per cent.

Woolworth Sales Up 3.3%.

Woolworth sales for the month totaled $20,169,005, an increase of 3.3 per cent over the $19,514,723 for July of last year. In the preceding month of this year the company reported a total of $21,113,249, which was 4 per cent below a year ago.

For the seven months ended July 31 the company's sales amounted to $140,566,529, compared with $143,340,997 in the corresponding period of last year, or 1.9 per cent below the 1934 period.

Sales for the Kresge company in July totaled $10,004,027, against $9,471,998 in July, 1934, an increase of 5.61 per cent. During June sales amounted to $11,048,088, a drop of 4.1 per cent from 1934.

In the first seven months of the year the company's sales aggregated $71,233,938, or 2.1 per cent below the $72,763,641 for the corresponding period of last year. On July 31 the company had 688 American and 27 Canadian stores in operation compared with 680 and 44, respectively, a year ago.

Grant Sales a Record.

W. T. Grant's record July sales were $6,276,262 or 9.4 per cent above a year ago, when the total reached $5,735,776. In June the company's sales amounted to $7,653,756, which was 4.1 per cent above a year ago.

Seven months' sales totaled $46,720,317, compared with $42,371,225 in the corresponding period of 1934, an increase of 10.2 per cent.

M. H. Fishman company reported a sales total of $300,441 for July, compared with $275,332 a year ago, while for the first seven months of the year the total reached $1,739,299, against $1,669,741 in the 1934 period.

Sales of the J. J. Newberry company amounted to $3,428,637 in July, an increase of 9.7 per cent over the $3,122,802 for July, 1934. Sales during the seven months amounted to $21,731,221, an increase of 3.4 per cent over the $21,000,031 for a year ago.

Edison Brothers stores reported July sales of $992,500, against $781,236 a year ago, a gain of 27 per cent, while during the first seven months there was an increase of 12.1 per cent over 1934, amounting to $8,707,072, against $7,765,803.

NORRIS IS AWARDED TEMPORARY LEASE OF ROSENBAUM ELEVATOR

Transfer of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation elevator properties to the Norris Grain company, headed by James Norris, under temporary lease was approved yesterday by Federal Judge William H. Holly. The temporary arrangement was entered into pending final settlement of the negotiations on the plan for the creation of a new company, managed by the Norris interests, to take over the properties permanently.

The elevator properties are owned directly by Chicago Elevator Properties, Inc., the entire capital stock of which is held by Rosenbaum Grain. The stock ownership of the elevator properties comprises the principal asset of the parent company.

Under an amended plan filed with the court yesterday by Attorneys Benjamin F. Goldstein and Irving Herriott, counsel for the elevator company, 25 per cent of the net earnings of the new company would go to retire bonds on the properties and 75 per cent would be used to retire the preferred stock, all of which will be held by Rosenbaum Grain corporation. Under the first plan filed all earnings were to go for the retirement of the stock, which amounts to $500,000.

Net earnings will be calculated after the company has accumulated working capital of $100,000 and provision has been made for the sinking fund requirements of $60,000 annually.

In approving the temporary leasing plan Judge Holly said that no rental would be charged the Norris interests if the permanent plan is finally adopted. Otherwise the Norris company will pay a rental based on the profits from operations to be determined by the court.

An audit of the properties ordered by the court will be ready Aug. 12, at which time bondholders are expected to take a stand on the reorganization plan.

STORE ON WHEELS LEAVES ON TRIP TO NORTHWEST

Marshall Field & Co.'s store on wheels, the "Merchandise Express," left the Chicago and Northwestern station at noon yesterday on its second trip, this time headed for Milwaukee and to other trade centers in Wisconsin and Minnesota. The trip will last twelve days and will include visits to Milwaukee, Sheboygan, Green Bay, Wausau, La Crosse, and Madison in Wisconsin, and Minneapolis and St. Paul in Minnesota.

The same eleven car completely air-cooled train which made the southern tour is making the northern journey. The train consists of six display cars, two Pullmans, a lounge car, dining car, and power car. Since returning from the south on July 26, the displays have been completely rearranged.

Personnel of the company on the tour include R. C. Zachritz, divisional sales manager; D. J. O'Grady, sales promotion manager; George Dryer, general salesman, and thirty of the company's local representatives regularly assigned to the Wisconsin and Minnesota territories. The train will be open to merchants only.

NEWSPRINT CUT IN CANADA MAY AFFECT U. S. PRICE

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Action of International Newsprint company in reducing its newsprint prices for European markets will probably be reflected in the United States market in the near future, according to J. H. Price, vice president of Price Brothers & Co., Ltd.

"You can't depress the market in one spot without it being affected in another," said Price, "and the International company's action will have a tendency to prevent any raise in prices in the United States market next year."

At present business is stagnant in the newsprint field, Price said, but he expects Price Brothers to work its way out of bankruptcy within two years.

SOCONY-VACUUM OIL WILL HALVE FORMER DIVIDEND

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—[Special.]—Directors of the Socony-Vacuum Oil company today declared a semi-annual dividend of 15 cents on the capital stock, which, together with a like payment in March this year, will bring disbursements for 1935 to 30 cents a share, against 60 cents last year.

When the company voted the 15 cent dividend in March it was stated that thereafter dividends on the issue would be acted upon semi-annually instead of quarterly, as previously. Prior to the March action dividends of 15 cents were paid quarterly. Full payments for this year at 30 cents per share will be the smallest return given investors since the company was formed as a merger of the Standard Oil Company of New York with the Vacuum Oil company in July, 1931.

GIVE FURNITURE MEN FRONT RANK IN ADVERTISING

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Furniture merchants laid claim today to being the foremost advertisers among the nation's various commodity merchandisers. Lawrence H. Whiting of Chicago, president of the American Furniture Mart, addressing dealers at the Western Furniture market, said:

"Furniture advertising in newspapers was exceeded only by that of department stores, outdistancing any other commodity. This is an excellent barometer, not only of the healthy existence of the furniture industry, but of the tremendous returns possible through the use of systematic and widespread newspaper advertising."

He said retail sales show an increase averaging 30 per cent throughout the nation.

OVER 80 PER CENT OF FIRST LIBERTY BONDS REFUNDED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The treasury reported today that more than 80 per cent of $1,933,000,000 in First Liberty bonds—the last outstanding—had been refunded.

Secretary Morgenthau said $1,610,886,550 was exchanged for bonds and notes, $746,406,550 converted into 20-25 year 2¾ per cent bonds, and $864,480,000 into five year 1½ per cent notes. Those not converted were paid off in cash.

EXPECTS BETTER AUTUMN TRADE THAN LAST YEAR

Retail business will be substantially better this fall than last autumn, said Flint Garrison, director general of the Wholesale Dry Goods Institute, in an address to 1,000 members of the Interstate Merchants' council yesterday at the Hotel Sherman.

Garrison also said buying policies should be based on the expectation of a moderate further rise in prices, particularly in textiles and certain seasonal goods.

The council has attracted more than 13,000 buyers to Chicago in connection with its semi-annual conference and style show now in progress.

Summer Slump Overcome.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Business activity showed decided resistance to summer slump influences in July, the commerce department reported today.

"Reports on retail sales and construction activity," the department's monthly survey said, "indicate improvement on a seasonally adjusted basis.

"Outstanding among July developments was the sharp recovery in the steel industry. The further increase in electric power production was also a favorable indication."

GAS DIRECTORS MEET; SILENT ON INSULL PENSION

Directors of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company were silent yesterday after their meeting as to whether they had voted to restore to Samuel Insull the pension which was cut off after the former utility head fled to Greece in 1932. It had been reported that the board would approve the resumption of pension payments.

Restoration of Insull's pensions, totaling $21,000 a year, has also been expected to be made by the Commonwealth Edison company and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. Edison directors are scheduled to meet today.

Efforts to reach James Simpson, chairman, and George A. Ranney, vice chairman, after yesterday's meeting were unsuccessful. Other directors and officers of Peoples Gas refused to comment on the matter.

WINNIPEG GRAIN LEADERS ASK FUTURES TRADING

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Members of the Winnipeg Grain exchange, headed by President Roy Milner, left today for Ottawa to demand of Premier R. B. Bennett and other government members that futures trading be restored on the Winnipeg Grain exchange. A cash market is now operating in August grain.

The Canadian millers are backing the exchange members. Wheat pools favor the present cash market. Their representative, John I. McFarland, chief selling agent, went to Ottawa a day ahead of the grain exchange delegation to gain the ear of the premier.

Bitter feeling exists between the grain exchange members and Premier Bennett, the pools and McFarland. The latter seek to cripple the grain exchange. Members of the organization say the exchange cannot function without future options.

McFarland, who is the present agent of the government in Winnipeg, is taking delivery of all wheat against which hedges have been sold to the central selling agency of the pools.

GLASS SMILES OVER 'ORATORY' ON BANK BILL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—"I was thrilled by the oratory I heard," Senator Glass, chief senate conferee, said with a broad smile as he emerged from behind the closed doors of the conference on the banking bill today.

This was Glass's sole description of the meeting which, however, it was learned, concerned title 1 of the omnibus bill. That title relates to federal deposit insurance. It was understood that Representative Steagall, head of the house delegation, objected strenuously to the part of the bill which he considers would "force" banks into the Federal Reserve System through penalty of losing deposit insurance after July 1, 1937.

The provision in the bill does not concern existing banks with average deposits of less than $1,000,000, but it would compel all banks organized in future to join the reserve by July 1, 1937, or be deprived of the insurance benefits.

Little progress has been made in the few meetings held by the conference. Real obstacles will not be encountered until Title II, relating to the revamping of the federal reserve board the open market committee, is reached.

BETHLEHEM HEAD HIT BY ICKES FOR FOREIGN BUYING

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Replying to contentions that PWA is permitting foreign steel manufacturers to invade the American market, Secretary Ickes said today the Bethlehem Steel corporation uses imported manganese almost entirely and is a large importer of foreign iron ore. Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel has criticized differentials fixed by PWA for steel purchases.

Ickes said the Bethlehem company had a long-time charter on two large ore carrying steamships operating between Chile and Baltimore.

"These ships," he added at his semi-weekly press conference, "were built in German yards and are operated by Swedish crews. The corporation owns shipyards in Baltimore, Boston, and San Francisco and, since it builds ships here, is interested in legislation to provide financial support of the American merchant marine. But it prefers to make its ships out of foreign iron ore, transported in Swedish bottoms and manned by Swedish crews who are paid less than American seamen."

Hearings on Consumers Postponed to October 7

Further hearings on the proposed reorganization of the Consumers company under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act were continued yesterday to Oct. 7 by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. The additional time was granted on the request of George Lennon, attorney for George F. Harding and Martin H. Kennelly, trustees for the company. Lennon said he expects to submit a new plan of reorganization on behalf of the trustees at some date prior to the hearing.

CHICAGO PARK BOARD ASKS $1,800,000 MORE FROM 1935 TAX LEVY

The Chicago park board yesterday passed a tax ordinance asking $1,800,000 additional levy on the 1935 tax assessment. This is in line with the authorization given the district at the last session of the Illinois legislature to boost its 1935 levy from $7,200,000, which was asked for in the budget on Jan. 15, 1935, to $9,000,000.

It is not at this time certain the additional amount will be used. The district is using 2,000 employés for landscape maintenance work whose wages are being paid by the Illinois Emergency relief. The relief body does not expect to continue paying these wages after Sept. 1, hoping that the Works Progress administration will assume the burden. The additional levy was asked by the board merely as a protective measure, to be used only in the event the federal body does not absorb these employés.

The district yesterday called $118,600 of west park corporate tax anticipation warants for payment. They include warants numbered 1A15,114 to 1A21,073, inclusive, of the 1932 levy and numbers 25,268 to 26,067, inclusive, of the 1933 levy. They will be payable Aug. 10 at the First National bank, Chicago.

General Electric to Offer Insull Firms' Collateral

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The General Electric company will offer at public auction tomorrow 390 shares of $100 par common stock of Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and 691 shares of $100 par common stock of Commonwealth Edison company. The first block of stock is part collateral for a $500,000 loan to Insull Utility Investments. The Commonwealth Edison shares are part collateral for a $1,000,000 loan to Corporation Securities Company of Chicago, one of the Insull group.

Bell System Phone Losses in July Total 22,800

TRUSTEE IS ORDERED BY COURT TO SOLICIT HOTEL LA SALLE BIDS

Thurlow G. Essington, trustee in bankruptcy for the Hotel La Salle, was instructed by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday to solicit bids for the sale of the property. All bids are to be opened in court on Sept. 16, according to the order signed by the judge.

Title to the property will be clear of all liens save delinquent taxes amounting to $750,000, which must be assumed by the purchaser. Out of the proceeds of the sale distributions will be made to various creditors, including holders of a first mortgage bond issue amounting to $4,200,000 and other secured liabilities amounting to about $200,000.

The Central Life Assurance society of Des Moines, Ia., is expected to be one of the bidders. This company recently took over the affairs of the Illinois Life Insurance company which owned 80 per cent of the ground on which the hotel is located, and about $1,000,000 worth of the mortgage bonds. The hotel has been in receivership since June, 1932. It once was owned by members of the Stevens family which also controled the Illinois Life Insurance company.

Kelly Springfield-Goodyear Merger Delayed by Appeal

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Acquisition of the Kelly-Springfield Tire company by the Goodyear Rubber company may be indefinitly delayed, it appeared today, after Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut granted permission for three objectors to file an appeal from his decision approving the transaction. The plaintifs were stockholders in a small company absorbed about two years ago by the Kelly-Springfield concern. Their claims against Kelly-Springfield arose out of this absorption.

Poland Slaps Danzig in Row Over Customs

WARSAW, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Poland in a note to the Free City of Danzig tonight refused to accept Danzig's reasons advanced for the opening of the customs frontier to German goods. Sean Lester, league of nations commissioner at Danzig, is now in Warsaw endeavoring to arrange a compromise in the quarrel between Poland and the free city.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Cotton goods buying continued within narrow limits today. Prices were firmer on a quoted basis of 5¾c per yard for 38½ inch 64x60, print cloths. Buyers took more finished goods in small lots for early delivery. Wool goods ruled firm with buying moderate for immediate and later delivery. Rayon fabrics were in steady demand and more business went forward to mills. Silk goods were in moderate call. The higher priced lines sold better than last year. Limited interest was reported in burlaps for spot shipment.

SUE ON CHICAGO JOINT LAND BANK STOCK LIABILITY

Park Employes' Trustees Take Court Action.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Following yesterday's Federal District decree by Judge John P. Barnes in Chicago holding Illinois stockholders of Chicago Joint Land bank liable on the double liability feature of their stock, suit for approximately $2,000,000 was begun in the United States District court here today against 92 New York stockholders of the bank.

The suit was instituted by eight trustees for the retirement board of the Park Employés Annuity and Benefit fund of Illinois. They charged some stockholders illegally dumped their stock into the Cago corporation, New York in order to evade the liability of $100 a share on it. The Cago corporation is reported to hold 7,939 shares of the bank's stock. The trustees' interest lies in the fund's holding of $128,000 face value of bonds.

Bank Organized in 1917.

The Chicago Joint Stock Land bank was organized in 1917 under the federal farm loan act. It was capitalized to the extent of 40,000 shares of $100 par value and sold bonds totaling $42,000,000. It was declared insolvent on Oct. 1, 1932, by the Federal Farm Loan board. John B. Gallagher of Chicago is receiver. According to the complaint, the debts and liabilities of the bank exceed the value of the assets by $12,000,000.

Judge Barnes' action yesterday in Chicago decreeing 100 per cent liability of stockholders on their stock holdings followed several months of litigation before a master in chancery and several weeks of oral argument before him.

Large Assessment Here.

Monday's action by Federal Judge Barnes placed definite liability of $100 a share on 342 Illinois stockholders of the Chicago Joint Stock Land bank. The largest amounts due, according to the decree, are $235,000 from Thomas R. Evans, $98,500 from Jacob Buff, $104,000 from Mrs. Ivah W. Pearson, $36,000 from Frank White and $25,000 from the trustees for the estate of N. K. Fairbank. Kellogg Fairbank was assessed $10,000 on 100 shares of stock.

According to Attorney John M. Tuohy, one of counsel for the stockholders' protective committee of this district, an appeal will be taken to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Union Carbide and Carbon.

Investors' Guide: What do you think of Union Carbide?—K. O.

Answer: Union Carbide and Carbon corporation is one of the leaders in the chemical industry. This industry has fared well during the last five years, better than the rank and file of domestic corporations, and "Carbide's" earnings have stood up well.

Operations are international in scope. The company's products find their way into practically every major industry. Earnings, consequently, are quick to show improvement with quickening business activity.

Welding and cutting equipment and chemicals, which are used extensively by railroads, the automobile industry and almost all other lines using steel, are an important portion of output. The company is the leader in the production of carbon products used in the chemical, electrical equipment, utility, steel and other important industries. It has been progressive in developing metal alloys, which are finding wider use in industry.

Synthetic organic chemicals are a recent development production of which is showing growth. The company now produces ethyl and butyl alcohol by synthetic processes. Batteries are probably the most important consumer's goods produced.

Reflecting increased industrial output earnings for the first half of 1935 totaled $10,626,000, or $1.18 a share, against $9,117,000, or $1.01 a share, for the first half of 1934. In 1934 earnings were $20,277,000, against $14,173,000 for 1933, $8,781,000 for 1932, $18,030,000 for 1931 and $28,041,000 for 1930. Corresponding per share earnings were $2.28, $1.59, 98 cents, $2 and $3.12.

Funded debt amounts to $8,930,000. There are outstanding 8,903,138 shares of no par capital stock which pay dividends of 40 cents a quarter. Dividends have been paid uninterruptedly since 1918.

Strong current position, excellent earnings record and an aggressive research department entitle the stock to a high grade rating.

Union Water Service.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate your rating of Union Water Service 5½s, due 1951. Thank you greatly for past favors.—Mrs. P. S.

Answer: Union Water Service company is an intermediate holding company controlled by Federal Water Service corporation. Wholly owned subsidiaries supply water to 13 New Jersey and Pennsylvania communities.

Operating results have held fairly stable. The company covered its fixed charges 1.51 times in 1934, 1.58 times in 1933, 1.60 times in 1932 and 1.69 times in 1931. Current assets on Dec. 31, 1934, were $179,000 and current liabilities were $112,000. The $2,583,500 of first lien 5½s, due 1951, are a business man's risk.

LARD PRICES RISE TO NEW HIGHS AS SUPPLIES SHRINK

Production This Year Half of 1934 Output.

The spectacular advance in prices of lard and bellies [salt pork] which has been under way for several weeks reached a climax yesterday when all futures in the two commodities sold at new high quotations for the season on the Chicago Board of Trade. The September lard future rose 50 cents a hundred weight, the maximum advance allowed under the exchange rules in one day. Other futures advanced 17 to 47½ cents. September bellies rose 27½ cents.

The immediate background of yesterday's upturn was another advance in hog prices which carried quotations to the best levels of the season. The small current supply of hogs which is the result of the government's previous curtailment operations is the basic factor in the present high lard prices.

Shorts Cover Corn Spreads.

Short covering operations were said to have brought considerable buying into the market yesterday. Traders who had previously sold lard futures as hedges against purchases of corn and cottonseed oil were said to be buyers yesterday.

Lard production in the first seven months of 1935 is estimated at 411 million pounds, or less than half of the production of 886 million pounds in the same months last year. Production is expected to show a further decrease this month, according to trade estimates. Lard consumption has declined sharply in this country with the rise in prices. Consumption this year has approximated 54 million pounds a month as compared with 78 million pounds last year.

Lard Prices Mounting.

Cash lard is now selling at 15.40 cents a pound as compared with 15.15 cents a pound a week ago and 13.60 cents a pound on July 1. Last May cash lard was selling at 12.45 cents a pound. Bellies are selling at 18.92 cents a pound as compared with 16.80 cents on May 1. Spot lard closed at $15.50; loose, $15 55; leaf, $15.75, and bellies at $18.92 per 100 pounds. Prices follow:

HOGS REACH NEW HIGHS; PACKERS VIE FOR VOLUME

Hog prices yesterday soared to new highs under brisk competition as packers throughout the country continued their drive for volume. Outlet for fresh pork was not particularly good, but the supply of fresh offerings and the scant supply available in cold storage houses were below the comparatively small demand and prices at the various distributing points ruled steady to 50 cents higher.

Packers are paying little attention to the daily fluctuation of fresh pork, being more intent on building up the depleted stocks. All buyers paid 10 to 15 cents higher prices at the start and mostly 25 cents advance on the final rounds of the session.

A shipment of selected young hogs averaging only 196 pounds set the new $13.85 top, including the processing tax. This is the highest figure paid for hogs here since October, 1926. The average for the session at $12.95, tax included, also made a new high mark for almost nine years.

Receipts are setting a new all-time low for August.

Top cattle yesterday advanced to $12.10, the highest point since July 10, but there was a weaker undercurrent to the general steer trade and most sales on final rounds were down to 10 to 15 cents compared with the average of Monday.

A higher level of prices existed for top grades of slaughter lambs to packers yesterday, but considering the harder sorting the market was no better than steady.
